A Change Of Pace

The fashion was a change of pace this year. The students wore what was comfortable. Fashions ranged from pumps to denim jackets. From preppie to punk. The students wore what felt comfortable not what was in.

Sports had a few changes. There was no freshman football team. There wasn't enough freshman boys to make a team. The freshman joined the junior varsity team. Another change in sports was the cancellation of pep sessions. There's only one pep session.

Homecoming offered a change. The freshman took first place in floats. The seniors took fourth place. That's a change for the freshman!

The changes march on in the band. The band received new uniforms and they look like a million bucks. A big change for the band was a summer and winter guard. A change that put a lot of strain on the band members was the overnight to Roger Bacon in Cincinnati, Ohio and they attended Bush Stadium the very same day, for State contest. Monday morning the band members were almost asleep in band. The band works hard!

Is it true love or fantasy for junior, Cliff Hoskins? This is just a small part of the display which the Latin Club rented from the Indianapolis Art Museum.

Is it Atlas or Mark Morgan? Oh, no! It's Mark Morgan in Advanced Physical Education. His true strengths shine.

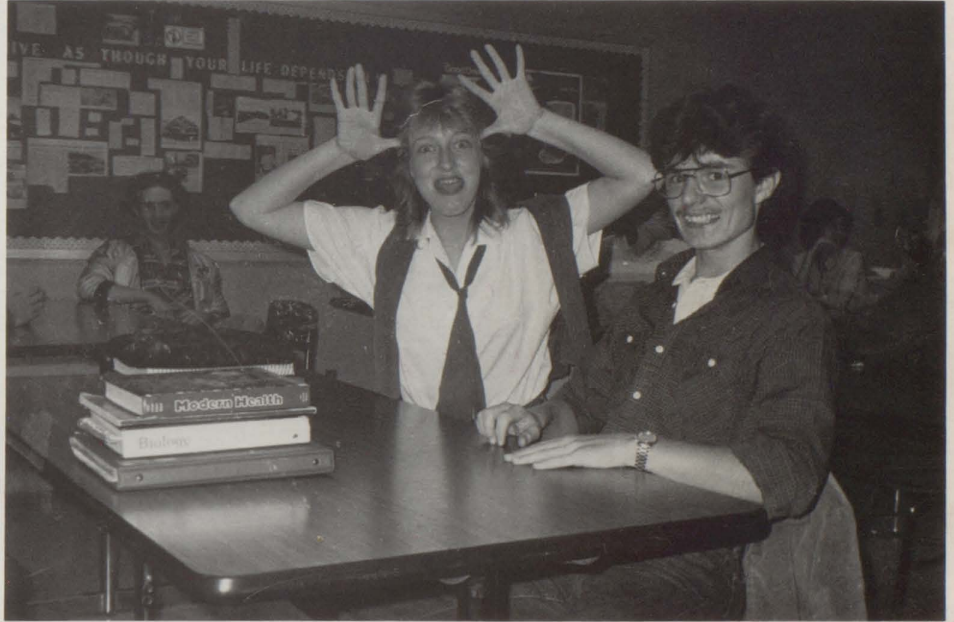

Hard at work? That's a change. John Kleyla, senior, and Mark Back, junior, exhibit their talents in drafting.

A smile can help us through the changes. Tina Miller, sophomore, has a big smile. Everyone needs a smile.

Some students were severely affected by the changes. Melissa Brewer, sophomore, can't hold back any longer. Poor Tom Luyet, sophomore, has to sit by her in health.

One of the students affected by the changes was Lisa Hubble, Senior. Lisa is preparing for Homecoming as Polly Panther. A change for Polly was a new look. She received a new Polly Panther outfit.

A change of pace

This year was definitely a change of pace. Some changes brought on hardships to the students. There were good and bad changes. Some changes made us laugh, others made us cry.

One of the first changes was the arrival of Village Pantry. The Pantry offered the community doughnuts, cokes, and video games, etc. The Pantry offered many jobs for the community.

Over the summer, another change happened. This change was a tearful one. The community lost the services of Leeson's, a long time store in Elwood. Leeson's dismissal was like being stabbed in the heart. Elwood is beginning to look bare!

Yet a good change comes to the rescue. On November 21, 1984, Elwood received two cinemas. They were called the "East and West Cinemas." Finally, something has come along to help cure the boredom blues! The first two movies shown were the smashes "Ghostbusters" and "Gremlins."

The Golden Arches are here! Elwood received a welcome change. The arrival of it's very own McDonalds. The students can have a Big Mac attack and survive. McDonalds offered the community many jobs.

The most noticeable changes happened in the school system. High school students were forced to go to school at 8:10 a.m. The system made young professors stay till 3:15 p.m. The seven period day was a change for the students. The days seemed long and drawn out. There's no activity period now.

The classrooms received many changes. Several classes were dropped, for example, vocabulary SAT, mystery and Suspense, Humor, Business Communications, and many more. One new class was added. History class called czars and commissars.

Teachers were a change at ECHS. There were many new teachers and substitute teachers. We also had to say goodbye, and happy retirement to Mr. Ray, Mrs. Tolle, Mrs. Schwear, and Mrs. Wessler, and Mr. Moore.

Is the game interesting? Amy Scott, freshman, is heavily involved in the game. As a freshman cheerleader, Amy had no frosh team to cheer for. That's a change!

She manages a smile through the changes. Raenna Merritt remains her same perky self. Here she's all dressed up for Homecoming. Keep smiling!

Chuck Hoover, Jay Courtney, and Chris Courtney show their Panther pride in the sports they participate.

Keith Loar, Shane Wolff, and Scott Higgins find it hard to concentrate on their math homework. However smiling is much more exciting.

Student Life

Homework, homework, who needs the homework. As the school year progressed, students discovered that homework required their time before school, after school, and even on weekends. On the way to school, students stopped at either Village Pantry or Burgers Dairy to buy chewing gum and pop. Once at school, students chattered until that dreaded sound of the warning bell. Other students came to school early, to practice typing, take make-up tests, serve detentions, or attend club meetings. After school athletes attended their various practices while other students fulfilled job obligations. Still others just went home, watched television and did their homework.

Shelly Whitenger and Lisa Barr try their hand at twirling a flag in their spare time for a change of pace.

To the right are the members of the Panther Band this year. In the first row are: Marla McDermit, Lisa Hoover, Lisa Pratt, Jerri McMullen, Jenny Luyet, Diann Stockdale, Maria McCabe, Stacie Jack, Tina Lovell, Lisa Knotts, Elaine Nickles, Marjorie Cole, Lynn Hanshew, Ulrich Pohlmann, Kerry Svendsen, Vanessa Hiatt, Karen Warner, Leslie Fowler, Kenny Fernung, Susan Jones, Todd Hunt, Sheryl Gilbert, J.D. Dockery, Windy Carter, Amy Dinken, Amy Hillard, and Angie Collins. In the second row are: Lisa Humphreys, Brian Hunt, Mike Hansen, Heather Grimes, Chris Jones, Lori Downham, DeAnn Elledge, Herschell Stunkard, Kenny Lehman, Tricia Grimes, Thurman Jones, Spero Daleure, Amy Jordon, Kim Peel, Mike Ogden, Kris Greenlee, Tom Luyet, Corry Svendsen, Greg Buster, Chris Courtney, Pam Goins, Michelle McQuitty, and Mike Jackman. In the third row are: Dena Vice, Anna Ball, Shelly Cox, Michelle Williams, Rhonda Kanter, Greg Gwinn, Ellaine Daleure, April Buster, Greg Marcuson, Rodney McCord, Paul Rittenhouse, Brian Ball, Dawn Slater, Osamu Saito, Renee Row, Markus Nauer, Richy Haskett, Kevin Lehman, Lou Ann Young, Shelly Fuller, Jodi Simmons, Ann Foley, Michell Bell, and Lori Barnett. Drum majors are Andy Ball and Anne Burke. Not pictured in this photo are Mark Morgan and Jay Courtney.

Dedication, talent, and a lot of hard work have taken our Elwood Panther Band far this marching season. Aside from five to ten hours a week of practice, the schedule has included parades, contests, travel and long periods of waiting to perform.

The band sponsored many fund raising activities to help purchase the new uniforms, at a cost of $250 each. Among the projects were pizza, candy, and calendar sales, bicycle and snowblower raffles, car washes and a Christmas bazaar. Projects will continue until the uniforms are paid for. The band and the community is pleased with the appearance of the red, white and blue uniforms. In competition the uniform adds general effect to the show and helps to add points to the overall score. All of the long hours of hard work paid off when the first uniforms were purchased. They were worn when the band performed at the Rose Festival Parade in Richmond. These uniforms will provide many years of wear, and are a real source of Panther Pride.

A highlight of contest time, was the weekend spent in the Cincinnati area. After marching in the Midwestern Marching Band Festival at Bush Stadium and the Roger Bacon High School International in Cincinnati, the band had a welcome side trip. Sunday morning, breakfast was eaten in the revolving restaurant on the eighteenth floor of the Quality Inn. The view was overlooking the Ohio River and Riverfront Stadium. To complete the day, an afternoon at the Cincinnati Zoo provided fun and relaxation before the long ride home.

Elwood is proud of you, Panther Band! It has been a great year.

PANTHERS MARCH TO

THE CHANGE OF PACE

Deanna Beecher struggling to master the art of typing is receiving help from her fellow classmate Cathy Burke.

The first year of High School is always the most difficult, after being on top in junior high you are hit with the reality of being a freshman. You soon realize that the upper classmen rule the school. You're no longer in charge.

One problem many freshman have to face is trouble with their locker. All those numbers to remember! You have your regular locker plus your gym locker and even if you remember your combination sometimes you still can not get the stupid thing open. (As soon as you learn your combination then it's Christmas vacation.)

Also, try finding your rooms sometimes presents a problem. And its no consolation to have upper classmen mock and mimic you looking at your schedule frantically and running to class, only to be late, once again.

Then comes extracurricular activities, such as prom committee, student council, Latin Club and Spanish Club. In these activities you are volunteered to work, instead of volunteering. And you always get stuck on the clean-up crew.

Lunch time is totally different experience for freshmen. A major concern you deal with is trying not to get run over. If you make it to the cafeteria, next comes the lunch lines. If you are a freshman, you can count on being at the end of the line. Upperclassmen seem to get mean when they're hungry and cut in front of you in line, which doesn't seem to move. Finally, when you do get your tray of food the bell rings and lunch period is over before you have had a chance to sit down.

There are many adjustments you have to make when it's your first year in high school But soon freshmen catch on.

Freshman have to learn the hard way. Mary Waltermire suffers the consequences.

Freshmen learn how important attendance is. So they have to make up hours after school. Sam Harden has to make up a test.

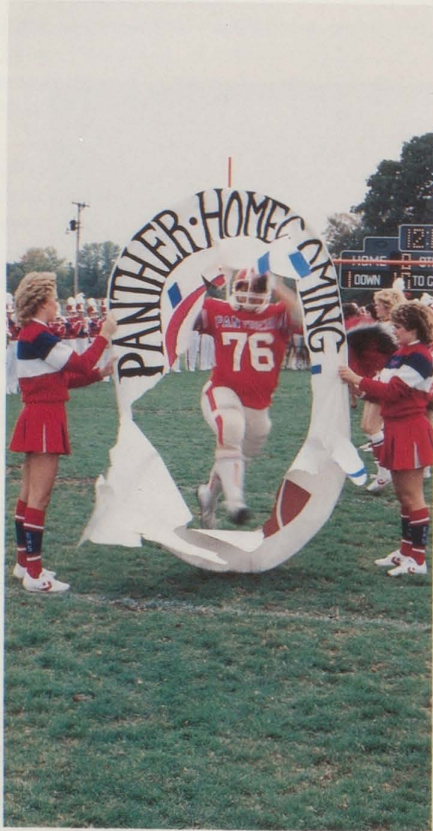

Ann Foley seems to have conquered the difficulties of the bow and arrow as she tries for a bulls-eye in Physical Education class.

Elaine Daleure and Amy Frazier finally get to sit down and eat lunch after waiting on a long line.

TROUBLES

Everyone gets into the Homecoming spirit. Before the game, the band and cheerleaders form a tunnel to welcome the team onto the field. Alumni, parents, and fans are welcomed to the Saturday afternoon Homecoming game.

For the 1984 Homecoming, Christy Pedro and Jamie Whetstone reigned over the activities as queen and king. Christy was crowned at half-time of the Saturday afternoon game. Christy's escort was her father, Marion Pedro, and Jamie's escort was Christy.

Panther running back Ray Holliday eludes a Madison-Grant tackler after catching a short pass from quarterback Matt Conner on this way to another of his many touchdowns. Elwood went on to defeat the Argylls 36 to 7 in their Saturday afternoon Homecoming game.

Coach Hughes discusses defensive strategy for an important fourth down play during a time-out. The defensive team did a fine job, holding the Argylls only seven points all afternoon. Homecoming for the Panthers turned out to be a great day.

KEEPING UP WITH THE

The Panther defense is jubilant after recovering a loose Madison-Grant football, giving the Elwood offensive team another scoring opportunity. Shown celebrating are Elwood players Jeff Lynas, Jim Beecher, and Ray Holliday.

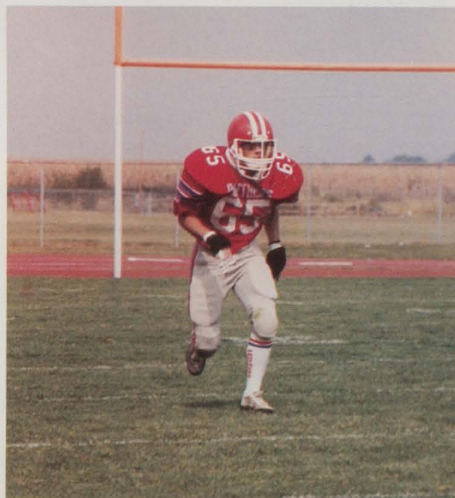

If you were at the Elwood Panther Football Stadium October 6, you were at the right place at the right time. The fans were ready to watch the panther team bring on another victory. The guys fought with all their might and won the game 31 to 16. The game itself was not the only attraction. Their was the crowning of the Queen and of course the Mighty Panther Band. During halftime the Queen candidates were introduced along with their escorts as the following: Debbie Jones, Bret Jones; Christy Pedro, Marion Pedro; Lisa Barr, Kyle McClish; Shelly Whittinger, Shawn Kelin; Anne Burke, and Ed Frye. The 1984 Queen is Christy Pedro. Before the game there was the homecoming parade in which the four class floats were voted on. The winner was freshman with 2nd place going to the juniors 3rd to the sophomores and last but not least to the seniors.

The night before the game the Seniors showed their stuff while playing in the Powder-Puff game. The juniors played hard, but not hard enough to beat those Seniors who have won two years in a row. During halftime of the powder-puff game was the introduction of the King candidates and their escorts as the following: Brent Coston, Kim Boston; Jamie Whetstone, Christy Pedro, Donnie Stron, Jule Wiand; Mark Morgan, Marjorie Cole and John Kelyla, Angie Marow. The 1984 Homecoming King is Jamie Whetstone.

After the game, everyone went to the Bon Fire and the celebration started. There was nothing but fun going on that night. After the victory of the big game homecoming was over, but as they say, "All good things must come to an end!"

To the far left are the Elwood High School cheerleaders in their new, matching, red, white, and blue uniforms. They are showing their spirit doing a chant during the game. Varsity, JV, and Freshmen all cheered together this year at Homecoming. All three squads did an excellent job and worked well together.

Specialty teams work extra hard on kickoffs and punt returns. Marty Mays races downfield on a Panther kickoff in an attempt to tackle the Argyll ball carrier.

RACE TO VICTORY

Friends, They are always there when you need them. No matter how down you seem to be, your friends are always there to pick you up. When you need someone to talk to, a good friend is always there.

The most precious asset we can have is a good friend. If we didn't have friends there wouldn't be anybody you could rely and depend upon. Who could you share your deepest secrets with? Who would be there when you need help? That is what friends are for and do. They lend a helping hand when needed. You can tell your deepest darkest secrets to a friend and know you can rely on your friends to keep your secrets. You know you can depend on your friends when you need assistance.

However, time moves on and so do our lives. We meet new acquaintances and make new friends as we grow older. As we make new friends, we still remember the good ole times that have already taken place. You never forget the fun and excitement you've had with your friends.

You look back upon all of the friends you have left behind and remember the laughter. You wonder about your old friendships, and what has happened to them in the passing time. But then you realize friendships never die because Friends Are Forever.

Laughter is a sure sign of friendship. Kristin McQuitty, Cherie Mengelt, and Saul Vest enjoy good times together by telling jokes and making each other laugh.

Ann Thornberry and Christy Decker are never too busy to say cheeze for a camera. Being with your best friend always makes you smile.

Freshman, Todd Hunt and Sophomore, April Buster always clown around in the bandroom at lunch as good friends do.

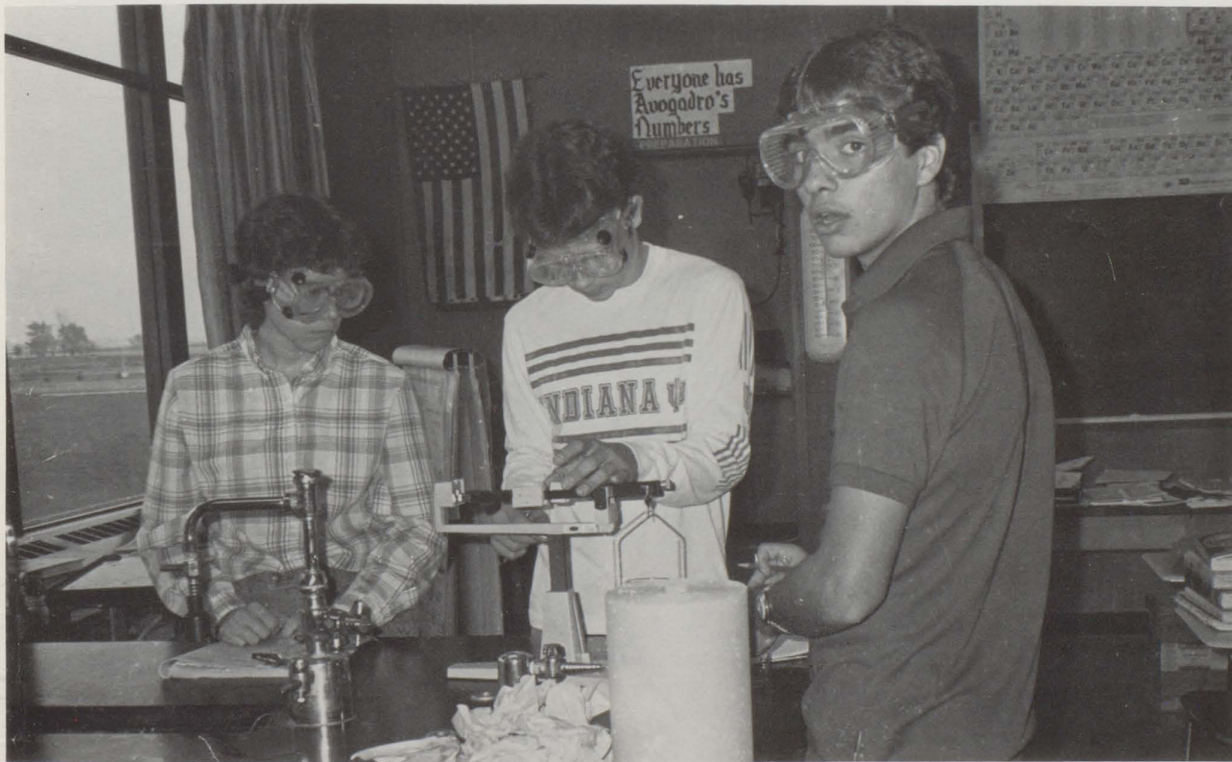

FRIENDS ARE

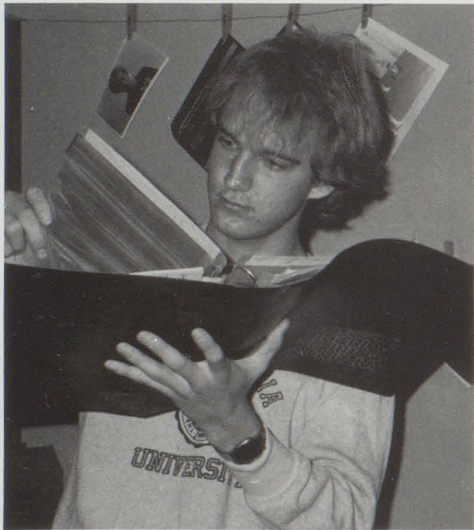

Deanna Beecher tries to convince her friend, Jay Courtney that playing bingo in Latin class is not so bad after all.

Basketball player Jamie Whetstone and football player Ray Holliday seem to find spare time between busy schedules to do their trigometry homework.

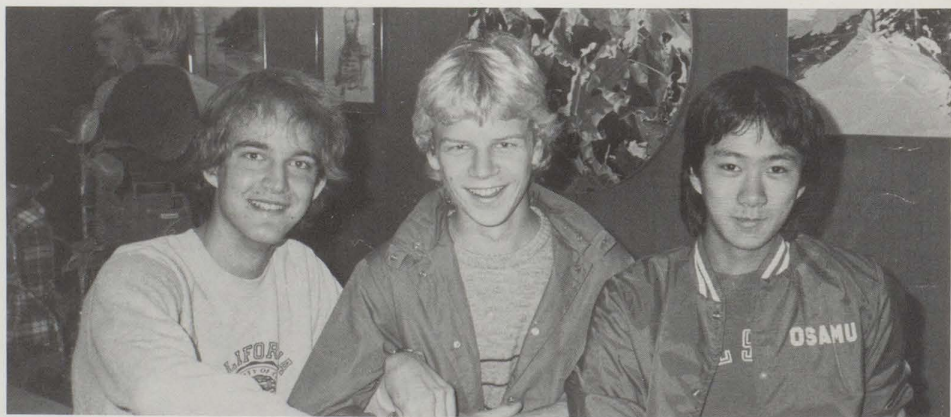

Cliff Hoskins, Tash McDaniel and Scott Leisure demonstrate just how well good friends can work together as they do a lab in chemistry.

Aaaay!!! Osamu, how's it going? In the top picture are two of our foreign exchange students, Ulrich Pohlmann and Osamu Saito. They seem to have picked up on one of our customs at the high school with the "peace" sign.

FOREIGNERS KEEP UP

"Americans wear their shoes in the house and Japanese leave their shoes at the door," states Osamu Saito, From Chofu Tokyo Japan. In Japan you must be 18 years old to drive and you drive on the left side of the road. Japanese people use public transportation much more than we do in America. Osamu rides his bike to a train station, rides a train for 50 minutes, and then walks 15 minutes to school.

School starts at Myojo High School with homeroom at 8:30 am, and ends at 3:15 pm with homeroom. Then students sweep, dust and clean the classroom for 10 minutes. Most students attend a sport, music or art club for about 90 minutes before going home. There are few extra curricular activities, but here he participates in Drama Club, Science Club, Band and Choir. In his spare time, Osamu likes to eat, listen to rock music, plays guitar and reads novels.

Every Saturday night Japan, Osamu watches a television show called Best Hits U.S.A. which features videos.

Osamu's Japanese family includes his father, mother, grandfather, grandmother, and brothers Koji and Tomoyuki. David and Kathy Jones and Chris and Susan are Osamu's American family. In Japan, his family owns a restaurant and gets home late so they do not get to eat dinner together. Osamu's American family is almost always able to eat together. Both families like to shop, go out to eat or to a movie on Sundays or holidays.

Ulrich Pohlmann (Ulli) from Norderstedt, Germany finds American eating habits very amusing. However, he likes our hamburgers and cheeseburgers very much! Ulrich says in Germany dinner is usually at 8:00 p.m. He feels that here almost everyone would die without eating before then!

Ulrich finds that in America school fills the longest part of the day. The length of a school day in Germany is from 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., with the only afternoon classes from 3:00 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Wednesday. German students have no choice of classes. They do not have subjects that are taken every day of the week. Instead there are 12 to 13 different classes weekly with a different schedule daily. They do not eat lunch at school. The average test can last from one to four hours. In Germany, the students receive one report card after each semester. Ulrich has six years of English to his credit.

As a member of the band, Ulrich has put in a lot of practice time. He likes to play his clarinet, enjoys playing chess, watching TV and spending time with friends.

Teenagers in Germany listen to the same groups as we do in the United States, and jeans, T-shirts and tennis shoes are worn there, too.

Ulrich's German family consists of his father, mother and fourteen year old brother. Steve and Wanda Cook are his American host family, and they have made his stay here very happy.

Markus Nauer describes his American Family as "Totally Awesome." He is very impressed with the togetherness of family life in America. He thinks it is significant that the whole family is at the table for dinner and spends Sunday together. "At home this is different" he states. Home, for Markus, is in Lucerne, Switzerland, along with 65,000 other people. Lucerne, in his opinion, is the nicest town in the world. His family there consists of his mom, dad, and twenty year old sister, and last not least, his cat. His Elwood host family is Jim, Beth and Marjorie Cole.

There are some differences in school schedules. School in Lucerne starts at different times in the mornings, and normally ends around 5 p.m.. Students have two hours or more for lunch, and Markus goes home every noon. There are no extra curricular activities after school where Markus is from. Here Markus participates in cross country, band, and the Crescent staff for 1984-85 year. At home Markus plays in a rock band. Their music is called dialect-rock which is only popular in Switzerland. Markus has fit in well with life here at ECHS.

WITH THE CHANGE

Shake it Lisa! Senior Lisa Hubble served two years as our team mascot, Polly Panther. Lisa entertained the crowds with her lively pre-game dance routines.

"Panthers are great — we rate." Elwood varsity cheerleaders form a "V" as they lead this cheer before one of our home basketball games. From left to right are Marianne Perez, Renee Hobson, Christy Pedro, Shelly Peel and Kim Werline. Smile big girls!

"We're the best, cause we're the mighty Panthers from EHS!" Cheerleader, Gina Hoffer leads this cheer to fire up the crowd and the ball team in a close contest. Gina added a lot of pep to the junior varsity squad this year.

We're taking our spirit to the top

"Go — Fight — Win Panthers." The junior varsity cheerleaders are left to right, Teresa Mays, Gina Hoffer, Char Short and Angie Morrow. This squad has made up a lot of new chants this year and has worked very well together. Keep up the good work!

The freshman squad consists of Amy Noone, Angie Martin, Amy Scott, Angela Higgins and Kelli Collins. Besides cheering at all the freshman games these girls helped the varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders during our home games.

Cheerleading is a sport that takes a lot more time and work than you might expect. Any girl in grades eight through eleven may try out. There are a few qualifications though. It takes enthusiasm, school spirit, acrobatics ability, dancing ability, the ability to create new cheers, to work as a team member, and passing grades in four solids are a must.

The girls performed in three areas during try outs: individual cheer, dance routine, and acrobatics in front of students and teachers. Students, teachers, and sponsors each had one-third votes.

New uniforms were purchased for all squads in coordinating colors. The new outfits are identical except for the main color: white is for varsity, red for junior varsity, and royal blue for frosh. The cost for each new outfit was around $90. A new Polly Panther outfit was purchased this year at a cost of approximately $200. The cheerleaders did a lot to raise money this year. The two main fund raisers were the chili and spaghetti dinners.

Practice was once or twice a week, which consisted of mount, cheer and dance routine practice, poster making, and a business meeting. Weightlifting was encouraged but not required. Summer camp was required for all girls. An effort was made this year to have cheerleaders present at all sports. This was done to instill spirit for the sports which usually receive less attention. The sponsors this year were Mrs. Paquin and Mrs. Trowbridge.

"Two bits, Four bits . . . All for Elwood stand up and holler." Varsity cheerleader Kim Werline is doing a chant at the sidelines of a varsity basketball game to arouse the crowd and get them into the game.

The 1985 Variety Show, "Starlight Revue" was a big success with Paula Simmons, the director, and master and mistress of ceremonies, Chris Courtney and Anne Burke. All the students had a lot of fun putting the show together.

"It was really exciting" said performer, Dawn Slater. Some of the acts consisted of: Nauti and Evolution, the Corp girls dance interpretation to "Witchcraft". They also performed in the song "Satin Doll", "Africa" and "Eye of the Tiger". the jazz band was a hit playing "Band Stand Boggie."

The students put a lot of hard work into the show; they stayed after school everyday from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. for one week. They put all their efforts into putting the decorations together to make the show a big success. Including, the different stage setups this year, over 100 students performed in Variety Show. Saturday night was senior night where awards were given out to all seniors in band, choir, and corps.

Some students around the school were asked what they felt about the Variety show and all agreed it was very good. "It was good; I enjoyed it a lot," said Larry Gibson. Jeff Murray commented, "It was the best variety show yet. I performed a solo and DeAnn Elledge sang a solo on "My Favorite Things", and then we both did a duet of "Climb Every Mountain." Jeff also stated, "The show went well and the band did really well. The corp performed the best they ever have."

"It was Very very good," said Mrs. Smith, "It even captured the attention of my three year old!" Stacey Rickabaugh said, "I really enjoyed the part of Nauti and the Evolution." Tash Mc Daniel felt it was good also.

To be able to perform in the variety show you must try-out. The band and corp started practicing several weeks before the show. The choir is also involved in the variety show and so is Coral company. The biggest song this year "We are the World" by USA for Africa, was performed by the choir.

"Starlight Revue" turned out to be a hit. Miss Simmons and every person involved with the variety show can be proud. These people put in a lot of hard work and received applause from it.

April Buster seems to be giving it all she can during the variety show. April danced in the number "FAME."

Let's jam down with the foreign exchange students. Osamu and Markus are shown as they perform in the variety show.

Starlight

"We are the world, we are the children, we are the ones to make a brighter day so let's start giving." This is a familiar sound not only as a number one song on the radio but also it could have been heard at the variety show as the group above is shown singing this very popular and heart warming song.

Is this Dawn Slater or is some rock star from some popular group? Yes, it is our Dawn Slater trying to be like a rock star during the variety show.

Revue

If my friends could only see me now! Markus Nauer and Shelly Peel were voted king and queen for the 1985 prom.

Look at all the couples dancing the night away. This will probably be a moment they will never forget.

Hey guys, it's time to get your date's garters. From right to left Gina Hoffer, Angie Morrow, Angie McGuire, and Angela Higgins are waiting for their dates.

A night for

Hurry, you wouldn't want to miss prom! This is Lisa Hubble and Trent Hicks arriving at the prom. Derek Paquin and Dino Balsler were the door men.

Joy Jones and escort are giving their tickets to Mrs. Scharff and getting ready to enter the prom. This should be a magic night for both of you.

Although the prom took place on Saturday, May 18, 1985, the junior class began planning for the event in the fall of 1984, trying to create many magical moments for the special night.

The dance, which was held in the cafeteria, cost the junior class approximately $1,500. The theme was developed by designing the entrance way as a bridge leading to the magical moments inside. The cafeteria was decorated with silver pillars and chandeliers. Glass wine goblets for each person were the items for remembrance.

Attending the dance were 226 people, a more than average attendance. The Prom tickets were $10 for couples in school and $12 for students not taking other juniors or seniors. The couples danced the night away to the sounds of L.J. and the Allstars.

At 11:30, the crowning of the King and Queen took place. Markus Nauer and Shelly Peel were the royalty for the night.

Magic moments

The Past, Present, Future, and Goals were all topics at commencement. Lisa Stover gave the Past speech.

The goal set for all high school students, is the diploma. Paul Rittenhouse achieved the goal as he accepts his diploma from Mr. Merritt.

High School is over for the 84-85 class. For the first time balloons were given to throw instead of the cap.

1985 Grads

Smiles shine through the tears of Graduation. Anne Burke, valedictorian of the 84-85 watches the ceremony. Good Luck to Anne and all the seniors!

Seize the previous moments. Rodney Mason lends a helping hand to Robin Chapman with her cap.

Graduation was held late this year because of all the new requirements the class of 1985 had to meet. The Commencement was held on Sunday, June 2, 1985. One hundred and thirty eight students graduated from ECHS.

Introductions were given by class officers: Kelly Peters, Kim Stover, and Jamie Whetstone. The speakers were Lisa Stover presenting the past, Chris Jones talking about the present, and Anne Burke discussing the future. Class President, Christy Pedro, talked about goals. The junior marshals, Brian Howey, Ann Thornberry, Matt Connor, and Mike Linder, led the senior class into the gymnasium and helped throughout the ceremonies.

After each senior crossed the stage and received his diploma, he was given a balloon and the girls also received a carnation. The balloons were released after the class president, Christy Pedro, announced the changing of the tassels, from seniors to graduates.

We would like to wish the graduating class of 1985 the best of luck in everything they do throughout their lives.

Proceed Onward

To the right are Taffi Harden, Leslie Fowler, and Mary Waltermire. Taffi looks shocked as she hears some news from the two girls in the play Calamityville Terror.

On April 12 and 13, at 7:30 P.M. the Thespians presented the Play "Calamityville Terror". The Director, Mary Zehringer, and Student Director, Angie Melvin, led a talented cast. The play was about a girls school that had a crazy woman, Ellsie played by Angie Melvin, running around killing people.

"The play was a small success", Ms. Zehringer stated. "We would have enjoyed a larger audience." The best part of the play was when the ghost, played by Markus Nauer, defends his "crazy" daughter from her devious brother, played by Scott Gill.

The play was performed by the following actors: Angie Melvin, Taffi Harden, Scott Gill, Samantha Bowyer, Mary Waltermire, Marina Skalkotos, Leslie Fowler, Rachel Arbuckle, Mike Edwards, Scott Barnes, Shawn VanNess, and Markus Nauer.

The play wouldn't have gone so smooth without the help of the stage crew: Stage Manager, J.D. Dockery, Brian Ball, Jeff Rich, Kelly Huff, Lisa Boll, Samantha Bowyer, Matt Rominger, Bob Houston, Martha Whisler, Mike Edwards, and Sam Harden.

Above are Markus Nauer and Scott Gill showing their talents in the play. I didn't know Markus could be so vicious.

The terror

Pictured to the left is Angie Melvin as she plays Elsie Barclay in the spring play Calamityville Terror. What is Angie planning to do with the knife?

Below are Marina Skalkotos as Linda and Scott Gill as Olin Barclay. It appears that Marina is trying to get away. Where are you taking her Scott?

To the left are Scott Barnes and Shawn VanNess in a scene of the spring play. What is so interesting boys?

comes to EHS

Cramming isn't her style! Senior, Marla McDermit is doing her homework in the guidance office.

Calculus isn't easy! However, Wayne Pickell is hard at work on calculus.

Academics

Homework! Homework! Homework! This seemed to be on everybody's mind this year. Now requirements were enforced on the students; many privileges were taken away. First, no senior week was permitted but the seniors put up a struggle and won. But it still wasn't a week.

The studies of the Academic and vocational students seemed to be the number one job for the students and teachers. The college bound students were especially hard at work. The college students worked to improve their SAT scores while vocational students worked at learning new skills.

The word academics covered many areas of education at Elwood Community High School. Everything from Algebra to Czars and Commazars was on the schedule for this school year.

Students involved in leadership

Being active in your school is very important. But maintaining our grades is even more important. ECHS gives many opportunities for students to get involved and be rewarded for their accomplishments on their grades. Students involved in leadership help to make our school a better place.

An example of various groups students are able to be active in is the Student Council. This year the council was sponsored by Mrs. Barbara Yates, biology teacher. The council was very active this year. They purchased benches for the lobby by the cafeteria, along with some donations from other groups in the school. The student council sponsored dances and all the spirit weeks held at the school. The student council officers also participated in the Youth and Government Day sponsored by the Elks.

Officers for Student Council were Anne

Burke, president; Renne Hobson, vice-president; Leah Richwine, secretary; and Marjorie Cole, treasurer.

This year the school added a new group for students throughout the school who maintained a 3.4 grade point and or had some kind of special talent. This group is called Honors or better known from its sponsors, the H-TEAM. Mrs. RaeAnna Merritt, Mrs. Jane Scharff, and Mr. Phil Huffman were sponsors for the group, including Ms. Mercer who joined the group later on.

The traditional ST. Valentines Day taps day for the National Honor Society had to be postponed because of the bad weather, but as soon as the weather cleared up and people returned back to school, the new juniors and seniors were tapped into honor society. Officers for the Junior honor society were Mike Linder, president; Scott Leisure, vice-president; Matt Conner, secretary; and Beth Murphy, treasurer. For the senior honor society, Anne Burke was president, with Heather Grimes being vice-president. Wayne McCary was vice-president and Valarie Laster was treasurer.

Keeping up your grades is a very important factor in ECHS. Also being involved in various activities is important. This year the Student Council under a new sponsor, Mrs. Barbara Yates, has contributed to a lot of school functions. The Student Council sponsored dances and money making projects, as well as the spirit weeks held at the various times during the year.

HONORS: row 1: Mrs. Merritt, sponsor, E. Gilbert, V. Laster, B. Frye, A. Burke, L. Stover, M. Cole, A. Ball, H. Grimes, Mrs. Scharff, sponsor; row 2: M. Owens, A. Morrow, J. Kleyla, S. Leisure, M. Hot off the press!!!

In the picture below are Kim Werline, Kristin McQuitty, and Brian Frazier. Kim and Kristin are busy selling a yearbook to Brian.

The Crescent staff was made up of 15 people this year. Two new people joined second semester, Greg Buster and Mike Piirto. The editor of the yearbook was Beth Murphy, layout editor was Ann Thornberry, and Christy Decker was business manager. Mrs. Smith is the new advisor of the class. She said, "This year has been different because the staff was reorganized and each student had more responsibility." Mrs. Smith also said, "The entire staff has met the challenge, and I feel that this year's Crescent staff has produced the best book yet."

Thirteen people made up the Megaphone staff during the first semester. Second semester Reva Smith joined, but the number dropped to eight. Andy Ball was editor, and Renee Hobson was assistant editor. The paper comes out every month from November until May. Mrs. Sullivan said, "The papers seemed to be selling okay this year, but the Megaphone staff works very hard to produce the papers. I would like to see more sales, more readers, and more students enroll in the class."

Above is Gina Hoffer of the yearbook staff. Gina has been working hard on her copy and layouts.

To the right: Richard Cass, Richard Mullens, Tash McDaniels, and Shane Wolf seem to be looking over their newly printed MEGAPHONE.

Whatcha looking at Mike? Mike Edwards is in biology class looking through the microscope during a lab. Wonder if Mike is looking at anything interesting.

A look of beauty! The picture at the left shows the log cabin donated by Miss Abel's parents for the Nature Center located behind the baseball diamond. The cabin is an attractive part of the Nature Center and was made about pre-civil war time.

Taking a time out for a picture, the grasshopper in this picture looks as if he isn't scared of what is ahead of him in Mrs. Yates biology classes. In fact the grasshopper looks as if he is enjoying all of the attention he is getting.

A mix of chemicals

This year the Science Club sold over $1,000 in candy bars. Each member who planned to attend the annual camping trip had to participate in the candy sale. The money from the sale also went to buy some things for the Nature Center.

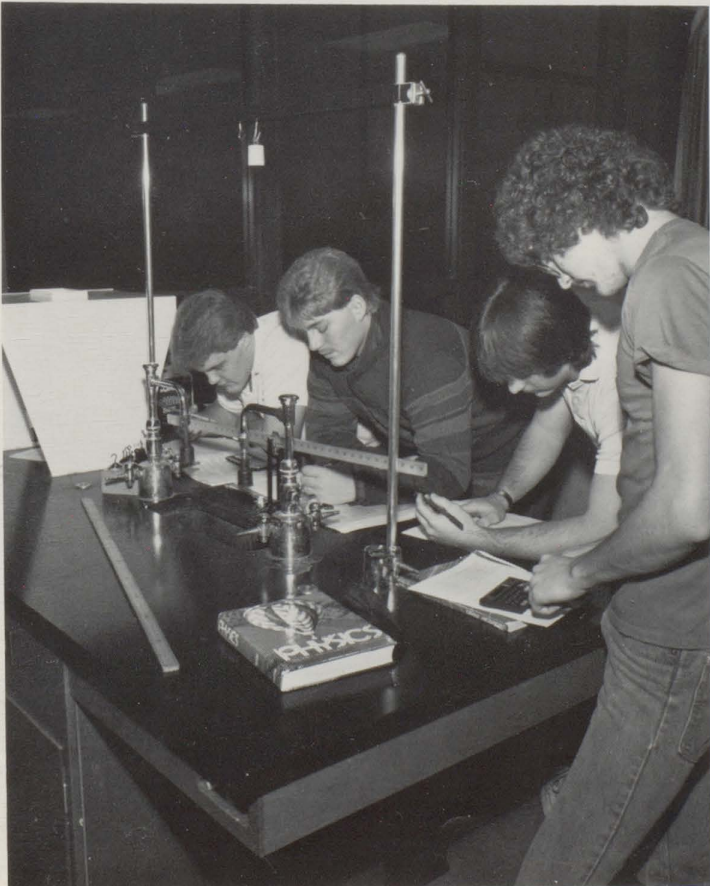

The science club went to the I.U. Medical Center, on a canoe trip, and on a camping trip. Sponsors for the Science Club are Mrs. Yates, and Mr. Huffman.

Our school offers a variety of courses in the science area. Intergrated science, physics, advanced biology, and advanced chemistry. Biology is required for all sophomores; whereas Chemistry is required for all Juniors on the academic course.

In biology you do leaf collections, wild flower collections, genetics, bird calls, and other things from the book. In chemistry you do labs, learn chemical equations, how to balance equations, how to name equations, and to increase your knowledge in the field of chemistry. At the end of the year in Chemistry you have a project in which you have to test a product in a lab.

In the near future requirements for science will increase and starting with the class of 1989 they will have to take three to four years of science.

Now these boys look like they are really busy. Physics students John Kleyla, Scott Higgins, Pat Holliday, and Paul Reynolds look as if they are trying to look like good students in front of the camera, but Mr. Huffman could probably tell anyone different.

Here's the choir practicing during their class time. If you like to sing, choir is a fun class. You can spend time each day improving your singing, while at the same time you learn a great deal.

A couple of choir members are pictured here as they sing away. You have to sing well by yourself before you sing well with a group. Each choir member must perfect his own part for the choir to blend together in harmony.

Sing a song

Junior, Leah Richwine, is looking through her folder for today's selection, as Miss Simmons warms up at the piano. Daily practice is about to begin.

Swing Choir is a select group of students who audition for a position in the ensemble. These students must audition on a solo and do same dance steps. When they audition, the judges are looking for their musical ability, dance agility, and their personal audience rapport. The swing choir is usually made up of approximately 20-25 students. These students practice after school hours and perform at various activities throughout the community.

The Choral Company (under this name) was started in the 1980-81 school year under the direction of Miss Simmons. This organization was established to create a group so that a large number of students could participate in choral music. The group is not auditioned and the students are encouraged to just have fun while performing their music. Choral Company performs at the all-system Christmas concert and Variety show. The students practice after school before the Christmas holidays for approximately 8 weeks. The group has around 50 members.

The regular classroom choir not only learns about singing various styles of music, but they are expected to know music terminology and to be able to apply this to the music they perform. The choir students also perform for various functions throughout the community including dinner banquets, sorority meetings, church services, and school musical events.

Members of Choral Company are pictured above. Row 1: S. Jack, M. McCabe, S. Jones, S. Fowler, M. Rubino, J. Romig, J. Luyet, D. Slater, C. Morriset, and K. Collins. Row 2: T. Faulstich, L. Row 4: A. Buster, S. Bowyer, M. Harrell, D. Curry, S. Coston, C. Stage, J. Murray, O. Saito, R. Huffman, T. Luyet, R. Hobson, A. Burke, and Miss Simmons.

To the right, gathering around the piano, choir members warm up in an informal music session. Keeping everyone relaxed helps the music sound better.

Miss Paula Simmons is shown as she directs the band during class. The band looks as if they are paying close attention. Keep up the good work!

Look ahead and lead our Panther Band! Marching in parades is only one of the many things Corps did this year. We now can see that the hard work has paid off.

Freshmen, Michelle McQuitty, is adding her talent to the band this year. This looks like a lot of work, but it's a lot of fun too! Our band did many things to represent our school this year.

We've got the beat!!

Here is one of the fun things the band does. They play at the home basketball games to support our Mighty Panthers! Everyone looks like they're having a good time.

Another day of school, another day of band! The band needs all the time to practice in class that they can to prepare them for the many activities at which they perform. Remember, practice makes perfect!

This year our Mighty Panther Band consisted of 79 members, which is smaller than most Indiana High School Bands. Having a small band makes a difference in what you can do. The concert program was fairly balanced with instrumentation; however the band didn't have students on oboe, bassoon, or baritone sax which would help the overall concert sound. Our drum majors for this year were Anne Burke and Andy Ball.

Corps was busy working on pre-game ceremonies, half-time shows for band, variety show routines, and winter guard competition. To help them out with all of this was their new choreographer, Tammy Covey. Corps spent band period practicing and occasionally rehearsed on an evening before a major performance.

The concert band prepared music for the basketball season, all-system Christmas concert, McDonald's grand opening, winter concert, state organizational contest, and variety show. Over 30 members prepared for solo and ensemble contests, and 8 students auditioned for all state band honors. As you can see, our band and corps are very active in the community, and they deserve our support! Thanks for a terrific year.

Cast members April Buster and Marina Skalkotas take their parts very seriously. It takes a lot of determination to learn the lines, to develop the right timing and to make sure the character is expressed properly. All the members of the cast and crew put in a lot of energy to see that their job was done the best that it could be. They had a good time entertaining us!

Drama Club: Row 1: A Buster, M. Skalkotas, S. Gill, and S. Jack. Row 2: J.D. Dockery, S. Dalere, M. Rubino, B. Ball, S. Leisure, and S. Jones. Row 3: Miss Zehringer, R. Row, T. Harden, M. Brewer, S. Gibbons, K. Huff, M. Whisler, and S. Barnes.

Marina looks like she's wondering how many more hours of play practice she can handle! Many long hours go into selecting a play, choosing a cast, preparing a set, and advertising, etc. Then the work really begins. Learning lines and bringing a play to life by a lot of practice and long hours spent getting parts "just right" are a necessary sacrifice of each student. It is all worthwhile when the finished product is a job well done.

Lights, camera, action!!!!

Scott Barnes is getting professional advice from Drama Club sponsor, Miss Zehringer, during practice. Not only do cast members sharpen their memory skills, but they get a very valuable lesson in teamwork. It is helpful to have an adult director and supervisor to keep things rolling and to make sure everything gets done. The final reward is the sound of applause.

"Practice Makes Perfect" was put to the test by the cast members of the fall season's two plays, "Christmas Stranger" and "Christmas Incorporated." The casts included a total of eleven characters with the characters of each play acting as an understudy for the other. J.D. Dockery, Melissa Brewer, and Sharon Gibbons were crew members. Susan Zehner was in charge of tickets. Cast members also helped on the crew.

The fall drama presentations included two plays this year. Christmas Incorporated, was a heartwarming story of a department store employee, Mary Daly, who wanted to quit her job because of the over-commercialization of Christmas. When a little girl asks Mary where she is going, she asks the child to tell her how she feels about the holiday. Laura Jo helps Mary to realize that when she sees beyond all the "Santas" that a special feeling for the Christmas season still exists. The cast consisted of Taffi Harden, Angie Melvin, Marie Rubino, Marina Skalkotas, and Cara Johnson.

Angie Melvin, Leslie Fowler, Marina Skalkotas, Leslie Fowler, and Scott Barnes were the principal characters in the play: The Christmas Stranger. The plot of the story unfolded when stranger passed through a New England community and changed the lives of a small family for the better, bringing happiness to their lives that they never dreamed possible.

Designs of the future

"Celebrating Elwood" was the theme of the banner made by the Super Graphics Art Class, which hangs on the wall across from the office. The banner was originally made to go upstairs, but since the banner turned out better than expected its location was changed.

ECHS has a range of art classes that are offered. All art classes are taught by Mrs. Anna May McQuitty. Besides super graphics being offered, basic design, painting, drawing, ceramics, and sculptor classes are also offered. Each art class gives the student the chance to develop his or her own art skills.

Art Club is one of many clubs around ECHS and has been very active throughout the 1984-85 school year. The club sold Panther pops and jewelry around Valentines Day as money making projects. Each year the art club purchases an original painting for the school and it is placed in the entry hall with the other pictures the club has purchased in the past.

Art club had also attended many cultural events during the school year. The Purdue Glee Club and The Nutcracker Sweet are just examples of some of the events the club had attended.

A step into the future

Computers have become away of life! Computers have moved into everyday life situations. Computers have moved into our high school and students are getting the chance to work with them.

Presently our high school is offering Computer Programing as an elective course. In order to be able to take Computer Programing it is required that you have either had Advanced Algebra or presently take the class. Next year Advanced Computer Programing will be offered to students who have had a year of Computer Programing.

Mr. Garner teaches the computer classes and if you ask any student, Mr. G knows what he is doing when it comes to computers. Computer Programing teaches a student the basics and gives the students a chance to work on the computers from what they have learned in class. The main thing students learn is to make programs that will work on the computers.

Computers are a big part of the future. Getting the opportunity to take Computer Programing could give you a little advantage in the future.

Sophomore Renee Foor is shown working during one of her classes on a computer. Computers are being used more in the classroom as learning tools.

What's the matter Beth? Beth Murphy looks as if she is trying to succeed in making her program work while working very hard in computer class.

Whatcha looking at guys? Wayne McCray, Larry Gibson, and Phil Norris are shown looking over their computer print out during computer programing class.

Don't let us bother you girls! Shelly Burton, Kim Stover, and Anna Nickles are shown keeping very busy as they work with the computer and computer print out during one of their classes.

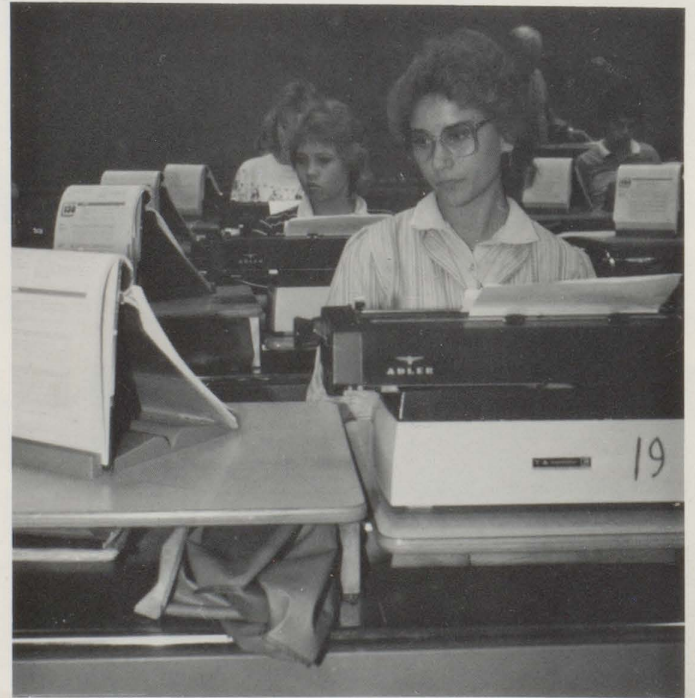

Business is the future

Sherrie Taylor, junior, receives instructions from Mrs. Barnett. In some of the classes computers are frequently used.

The business course is just one of the courses available at Elwood Community High School. A wide variety of classes can be taken, such as keyboarding, accounting, shorthand, office machines, business law, and many others. These classes prepare young women and men for different business careers. The high school business course trains you for jobs such as a secretary, receptionist, corporate lawyer, accountant, type setter and so on. The teachers for the 1984-85 school year were Mr. Gerald Burton, Mrs. Marilyn Barnett, Mr. Steve Demuth, Mr. Max Hoppel. The Business Department supports Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA).

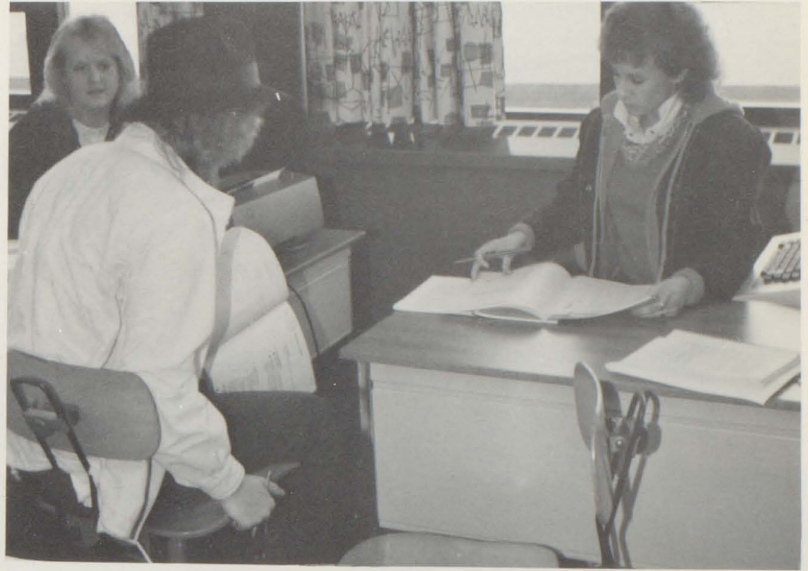

Heather Grimes, senior, helps teachers and students while using her business skills. Being a library aide is just one of the opportunities of being a Elwood High student.

Jodi Moore, sophomore, not only works hard at meeting new people but works hard at achieving the challenge of keyboarding.

Jana Pratt, senior, is hard at work to finish her keyboarding assignment. Even though her mind more than likely wanders off to her plans for the future.

Speaking in different tongues

Below are: Heather VanNess, Angela Higgins, Joani Smith, and Michelle McQuitty. These are a few of the students who went ice-skating at the coliseum.

The foreign language clubs have been busy this year. Spanish Club has been raising money by selling calendar/planners, candy bars, and booster badges which they sold during basketball season. The Spanish Club will sponsor another Foreign Language Festival this year. Seven Spanish students are planning to go on the big trip to Spain and France scheduled from June 27 until July 6.

Latin Club has been busy making money too. They have sold stationary products and candy bars. Latin club also participated in the annual chariot races this year. The club ran with a brand new purple chariot, and with their new Roman costumes; they placed third. Hopefully next year they will do even better than that with the new costumes which the vocational home ec. classes are now making.

The Spanish and Latin Clubs have planned many activities together this year. First of all they had their annual Christmas parties together. The two clubs also went ice-skating together in Indianapolis.

Students get involved

The Foreign Exchange students got to see how our city was run by observing what the students did. This was a great opportunity for the students to see exactly how a city is run.

Students participating in the day were Christy Pedro, Marjore Cole, Renee Hobson, Teresa Mays, Angie Morrow, Heidi Cook, Ann Thornberry, Anne Burke, Jill Champion, Leah Richwine, Christy Decker, Jeremy Jones, Mark Morgan, Steve Helping, Jamie Whetstone, Ulrich Polhman, Marcus Nauer, Osamu Saito, and Mr.

Phil Brown.

Annually each year the Elks Lodge sponsors students from ECHS to take part in Youth and Government Day. Mr. Phil Brown, history teacher at ECHS, was also a sponsor and organizer for this event. The Elks also sponsored a lunch for the students participating in the activities.

Officers from the sophomore class, junior class, senior class, and student council were chosen to participate in the Youth and Government Day. Each student was assign a certain position to fulfill throughout the day. Various jobs that the students had were mayor, Anne Burke, councilpersons, Ann Thornberry, Steve Helping. Besides filling in positions, the students also observed how the city building was ran and how various types of functions happen in the city.

A look of beauty! Christy Pedro and Jill Champion look like they are enjoying the rest that they have managed to get during their busy day.

A look of seriousness. A group of students look on while they observe the city building, yet it appears that Steve Helping is trying to break the ice by acting like a clown.

The experience of on the job training

Teresa Lane, freshman, and Charles Stage, junior, are making muffins in first hour cooking class.

Everyone needs helpful everyday survival tips. The students involved in FHA learn helpful hints to survive the home life. Cooking and sewing isn't just an instinctive habit; these skills are learned. The classes at the John Hind Vocational prepare students for the role of the future homemakers.

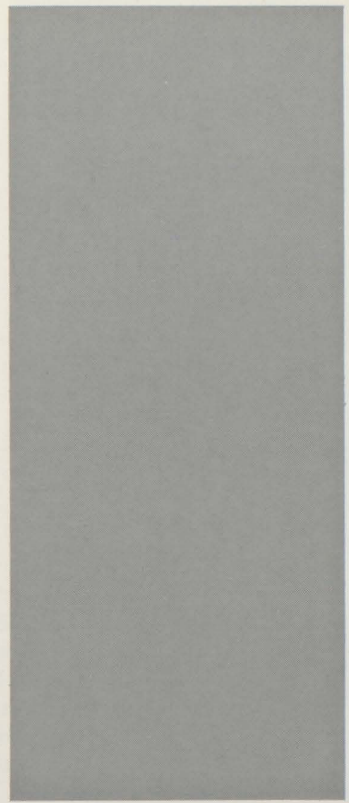

FHA (Future Homemakers of America) has two sponsors, Miss Winger and Mrs. Wittkamper. The work of a house wife and homemaker is never dull and not an easy task.

HOSA offers the students on hand experience. The Health Occupations members have the opportunity to work at the hospital or nusing home for nursing experience. The challenges of a health occupation are great. When you enroll in the class, the student is offered the experience of on the job training.

The hard working OEA

P.M.OEA: Seated; Cindy Fleenor, Kris Amick Standing; Anna Nickles, Julie Fettig, Tera McAdams, Jill Hughes

John H. Hinds Area Vocational School chapter of office education (OEA) has worked especially hard this year. OEA prepares young women and men for office jobs such as secretary, or data processor. There is a certain dress code the students must follow; they must dress as if they were working on a real job.

For Valentines Day the class sold carnations, but because of the snow the carnations were delivered almost a week late. The OEA receives students from Elwood, Frankton, Tipton, and Alexandria. To the senior OEA members: Good Luck!

A.M.OEA: Seated; Kim Stover, Kelly Peters, Loretta Ward, Shelly Burton
Standing: Lori Faulstich, Lora Parks

Lori Fettig concentrates hard on the computer during afternoon OEA. Working with computers will prepare Lori for some kind of office job.

DECA moves ahead

Senior DECA; R-1: T. Hazelbaker, D. Jones, R. Smith R-2: B. Tracy, A. Jordon, D. McCord, S. Taylor

Junior DECA; R-1: M. Whisler, S. Taylor, T. High R-2: C. Bryan, K. Huff, D. Barnes, D. Vice, M. Lowder

Tracy High assists one of the many customers that go to the candy Barn. The Candy Barn is operated by the DECA members, during certain times of the day.

The DECA members have done many exciting things this year. They took their bosses to Jim Dandy for breakfast, had an Employer-Employee banquet, and also gave food and gifts to a needy family for Thanksgiving and Christmas. DECA had their District Competition at Carmel. They brought home a first place in Merchandise Decision Making, second place in Service Station Marketing — Comprehensive, third place in Finance and Credit-Comprehensive Testing, fourth place in Ad Layout, fifth place in Human Relations Decisions Making, and sixth place in Service Station Marketing.

Learning new technology today that will last a lifetime

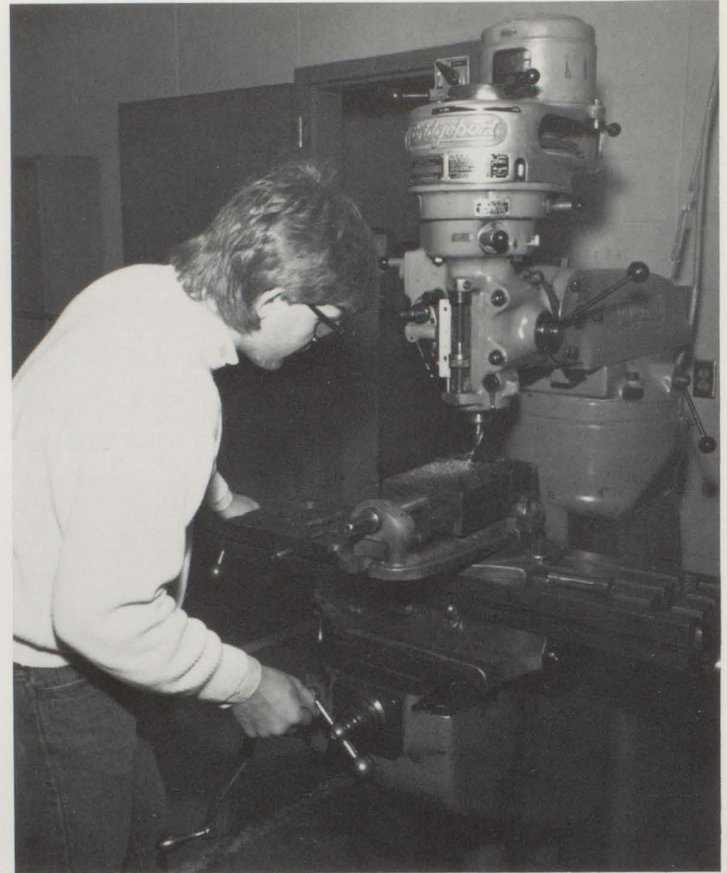

Technology is an essential asset for the future. Elwood Community High School offers many classes for learning new technology. To be successful, one needs more than just a classroom. They need to keep up with new technology and get hands-on experience. The students at ECHS are learning new technology that will last a lifetime.

The classes offered at ECHS and the vocational school are auto body, automechanics, building trades, welding, drafting, PBC, health occupations, sewing, housing and others. These courses offer many challenging adventures.

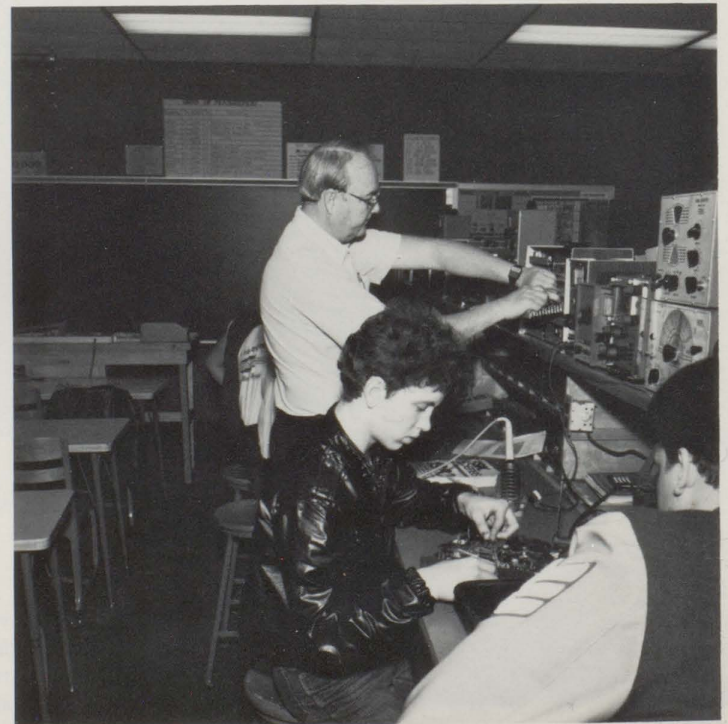

There are a few requirements. Some classes you must be a junior or senior. Several surrounding schools also attend the class at ECHS. The vocational classes offer a.m. and p.m. classes.

The students aren't only learning new technology; but they are learning and promoting leadership. High standards are being started by the students enrolled in these classes. There are several classes that repair damaged products. Auto body works on damaged and rusted cars. The electronics repairs television and radios. The classes offer fundamentals, which is essential for a life. The students are learning and sharing new technology that will last a lifetime.

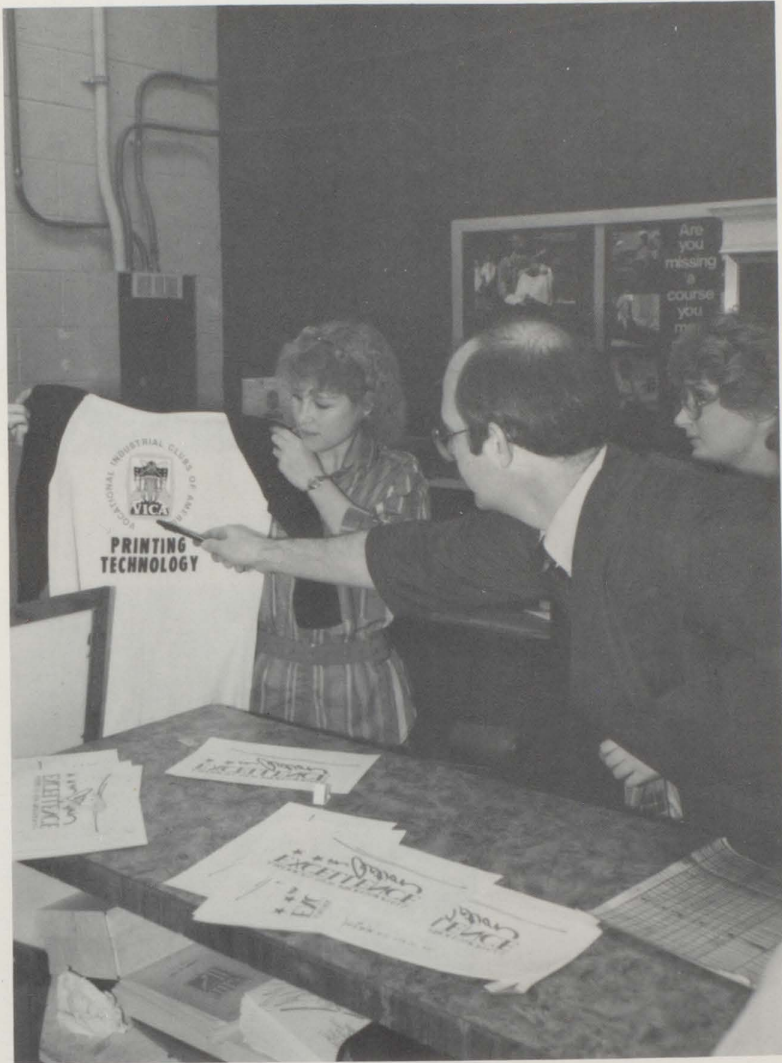

It's hard work for junior Mark Back. Mark has to be very careful with the special machinery.

The sparks fly in welding for, senior, Jerrald Thomas from Alexandria.

Mr. Foust, electronics teacher, and senior, Robert McMullen are taking part in a project in electronics class.

Learning printing technology, senior, George Ponder concentrates on his work.

Anybody need a mechanic? Senior, Andy Osborne enjoys working on cars in auto mechanics.

Elwood

This picture is a familiar sight in Elwood. It's Mangas Cafeteria on the corner of Main Street and Anderson Street. It's been a familiar sight for over 30 years.

The feeling of a "change of pace" has brought Elwood through many changes in the past year. The general attitude has changed from negative to positive with the progress of the downtown area. With new stores and businesses filling our empty buildings, the people of Elwood are looking forward to the future.

We now have a Village Pantry, McDonalds, and Pool Side Industries (located in the old Armory), plus the opening of our local theatre which was renovated and changed into a twin cinema. These businesses employ an average of 100 people, either full or part time. In addition to these businesses, the Duck Pond, Peggy's Clothes Closet, Small World, and The Ultimate Tanning Salon were also opened.

Mayor Orbaugh and his administration have made contacts in Indianapolis concerning the Leeson Building. There are high hopes that this will lead to something soon.

A strong effort has been made to force home owners to clean and maintain their property. Other possible changes in Elwood may be a new factory in the near future, and, the renovation of the Industrial Park. Mayor Orbaugh would also like to see an improvement in the water system.

Elwood continues to progress at a "change of pace". Look around and see the changes.

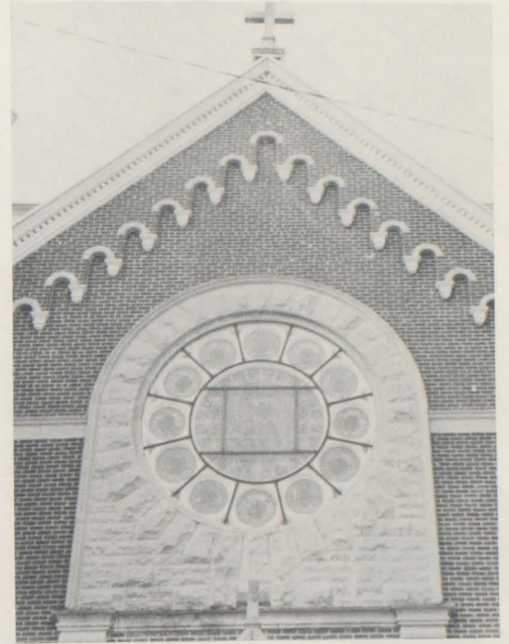

The Elwood theatre has been at its present site on Main Street for several years. But, this year it was renovated and changed into a twin cinema.

Elwood Community High School has changed over the past year in several ways. Here is an authentic pre-Civil War cabin in the new nature center at the school.

Pictured below is our local Post Office. The Post Office is a vital part of our city and has changed with the pace of our times.

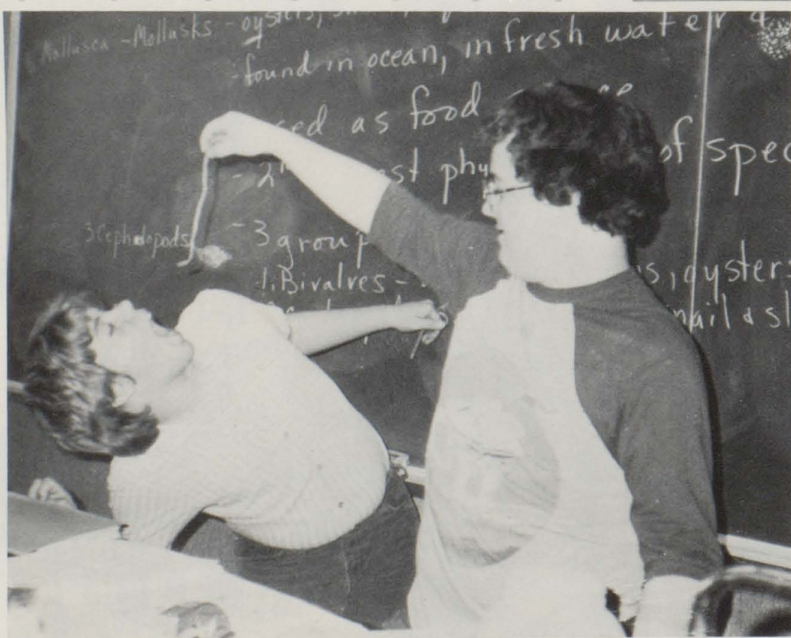

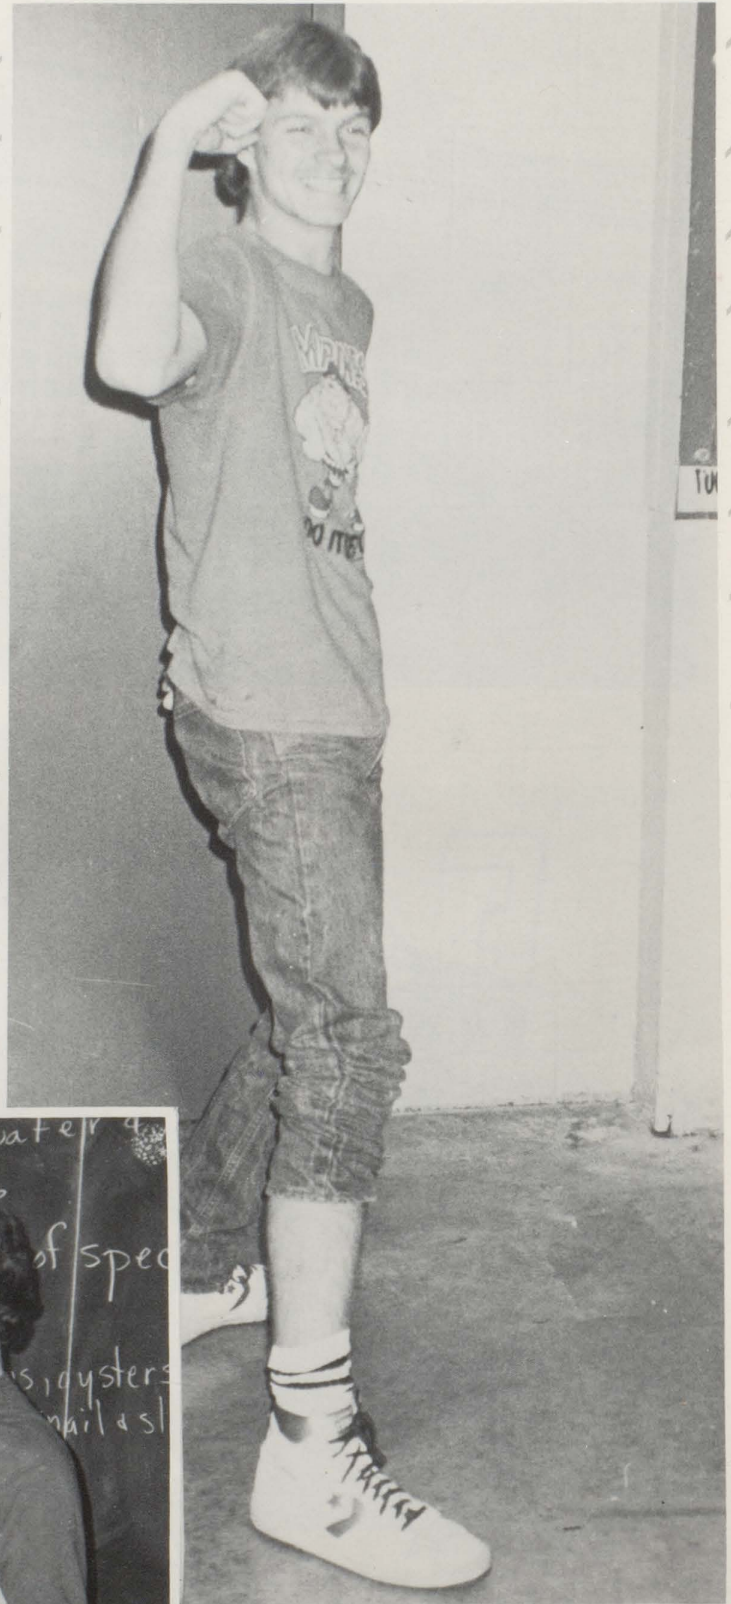

The above picture is the rose window that can be found on the front of the Catholic Church of Elwood.

The picture below was drawn by Tim Faulstich, one of the talented art students of ECHS. Several art students have changed the look of Elwood by painting murals downtown.

Worms for lunch? That's the question senior, Chris Jones asked sophomore, Saul Vest. Saul insisted the worm be chocolate.

Show those sexy legs!! A pose from senior, George Ponder as he cuts up in class, again.

Album

People have a very special meaning at Elwood Community High School. The people at ECHS endured many changes this year. Yet the special people at ECHS made the most of the changes.

How could the students cope with a seven period day? The teachers, principals, and other students helped each other through the changes.

Here are a few comments from the students: Kelly Keene, "the extra classes are great, but it is quite a load?" Brian Phinis had no comment. That's a change!

The people would cheer and support the teams in their moment of glory and moment of defeat. Still the people bounce back and manage to continue striving for success. The most missed from school was the pep sessions and other mini breaks from the long school day.

Many new programs were introduced to the people at ECHS this year. The "H" Team or Honors was created for students with a grade point average 3.4 or better. ECHS also had its first trivial pursuit game this year. The prevailing winners were Mike Luther and Beth Murphy.

"What's Mark Morgan think he's doing?" Mark has found a new use for a baritone . . . it makes a better weapon than a musical instrument.

Worried about your grade Chris? Chris Courtney, senior, appears to be paying a lot of attention to what the teacher has to say. Maybe he is just daydreaming!

Football isn't all fun! Sometimes there's a big price to pay with sprains and bruises, as Scott Higgins displays. How did this one happen Scott?

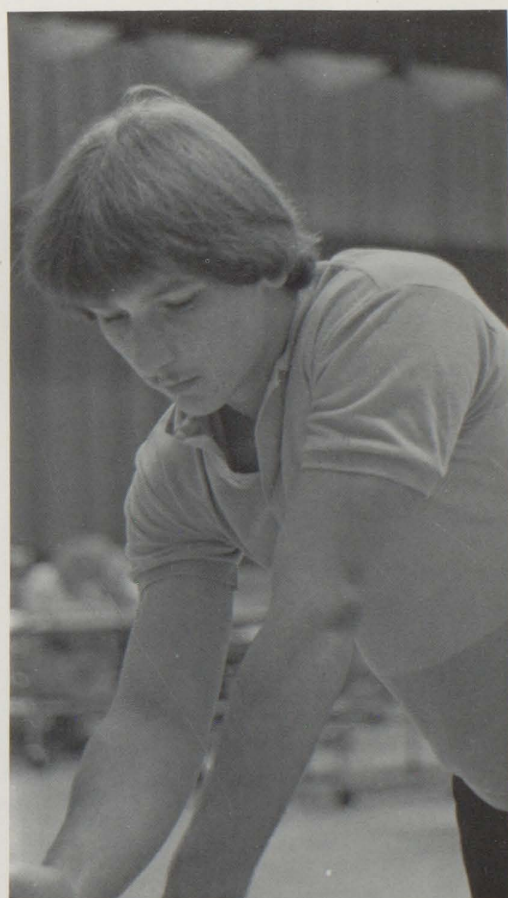

Osamu shows that foreign exchange students catch on to our trends quickly. Osamu smiles happily while standing in the school library.

Smile Pat! School is supposed to be fun. Pat Holliday is probably thinking about tonight's football game.

Where's the Beef?' Everyone was wondering where the beef was this year and the seniors were no exception as they selected this as the theme for their homecoming float.

The Juniors have had a year of excitement while planning for the Prom. This year the Juniors chose the theme "Magic Moments." Favors for the prom were wine glasses, while the colors for the prom were silver and white. The Juniors took the usually second place for their float for the third year in a row. This year the Juniors used "Snap, Crackle, and Pop" for their float. The Junior girls got to see what it is like to play football as they lost to the Senior girls in the annual Homecoming Powder Puff game.

Snap! Crackle! Pop! Taking second place for the third year in a row, the junior's used Rice Krispies as its theme for the float competition during homecoming.

Friends Forever! Ann Thornberry and Jill Champion are hamming it up in front of the camera. Ann was treasure of the junior class, junior editor of the yearbook staff, and tapped into Honor Society this year. Jill was vice-president of the junior class, and a member of the girls varsity basketball team.

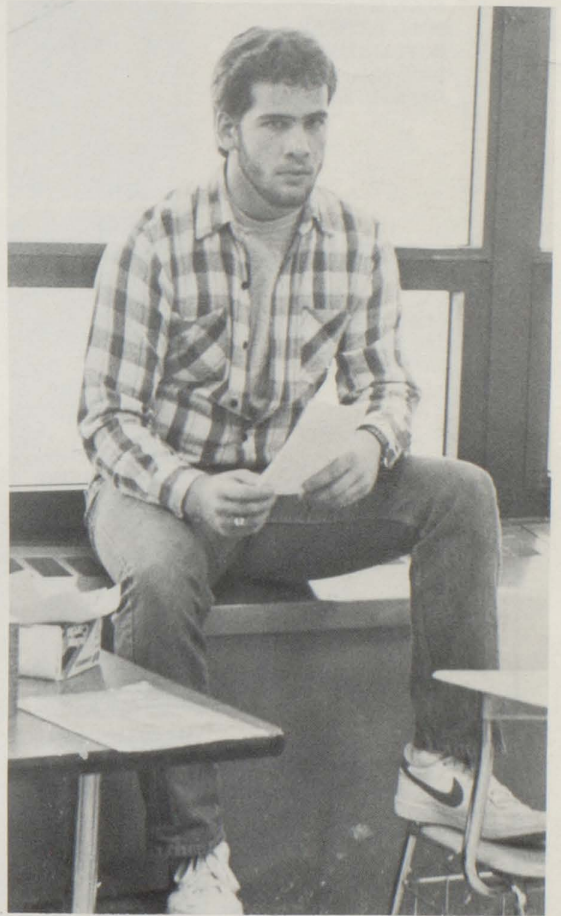

Working hard Kim? Kim Lee looks as if she is working very hard and concentrating on trying to get all of her typing done. Don't work too hard Kim!

A sure sign of frustration! Jeff Lynas is shown giving a sure sign that things are as bad as they look. Jeff not only was an athlete participating in varsity football and junior varsity basketball, but he has received many credits for his talent in the area of art.

Ready okay! Marianne Perez is shown doing a cheer during a varsity basketball game. Marianne has been a cheerleader at ECHS for three years, while being on the varsity squad for two.

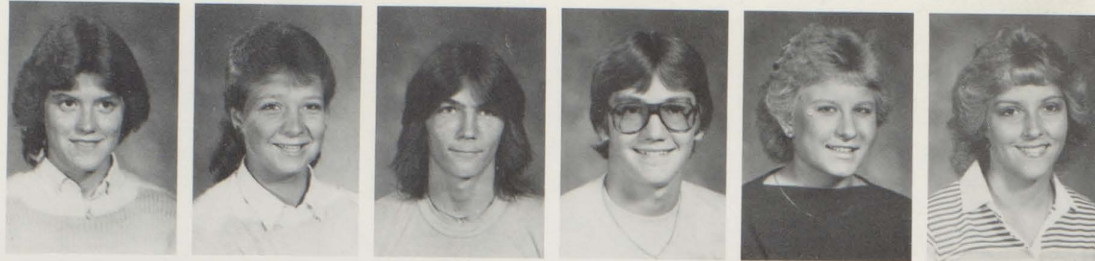

Whatcha looking at Mike? Mike Piirto looks as if he could kill someone if they said the wrong thing to him. Smile Mike!

The Sophomore Class was busy working on a float during Homecoming this year. The theme of the Sophomore float was "Our Cat Craves Argylls" to go along with the commercial theme. Mrs. Austin, the class sponsor, said "Working on floats helps develop a positive relationship among class members." So far this year the Sophomore Class had a candy sale with Cherry Hills Farms. They made approximately 600.00. To get ready for prom they are also going to sell m & m's and nestle bars. They need approximately $1,000.00 to get ready for prom.

Panthers really do crave Argylls. The Sophomore Class showed this by the float they made and entered in the Homecoming parade this year. They worked hard and did a nice job.

Below is Jason Updegraff. Jason is taking time-out to give the peace sign to everyone during his wood class. Is everything cool there Jason?

Having fun Gina and Kris? Below is Gina Hoffer and Kristin McQuitty working on their layouts in Yearbook class. They know it's a tough job but they know somebody has to do it.

The freshman class has gotten off to a good start this year. First of all the freshmen placed first in the float competition at the homecoming football game. The float theme was on commercials. The freshmen came up with the "Kentucky Fried Argyls."

The freshmen class was also busy around the Christmas season selling little gift items. A couple of the things that they sold are stationary and little stuffed animals.

The freshman class sponsors are: Mrs. Merritt, Mrs. McQuitty, and Miss Runyan. The freshmen seem to have had no problem adjusting to the high school.

What's the matter Shane? Can't you get your locker open? To the right is Shane Arnold having one of the problems that freshmen always seem to have . . . opening his locker!

What's so funny girls? Below is Jenny Taylor and Mary Baker; two freshmen getting ready to go to class.

What's the problem here? Above Kathy Burke is helping Deanna Beecher with a problem in typing class.

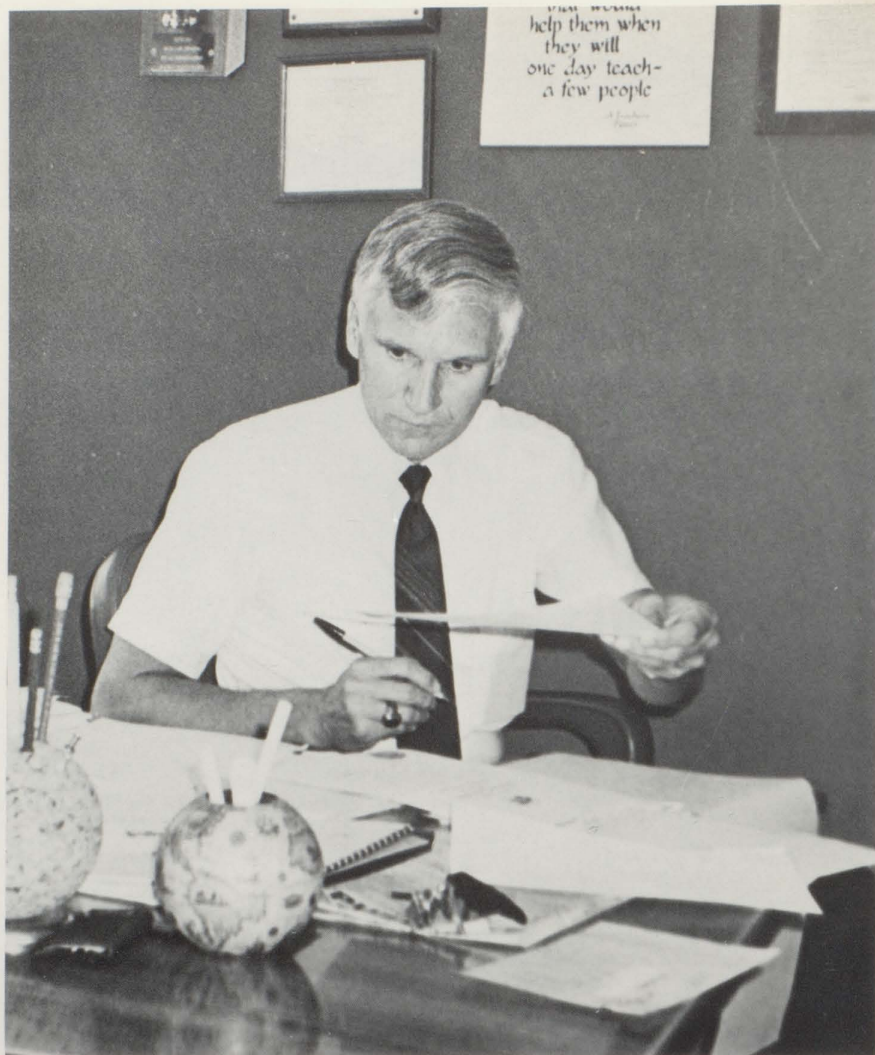

To the left are J.C. Wright and Troy Hicks pulling their chariot. J.C. and Troy are running a race at the Latin Club chariot races.

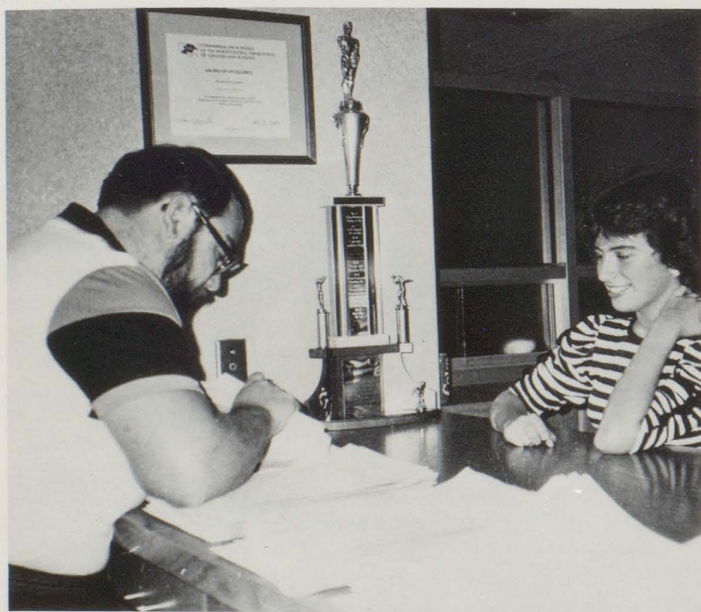

Isn't that interesting Rob? Above is Robby Morrow dissecting his grasshopper in Biology class.

Toes on the line!!! To the left is Miss Personette getting her freshman phys. ed. class lined up to go down to the locker room.

Important people setting the pace

Mr. Paquin is busy preparing one of his reports as required by the Indiana State Department of Public Instruction, the board of School Trustees and the Superintendent of Schools.

This is Kelly Keene paying her school fees to Mr. Compton during last summer before school started.

The secretaries provide many important functions at the high school. Here is Kandi Courtney at her desk.

School board members are listed as follows, first row: Mrs. Cathy Goins (Secretary), Mr. Abernathy (President), Mrs. Marilyn Thornberry (Vice President). Second row: Mr. Tom Cassidy (member) and Mr. Robert Savage (member)

Mr. McQuitty spends much of his time at his duties of Athletic Director. He is responsible for all the athletic activities at ECHS including the scheduling games with other schools.

Several changes were made in Elwood Community High School curriculum this past year because of some changes in state educational requirements. A seven period day was initiated with a full 360 minutes of instructional time per day. The phase elective English program was dropped and the SRP (Student Referral Program) was started. Electives added include Czars and Commissioners (Asian Study).

New teachers this year are James Pearson, Lorrie Sweet, Jane Scharff, Rhonda Winger, Mary Zehringer, Christopher Donavon, Annette Briscoe, and Helen Wittkamper.

The Administration sees no major changes for next year; however, some consideration is being given to continuing the smoking area and to improve the attitude and work ethic of students who continually fail.

School board meets monthly on the second Thursday of the month with extra called meetings as needed. They authorize payment of all claims and payroll, oversee short and long term maintenance, repair of all school property, plan for new buildings and other facilities which the school system may need, and authorize all personal changes.

Our principal, Mr. Paquin, has many responsibilities. He is responsible for instructional and program evaluation. He conducts faculty meetings and in-service programs. Mr. Paquin supervises custodians, secretaries, cooks, and teachers, and handles faculty problems. He also hires teachers and substitute teachers. Mr. Compton is our assistant principle at EHS. He is responsible for attendance and related problems. He is also responsible for the sale of tickets of Athletic Contests. Mr. Compton often makes our school announcements over the P.A.

Richard Merritt, Superintendent at Elwood, holds very important duties. Superintendent appoints members, like the treasurer. If anyone desires to address the Board, they should make arrangements with Mr. Merritt ahead of time to be placed on the agenda. Mr. Dudley is in charge of the bus routes at EHS. He does reports for reinvestment and handles various administration problems. He also is in charge of the elementary school programs.

"Talking again Mr. Compton?" Doesn't look as if Mr. Hoffman is interested in what Mr. Compton has to say to Mr. Paquin. He'd rather stare at the camera.

Cooks, custodians, busdrivers,

Some changes were made at the Elwood cafeteria this year. A salad bar was added in the spring of 1984, but really caught on in 1985. Sundae bar was added to the menu once a month the last semester of school and was a big hit. Slush Puppie machine was added in Spring 1985. Highlights of the year were the new freshman came in the fall and were exposed to our "offer vs serve" program for the first time. During the career fair we served approximately 85 Clue students and it was very evident that they enjoyed it. We also served 81 adults that were participating in the career fair. The cooks cooked and served the VICA Banquet which included about 350 people. The cafeteria staff enjoys watching the students start high school as freshman and continue through graduation and later meeting them on the street as adults. The cafeteria staff would like to wish the Graduating class of 1985 Good Luck.

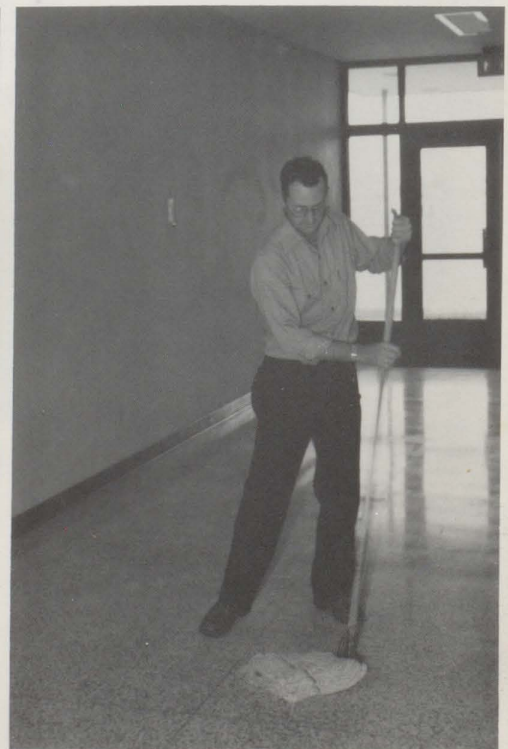

Elwood High School would like to thank the bus drivers for bringing students to school whether it was rain, snow, or shine. Custodians were busy at work every morning till late at night. Their tasks ranged from cleaning up after students to preparing ECHS facilities. Thanks cooks, bus drivers, and custodians.

This is Glenda Slate and Jean Caldwell, two of our very fine cooks getting ready to prepare lunch.

Seated above are the custodians. They are George Morgan, Loretta Hittle, Jerry Davenport, Steve Savage, Richard Coleman, and Don Plake.

Jerry Davenport is mopping the floor to help keep our school clean.

What's for lunch Martha? This is Martha Bennett helping prepare one of our very nutritious lunches.

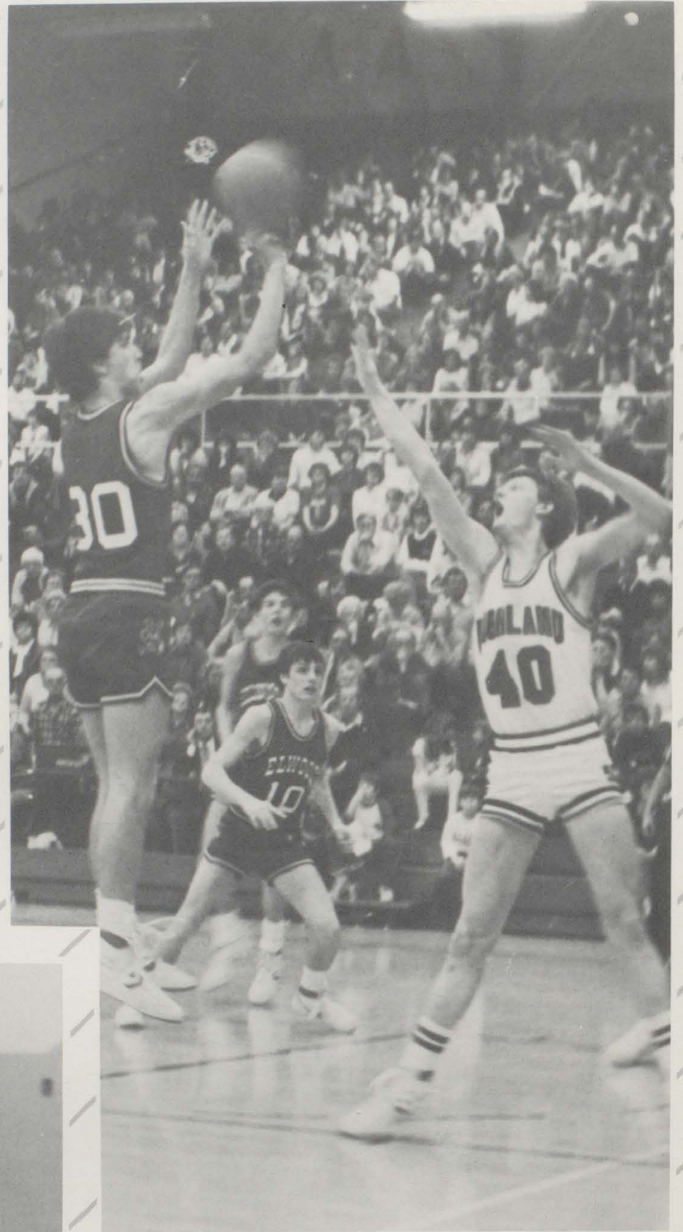

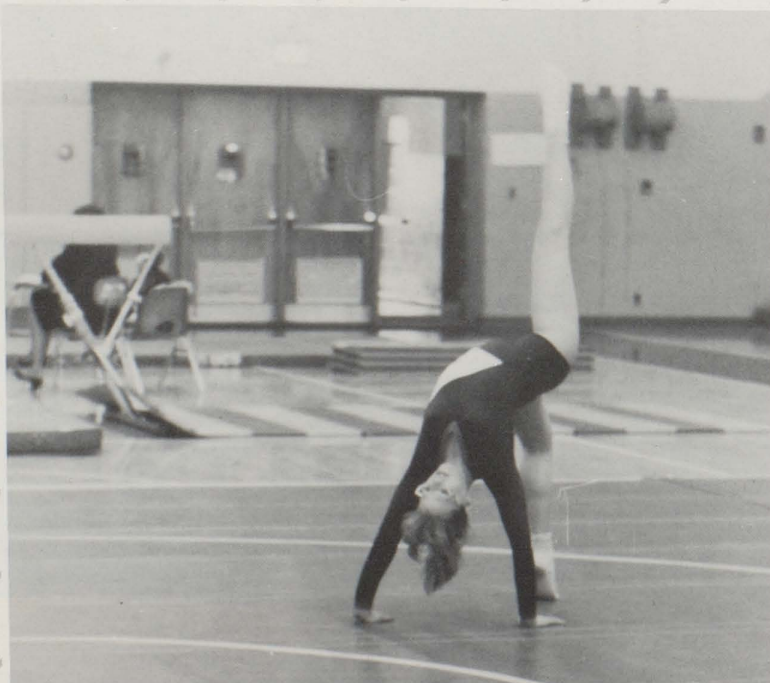

These are the cooks at Elwood High School: Rosie Hancock, Diana Daleure, Colleen Rickabaugh, Martha Bennett, Jean Caldwell, Jean Stewart.

Pictures to the left is Loretta Hittle after a hard days work. She's finishing up the day by cleaning Miss Able's chalkboard.

Annie Cleaver develops style and grace in gymnastics. She demonstrates that style and grace in her floor exercise.

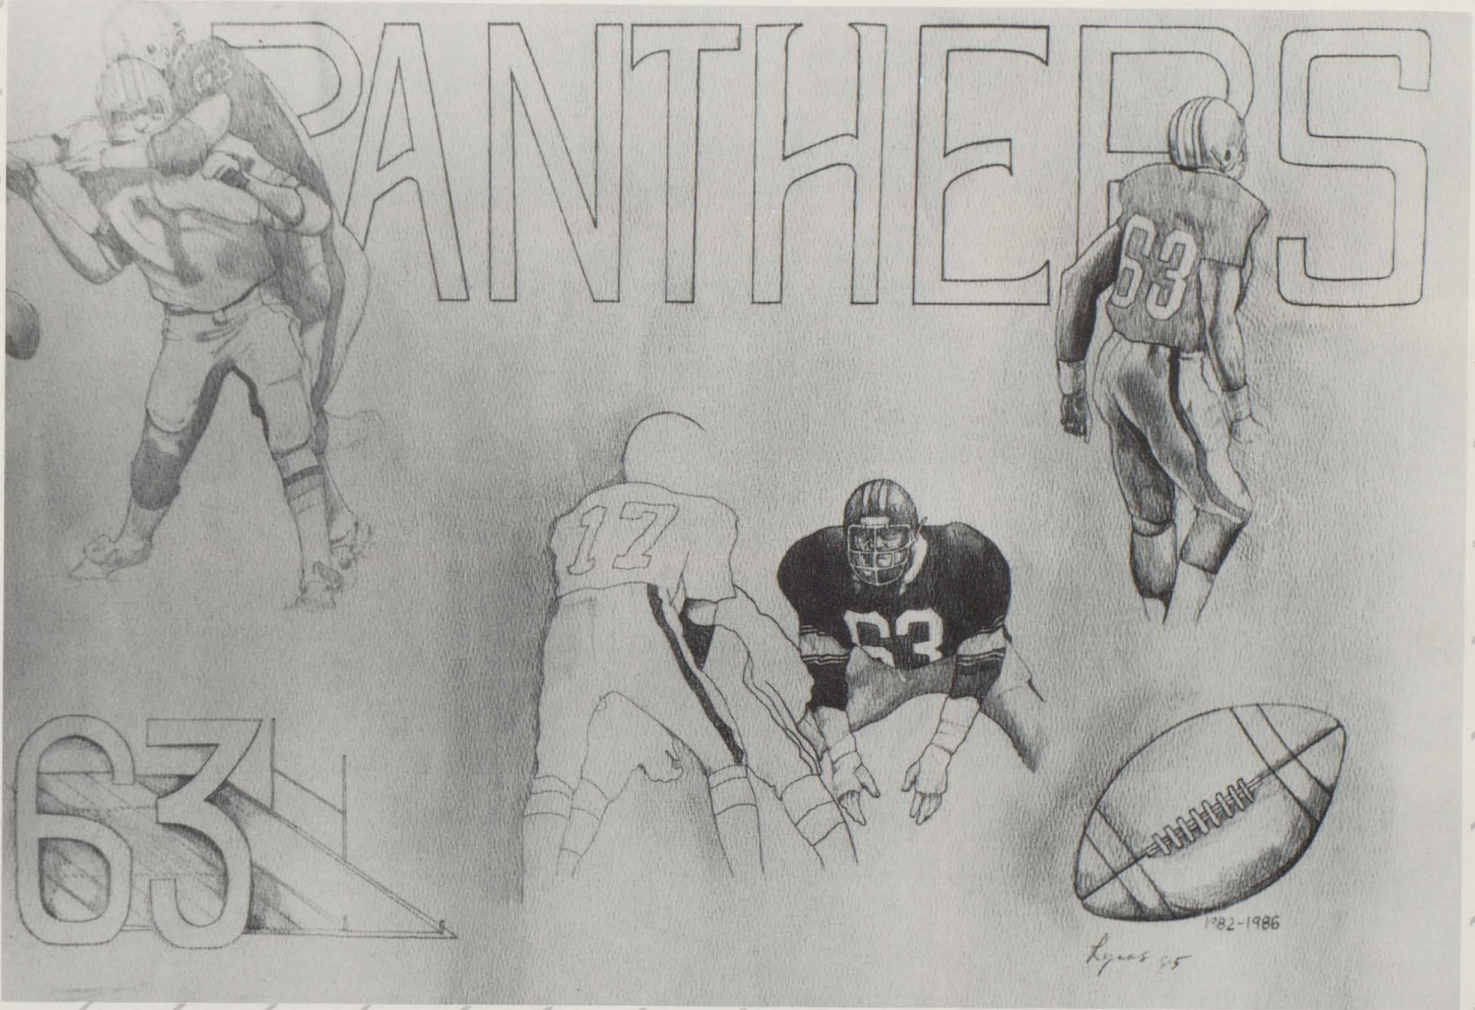

Matt John shoots for the basket and tries for two points as a Highland Scot moves in.

Sports

Touch down! Shoot for two! Home run! Hole in one! The screams of excitement from devoted fans could be heard on the field court diamond course and throughout the gym. The spirit of the Elwood Panthers carried the players and the fans through the year. Although not all teams had a winning season, the players, supported by their fans gave their all.

Some of the players contributed more than others. They might have made new school reords, like Jamie Whetstone, or they might have made the winning point. However, we can't forget those who didn't get to play as much, the beloved bench warmers. They were much of the teams spirit and encouragement. All players working together is what makes a good team. ALL teams sports at ECHS show the teamwork needed to have a successful season. ECHS can be proud of all of its athletic teams.

E.C.H.S. OWN Jeff Lynas shows skill and artwork showing off his own #63.

The Panthers show their pride

Starting the season off with a win over Madison Heights, beating the Pirates by a margin of ten points, Panther fans thought this could be the year we would win state. Yet, despite how promising the Panthers looked, things didn't turn out to be the way everyone hoped.

The Panthers had a record of three wins and seven losses. A very disappointing record for the Panthers because the team showed great potential of being one of Elwood's best football teams.

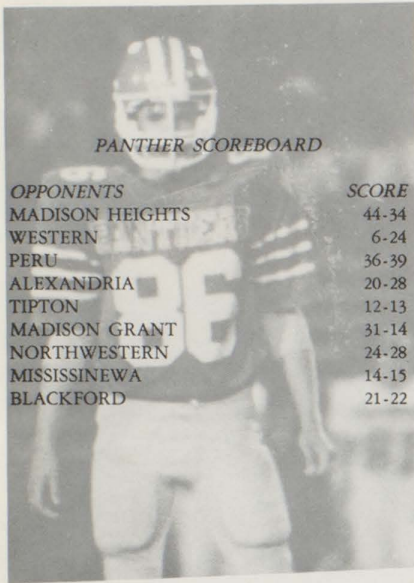

The Panthers scored a total of 222 points for the season, only letting their opponents score 225 points, which is three more points than what the Panthers scored. The team scored thirty-one touchdowns, twenty-eight were scored by the offense, with the defense scoring three. Taking honors with the most touchdowns scored, Larry Gibson contributed thirteen on his own, thus making Larry and Ray Holliday top scorers for the team. Together Larry and Ray ran a total of 2,554 yards on 445 carries as Elwoods Running Backs who together made a Panther offense sometimes unstoppable. Top defense players credited for a fine job were Mark Morgan and Tom Holliday, while top offensive players were Ray Holliday and John Klelya. John worked hard to earn the best blocking percentage on the team for the year.

The seniors will be greatly missed next year as the Panthers try to carry on and make next years record better. Senior players were Todd Klien, Scott Higgins, Scott Hughes, Pat Holliday, Donnie Strong, Andy Harvell, and Brent Boston. These seniors and the rest of the Panther team were headed by senior Tri-Captians John Klelya, Randy Bannister, and Mark Morgan. The Mighty Panthers will be headed by Larry Gibson and Ray Holliday, as the Co-Captains next year.

Awards were given at the banquet for those who stood out just a little more than the rest. Receiving Most Improved award was Jeff Lynas. Larry Gibson and Ray Holliday received the Outstanding Backs award, while Ray also received Most Valuable Player. Scott Hughes received the Outstanding Cornerback award and while having some great catches throughout the season, Pat Holliday received Outstanding Receiver award. Outstanding Linebackers were Jeff Lynas and Tom Holliday, whole Outstanding Lineman on offense was John Klelya, with Mark Morgan as Outstanding defense lineman.

The Panthers had alot of players recognized this year for their accomplishments throughout the season. Randy Bannister was picked for All-Conference, All-County, and A.P. All-State teams. John Klelya was picked for All-Conference, All-County, and Academic All-State teams. David Vice and Mark Morgan were picked to the All-County teams. Larry Gibson was named to the All-County and All-Conference teams. Ray Holliday was named All-Conference, All-County, UPI All-State second team, and Madison County player of the year.

We wish the Panthers luck as they journey into next years season. Yet the players must remember working your best and being dedicated will make you and your team better. Hard work pays off and having a great season would be a great pay off.

Chuck Hoover makes a quick thinking move in a scrimmage game.

In a game, number 22 runs with the ball for a touchdown.

The junior varsity football team for the 1984-85 season was undefeated. They went with 7 straight victories, lead by Coach Huffman. Of these victories the toughest team they faced was Mississinewa. The outcome of this match was 26-20. Also included on the junior varsity were the freshman. Since there were so few freshman going out for the sport, they were included on the junior varsity. There were only 10 freshman going out for Elwood this season.

Many of the team members had exceptionally good seasons. The top two scorers were Paul Rice and Chuck Hoover. Fred Short was acclaimed as top defensive player. And Paul Rice was said to be the top offensive player. He also scored the most touchdowns. Paul is a sophomore and seems to be a promising football player.

Coach Huffman commented, "We had a great season." The team had a season total of 234 points. Of the games they played Blackford was their finest victory. In this game the outcome was 56-0. When asked if he had any advice for next years team Coach Huffman said, "Work real hard this summer for next year!"

Varsity & J.V. improve

The 1984-85 Golf team had a rather good season. They finished with 7 wins and 8 losses. Both the varsity and junior varsity ended with a win. This game was against Madison Grant with scores of 165-163 varsity and 210-198 junior varsity. "The boys did improve from last year," commented Coach Huffman.

The junior varsity had a season record of 3-5. There were 8 young men who played. The leading scores were Brent "Bake" Boston and Troy Hicks. Brent is a senior who has spent a great deal of time with his golf and Troy is a sophomore who will be back next year to carry on this winning effort.

The varsity had 5 young men who played.

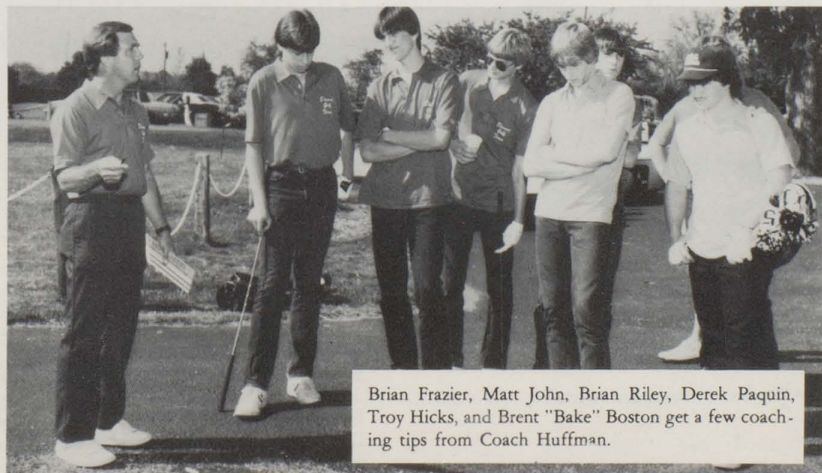

The outstanding player, for this year, was senior Brian Riley. Brian lead the varsity with an average of 9 holes. His score average ranged from 40.5 to 44.0. Coach Huffman added, "Four of these will be back next year but we'll really miss Brian."

When asked which was the hardest team faced the reply was Noblesville, who is ranked 5th in state. Even in this meet they found their way out. In the Central Indiana Conference the team finished 5th out of 8 teams. They missed 2nd place by 5 shots.

As for next year, Coach Huffman said, "We have a pretty decent team coming back and good strong 8th grade team."

The motto for the Varsity Volleyball Team rung throughout the gym during the games. The girls finished the season with eight wins and seventeen losses.

The team had six seniors, Angie Hobbs, Tammy McClish, Reva Smith, Julie Wiand, Amy Jordon, and Brenda Tracy. These girls will be greatly missed.

This years captain is Reva Smith and co-captains were Angie Hobbs, and Tammy McClish.

Tammy McClish was privileged enough to be chosen for the Madison County Volleyball Team.

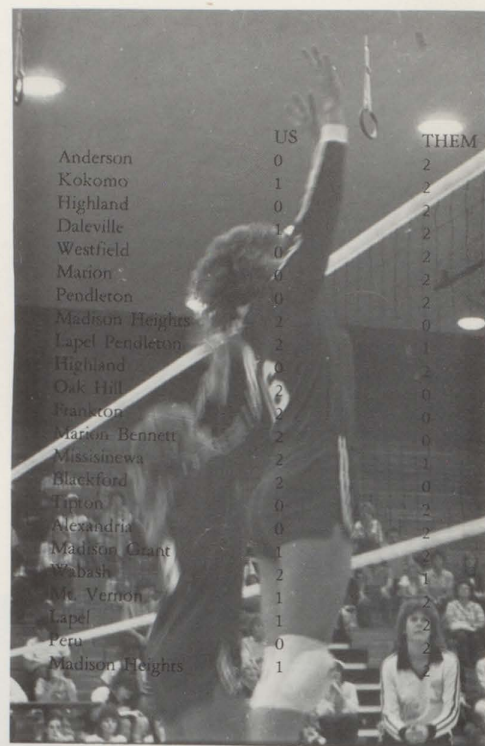

At the Volleyball Banquet Tammy McClish earned the Defensive Award and Outstanding Spiker Award, Angie Hobbs greatly earned the Most Improved Award.

To volleyball players it is very much deserved to be a member of the ninety percent club. This year varsity honors to to Angie Hobbs and Reva Smith.

Miss Personette stated, "I was very pleased with the overall effort of the players. Elwood volleyball is moving into an era where we have alot of players who enjoy and work very hard in the sport. Therefore the competition for positions on the team are going to become more difficult to hold on unless the volleyball player continues to work hard and achieve. I'm looking forward to the years ahead as we have several good players returning."

Let's hear it for the girls, let's give those girls a hand. They may not have had all winning games, but still they worked with sweat and pain. The girls appear to be giving themselves a hand; the girls worked very hard this season.

Listen closely Angie! Angie Melvin #15, Varsity Volleyball Team, seems to be listening closely to the instructions given to her by Miss Personette, head volleyball coach. Following instructions can be a very important part of the game.

Whatcha doing Julie? You know you can't sit down on the job. It appears to look like Julie Wiand is sitting during a game. But Julie, along with other teammates, is preparing to bump, set, or spike the ball during a volleyball match.

Pictured here is senior Mark Leavell. Mark was one of the three seniors on this year's Elwood Panther Tennis Team. Aim for that ball Mark!

The Elwood Panther boys tennis team played well in spite of their lack of experience. The top two players of the year were Wayne Pickell and Greg Zink. All the boys became better tennis players skill-wise and mentally. It was a young team, but they never gave up.

Their weak points were the work ethics and the mental parts of the game. They spent times on the courts increasing their skill level. "This must be done in the right frame of mind," says Coach Hoppel.

The toughest teams they played were Alexandria and Peru. The sectional was against Pendleton Heights, which they lost 0-5. They lost all of the 10 games they played.

The finest qualities of the season were the improvements of the freshman and Greg Zink.

"The tennis players are made between October and August," Coach Hoppel stated, "We are starting to get the people in the program that we want. Eventually we will become competitive with other schools if we spend time on the courts during the off season. We must play every day that we possibly can until the season starts."

Panthers on the run

Running to the pace

The Elwood Panther Cross Country runners did a very good job this 1984 season. They Placed sixth in this year's conference meet at Tipton. The team consisted of both boys and girls this year. The girls were Sharon Gibbons and Christy Pedro.

George Ponder, a senior, and Dino Balsler, a freshman, were the top two runners of the season. George ended the year by running as the number one runner in both the conference meet and the sectional meet.

The team had many talented runners this year who, in the future, will be placing higher at meets and achieving faster times from their hard work and dedication. Christy Pedro set a new school record with the time of 16:23 at the Blackford Invitational in the 4,000 meters.

Other runners for the Panthers were: Terry Morris, Derek Paquin, Matt John, Trent Hicks, Jamie Whetstone, Mike Linder, Bob Paro, and Craig Stephens.

Next year set a goal for yourself — go to a Cross Country meet.

Girls on the move

They never stop

The scholastic changes have not seemed to effect the sports. Junior varsity volleyball has remained as strong as in the past due to the effective coaching of Mrs. Etchison. The team was at an advantage with freshmen, Angie Martin, and Heather VanNess as the top scorers. The defense was led by freshman, Laurie Mort and sophomore, Kristen McQuitty. The offense was led by freshmen, Diane Mitchell and Michelle McQuitty. Taking the net, two spikers were Diane Mitchell and Kristen McQuitty. Striving for over the net, were the lead servers Angie Martin and Heather VanNess. Helping to get the ball up and over were the top fielders Diane Mitchell and Angela Higgins.

The junior varsity team had a season of six wins and fifteen losses. Miss Linda Personette, assistant coach, has high hopes for the squad next year and is looking forward to the upcoming freshmen. Next year some junior varsity will return and some will go on to varsity. But Miss Personette believes, "The future is to those who prepare!"

Hot!!

The Elwood Junior Varsity Basketball Team was a fairly new team with seven freshmen and five sophomores. The Lady Panthers had a season record of 6 wins and 5 losses. Freshmen Tracie Wheeler and Angel York were the most improved in the 1984-1985 season. Coach Johnson says, "All the girls played well and had improved by the end of the year." The improvement was noticeable by the team's performance at each game.

"If these twelve young girls would continue to work hard on their skills during the 'off-season,' there is no doubt that in a couple of years it's possible that we could have one of the best teams Elwood has ever had," Coach Johnson stated. The Athletic Club believes in the girls and supports them all the way; all they have to do is use drive, dedication, and determination.

Shoot for 2!! Freshman Diane Mitchell works hard for two points. Diane was one of the new assets to the j.v. squad, hopefully she will return next year for even more hard work.

Foul shot go for 1!! Tracie Wheeler, a freshman, helps the Elwood Junior Varsity Girls Basketball Team to a victory. People like Tracie is what makes the program work.

Mighty Lady Panthers

The girls basketball team worked hard and showed determination throughout this years basketball season. Christy Pedro was "all time rebounder" with 144 points this year, All C.I.C., All Star Madison County, and top scorer for the Panthers. Christy scored 250 points for the season and 628 points for her career.

Kristi Fettig was second top scorer with 121 points for the season. Kristi was also leading freethrow shooter with 64%. Christy Pedro and Kristi Fettig were best offensive players, but it took players like Lisa Stover, Shelly Whiting, Kelly Peters, and Julie Wiand to make that possible.

Kelly Peters had the most assists with 52 and the most recovers with 44. Kelly and Kristi Fettig were top defensive players.

Seniors on the team were Christy Pedro, Kelly Peters, Shelly Whiting, Julie Wiand, Lisa Stover, and Valarie Laster, who was manager.

The girls won three games in their regular season beating Bennet, Lapel, and Hamiton Heights. Then the girls beat Lapel in their first game of the Sectional 50-28. Then they were beat by Highland in the next game of the sectional.

The Lady Panthers conference record was 0-7, with a sectional record of 1-1. The lady Panthers showed a lot of improvement during the season. Diane Mitchell was the only junior varsity player to move up to varsity and dress for sectional play.

With the lady Panthers losing five seniors, they'll have to depend on the leadership of Kristi Fettig, Jill Champion, Tammy Burdsall, and Tash McDaniel, all incoming seniors. Linda Simpson was the only sophomore to play varsity this year.

The girls practiced in the morning before school. It took a lot of dedication to get up in the morning to work hard and make their team the best it could be.

Miss Julie Johnson was head coach of the varsity, while Mrs. Sue Etchison was the coach of the junior varsity team. Good luck to Miss Johnson and her team next year as they try to be the best Elwood has ever had in girls basketball ever.

The varsity basketball team for 1984-85 will lose two outstanding basketball players next season. Jamie Whetstone and Rich Roberson did a very fine job of providing senior leadership. Their contributions helped turn the season around.

After a very poor start 1-8, the team turned around to go 8-1 during the next 9 games. Jamie Whetstone and Rich Roberson, with the young players, helped the season to finish on a very positive note when they tied for 2nd place in the CIC. Also, the Panthers can take pride in knowing they were the only CIC team to defeat Alexandria. In that game, Rich Roberson hit the game winning shot. He also had a total of 26 points against Tri-Central. Jamie Whetstone had a career high of 46 points against Missis-sinewa.

All in all, the team played hard every game, but we just didn't create enough breaks for ourself early in the season. Matt John did an outstanding job as center. He was a sophomore battling juniors and seniors most of the time. Ray Holliday played steady basketball and contributed a lot as an offensive leader. Defensively, he did a very fine job. Trent Hicks and Chuck Hoover contributed dependability from their guard positions. Tom Holliday and Mike Linder contributed team effort and much enthusiasm. "For the most part, we showed we will have to be a team to contend with in the future. A lot of people got valuable experience this season and it should pay off next year," commented Coach Hobbs.

Basketball in motion

A strong team made up the Elwood Panther Junior Varsity team this year. The team struggled and strived for victories.

Coach Huffman said about the top players of the season, "All were sufficient in different areas." The boys played aggressively against every team; the toughest team was Mt. Vernon.

Coach Huffman said the weak points of the season were inexperience, hustle, and desire, and also the lack of excellent shooters. His future plans for next year are to wait and see who works hard this summer.

When asked if he had any advice for future players wanting to play next year, Coach Huffman said, "Practice, practice, practice."

Hard work pays off

The Elwood Panthers Frosh basketball team worked hard the past 1984 season. The team lacked experience, but they seemed to want to learn and they worked hard.

The toughest team the Frosh played was Kokomo, which was their first game. Although the team didn't have a winning season, Coach Williams wasn't disappointed with their performance. "As a group the team was very coachable," said Coach Williams, "They wanted to work and to improve." Their hard work seemed to be paying off as they improved with every game. They won the Tipton Tourney for the first time in many years.

Some advice Coach Williams gave for anyone wanting to play next year is to play all the time and to improve performance. "During the winter you can learn the coaching strategy, but the summer playing is the most important."

We wish the future players good luck next year and hope the team has a winning season.

Spirit takes control

Who's got spirit? If you have it, then let's hear it! School spirit is an essential part of a school. The school spirit reflects the outlook of the student body. Usually when the sports teams are good the school spirit is usually high. If your team wins state in a sports event, then you have a lot to cheer about, but there can be other things around the school that can produce school spirit besides sports. For example, if you have a great band, it gives you reason to have spirit. Usually it is the band at sports events that does carry out spirit with cheerleaders. Small things can produce any amount of spirit. Achievement of the school can produce spirit. It also takes teachers to help school spirit come alive. The teachers this year did do just that by participating on spirit days.

A pep club or cheer block is a great way to get school spirit going. This year we had an alumni cheerblock and it was such a success; they cheered at two games during basketball. Yes, they even had their own Alumni cheerleaders. Yes, we even had Mrs. Yates as a cheerleader out there doing cartwheels and even the splits! The regular cheerleaders threw Panther basketballs at the games to help promote school spirit. Sometimes the cheerleaders would use signs that would help raise the spirit at the games and get the crowds involved. The most important time to get spirit going is when a team is behind and spirit can help them gain the lead once again.

The cheerleaders have a lot to do with promoting school spirit. If your cheerleaders are all spirited up, then there is a great chance that the student body will respond with a better and more positive outlook on spirit. "Decorating lockers helps with the spirit, and it is most important that cheerleaders display spirit by getting people to the games and yelling for the team, by getting the people involved," comments Gina Hoffer, Junior-Varsity cheerleader.

Announcements are usually a big help in promoting school spirit. Usually Polly Panther does an announcement for the sports going on during that week. This year spirit and support for all teams was promoted. Each cheerleader had to take charge of a minor sport and help promote it by doing announcements, putting up posters for the team, doing special things for the team, and by attending that sports event which helped to recognize all minor sports.

She's got spirit! Ms. Zehringer looks all spirited up for spirit day at school. Those sunglasses are just your size Ms. Zehringer! Ms. Zehringer was one of many teachers who participated in spirit days at school.

Is that Raggedy Ann? No, its Susan Jones displaying her school spirit during band. You look really cute Susan!

Kelly looks over the display. Kelly Keene is shown looking at the display that the cheerleaders did during sectional. The displays are one way of getting the spirit raised at ECHS.

Posing for a quick shot! Kim Werline is shown standing in front of a spirit show case dressed for 'Oldies but Goodies' day. Kim is wearing senior cords from years ago.

Both the varsity and junior varsity wrestling teams for 1984-85 had a good season. They were lead by Coach Hughes. The varsity final standings were 5 wins, 8 losses, and 1 tie. The junior varsity had 7 wins, 6 losses. This year there were 4 seniors: Terry Morris, Robert McMullen, Mark Morgan and Markus Naeur.

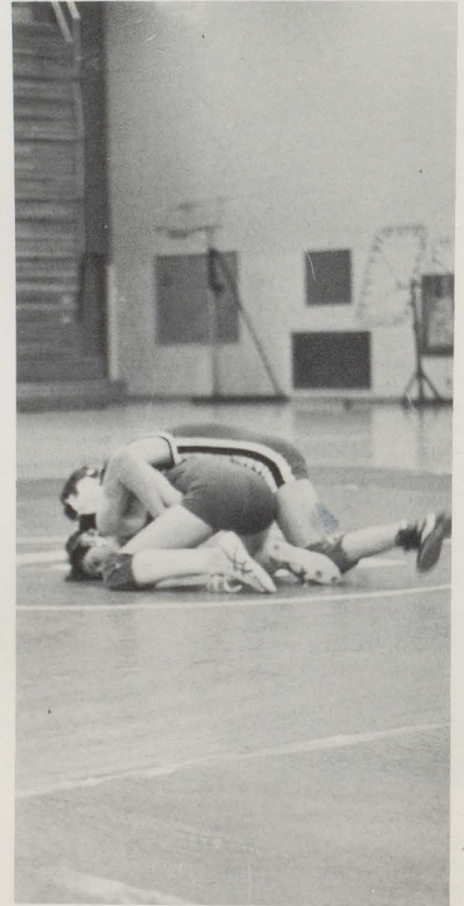

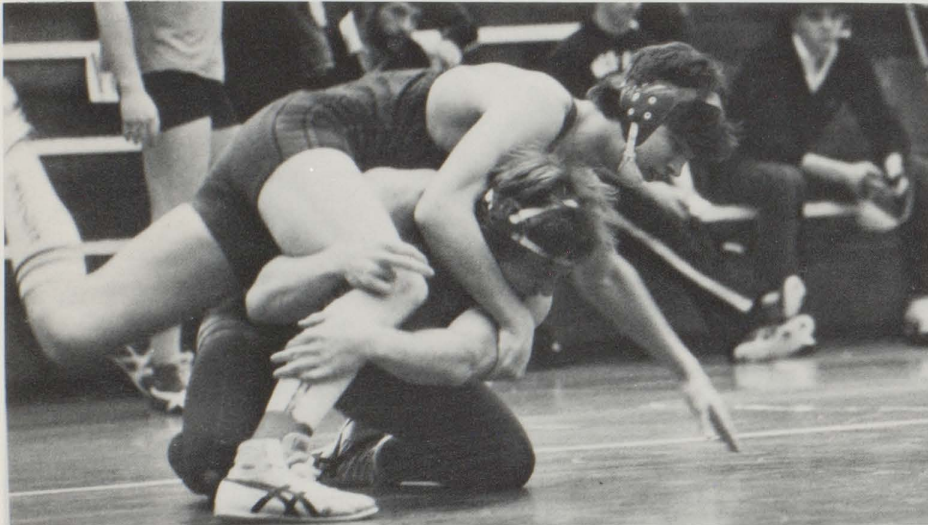

Terry Morris was one of the most valuable assets to the team. He had a 19-4 record for the season at 138 pounds. Terry was also voted most valuable wrestler and he earned the most points. Ending the season on a good note, Terry was named Madison County Champ and Sectional Champ.

Mark Morgan at 177 was named most improved. While Steve Stiner at 98 was the lightest wrestler, Chad Jones at 223 was named heaviest wrestler. Also in the honors was Robert McMullen who placed 5th in the CIC.

Our Panther Wrestling Team proved to be quite strong in the entire sectional. The team placed 2nd at the Frankton sectional this year. Some of the results are: Two champs who were Terry Morris at 138 and Mark Morgan at 177; three runners-up, Steve Stiner at 98, Robert McMullen at 126 and Chad Jones. Also the team went to the county where they placed 5th and in the CIC they placed 5th also.

"We were young this year and the team improved with every meet. The last half of the season we went 4-2-1," quoted Coach Hughes, who seemed to be pleased with the overall season. Also new to the team was a new assistant coach, Ed Frye.

She made it!! Freshman, Veronica York, Strives hard to finish first. The team had a lot of old and new talent that came from the freshmen. This season the girls tried a lot of things that they had never done.

Times broke, records set, and glory found were the main points of the 1985 Elwood Girls Track Team. Senior Christy Pedro broke records in the 100m (time of 12.8), 200 (.27.23), 400m (59.1), 800m (2:35), junior Tammy Burdsall broke the record in shot put with the throw of 25'¼", and senior Val Laster tied her record in the discus with the throw of 102'.

Great improvement was shown by freshman Lisa Knotts and Laurie Mort. The team found Lisa Knotts and Laurie Mort. The team found Tipton as their toughest opponent who ended up winning the C.I.C: in which Elwood placed 7 out of 8. Christy Pedro contributed most to the track events, while in the field it was Val Laster and Tammy Burdsall.

Tammy Burdsall, shot put, and Christy Pedro, 200 and 400m, went to the sectional. The seniors this year are Val Laster, Christy Pedro, Marie Rubino, and Kim Stover, "These girls will be greatly missed next year!" expressed Coach Julie Johnson.

Tell them the way it is! Miss Mindy Runyan, assistant coach, gives the events to the very attentive sophomores Elaine Nickles and Sandy Miller, and senior Kim Stover. Miss Runyan plays a very important part in organizing the team.

Different pace

"If the young men who were out for track this year will become involved with the track program, we can and will make the program better," says Coach Larry Hobbs. The track team found Mississenewa to be the toughest team to run against. Sophomores Brian Ball and Thurman Jones made the most progress during the year.

Senior George Ponder contributed the most to field and track events like the 800m, 400m, 1600m relays, high jump, and pole vault. Four of the tracksters went to sectional, George Ponder for the 800m and high jump, junior Ray Holliday for the 300m low hurdle, sophomore Paul Rice for the 400m and the 200m, and freshman Tony Hoover for high jump.

"I truly feel that an athlete receives more satisfaction from their association with other athletes than one could receive," states Larry Hobbs. Seniors Pat Holliday, Terry Morris, and George Ponder will be greatly missed.

Row 1: S. Daleure, M. Haskett, G. Ponder, J. Beecher, J. Dockery Row 2: C. Hoover, T. Jones, B. Hahn, T. Morris, J. Cleek, R. Holliday, B. Howey, P. Rice Row 3: L. Hobbs (coach), M. Stover, M. Linder, R. Bannister, T. Hoover, D. Vice, M. Conners, P. Holliday, B. Ball, D. Wills (asst. coach).

Look at him go! Paul Rice, sophomore, did the best of his ability. Paul is an outstanding athlete and it showed by his drive and determination.

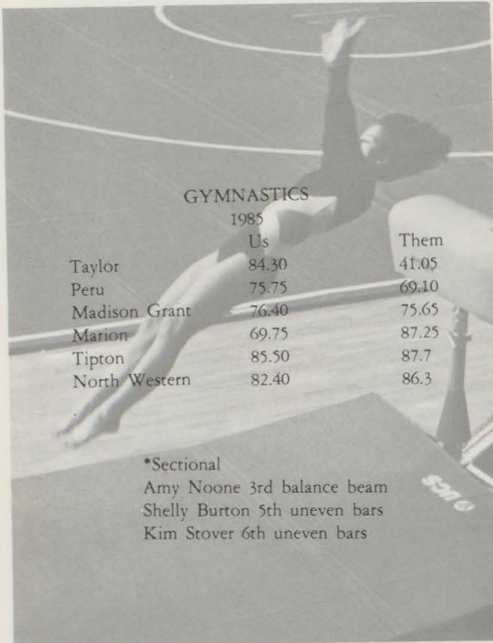

Oomph! Junior Mike Pirto gives it all he has throwing the discus. This Year Mike had some very tough competition just by his teammates, Randy Bannister and David Vice.

Get it up and over, Tony! Freshman, Tony Hoover clears the low hurdle with plenty of room. Tony Hoover was a very special freshman, that is being the only freshman.

 Amy Noone 3rd balance beam
 Shelly Burton 5th uneven bars
 Kim Stover 6th uneven bars

The 1985 Elwood Gymnastics Team had experience from Kim Stover and Shelly Burton on the uneven bars to Renee Hobson on the balance beam. Improvement was shown in freshmen, Jennie DeWitt and Shelly Lawson.

Placing most during the season were Shelly Burton on the uneven bars and Amy Noone on the balance beam. There was a lot of help in each event: Shelly Burton on uneven bars, Annie Cleaver on floor exercise, Amy Noone on balance beam, and Kim Stover on vault. Mrs. Yates explained, "Yes, Amy Noone and Shelly Lason helped a lot, but a number of girls' experience helped a lot this year." At the sectional Amy Noone placed third on the balance beam, Shelly Burton placed fifth and Kim Stover placed sixth on the uneven bars.

Kim Stover, Renee Hobson, Shelly Burton, and Shelly Peel are the seniors that will be greatly missed next year.

She's up and over! Junior Annie Cleaver tries for a perfect score on the very difficult vault. Annie had a good year, hopefully she will return next year and do even better.

Trying something new and exciting, is what the E.C.H.S. Girls Tennis Team had to do. This year, 1985 was the first time Elwood has ever had a girls tennis team separate from the boys. Mr. Hoppel was the head coach and Mr. Pearson was the assistant coach.

Angie Morrow and Beth Murphy were the most improved junior varsity players while on the varsity scene, Crista Allen improved the most.

Lisa Stover, senior, had the most points of the season, and Julie Romig, freshman had the second highest points. The school athletic department hopes to continue with having a girls tennis team for a long time. The girls wore red shirts with buttons reading, "I think I can!"

Seniors Lisa Barr, Lisa Hubble, and Lisa Stover will be missed next season.

Starting off the season winning 4 out of 6 ballgames, the Mighty Panther baseball team never had the season that was hoped for then. "It was a very disappointing season," commented Coach Bomholt, "we never put everything together as a team, especially on defense and pitching."

Despite the disappointing season, the Panthers did have some fine players. This year the team had several good hitters. Those hitters were, Bret Jones, Scott Higgins, Scott Hughes, John Kleyla, Mark Back, Larry Gibson, and Ray Holliday. Todd Bragg was noted for being the head force on the pitching staff, while Larry Gibson did a fine job also. Tony Hoover and David Tunnel, both freshman, came in at times to pitch for the Panthers.

This years seniors on the team were Todd Bragg, Andy Harvill, Scott Hughes, Scott Higgins, John Kleyla, Bret Jones, and Rich Robertson.

This year's Junior Varsity team had a lot of young players. Most of the team consisted of freshman. The Junior Varsity only played five games this season, but did not succeed in winning any. Yet, the team did lose by a small fraction and the big highlight of the year was when they almost beat Blackford, who was 12-1 for the season. Blackford only won by one run.

The experience that the boys gained from this year will be helpful for the varsity level. The junior varsity team never quit and always tried their best to have a winning season. It doesn't matter if you win or lose, it's how you play the game, and these boys certainly played the game well. Coach Williams, junior varsity coach, feels that next year several of the guys will be able to contribute to the varsity team.

Change of pace

The Crescent Staff looks back on this past year with pride. It has been filled with challenges and new horizons. Lori Smith, our new advisor, and many new faces on the staff have joined with returning staff members in a united effort to make this book represent our memories for 1984-85.

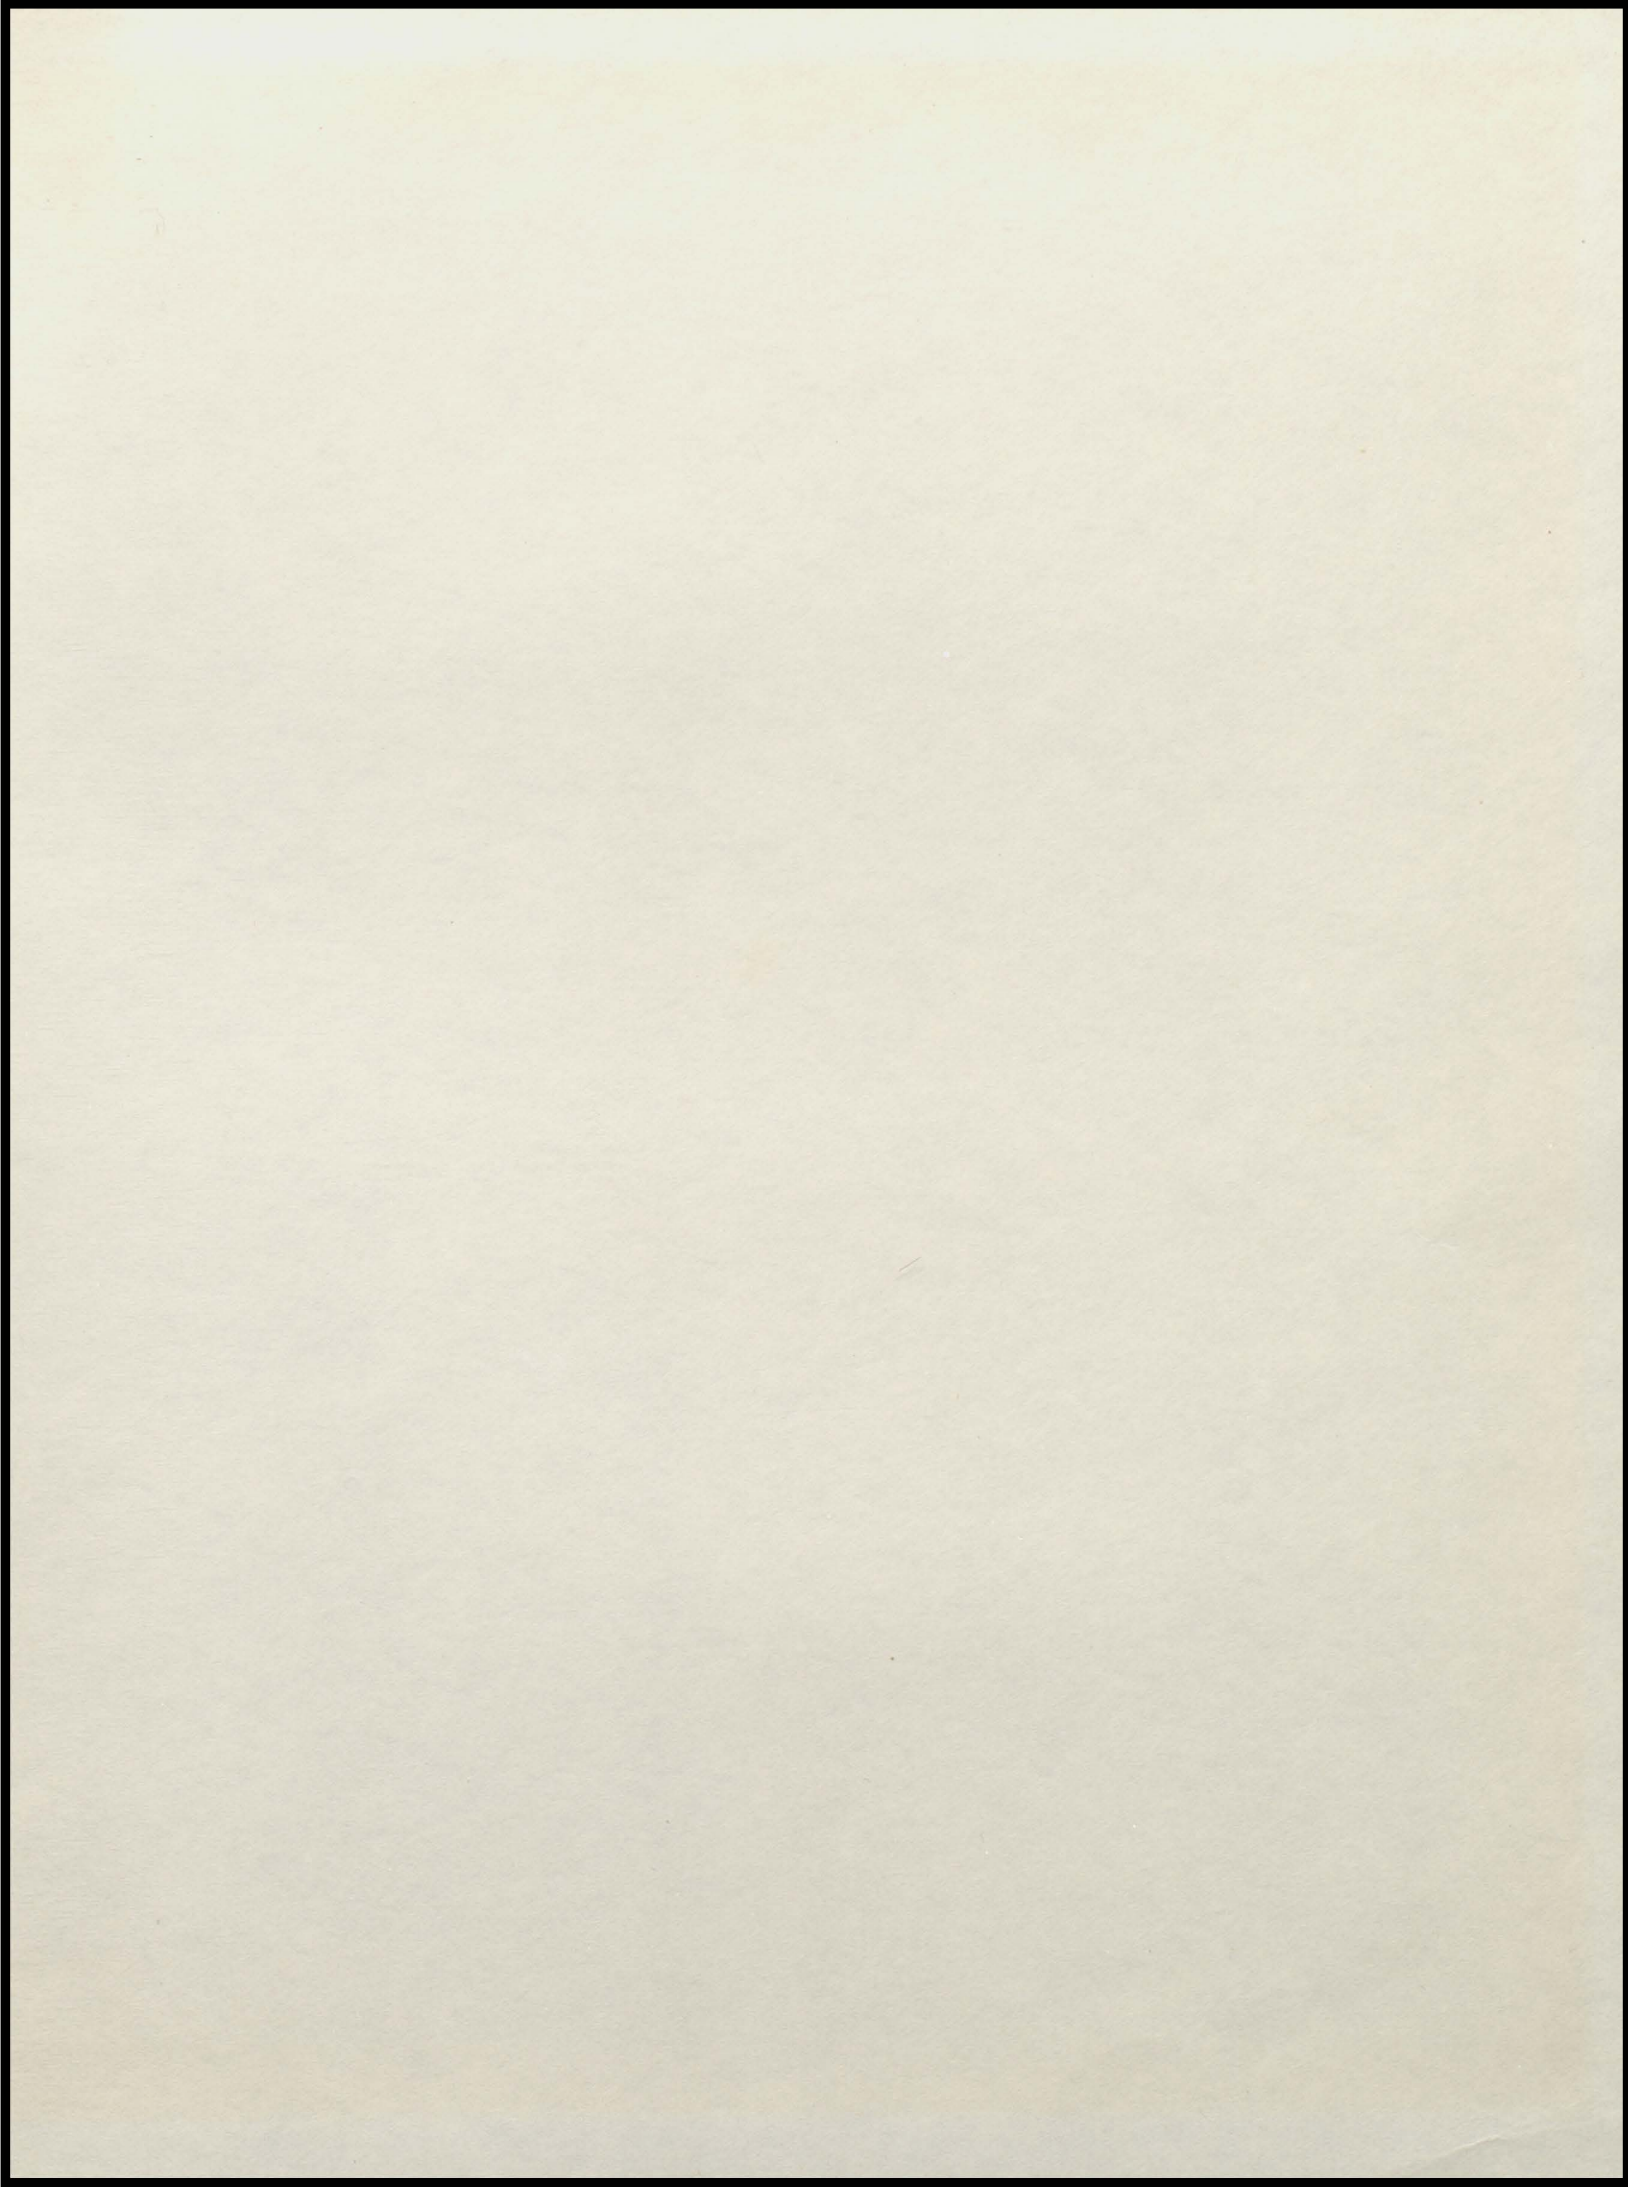

We appreciate and wish to thank the community cooperation of school and business for the support we needed to carry out this task. Our deadlines are met, but the future is a little more secure with the opportunities and experiences of this, another year of education behind us. We express our gratitude to all concerned and hope this yearbook is as special to you as it is to us.
