Students show how their spirit for the basketball game connects them like a puzzle. The larger the puzzle the more spectacular the picture becomes.

*P*eter Bales "pieces together" his notecards for English. For him, these note cards represent an important piece for the assembly of his term paper.

*P*iece by piece, Chris Bentley puts together a puzzle in the library. The challenge of doing anything, as Chris knows, is getting things to come together.

Piecing It Together

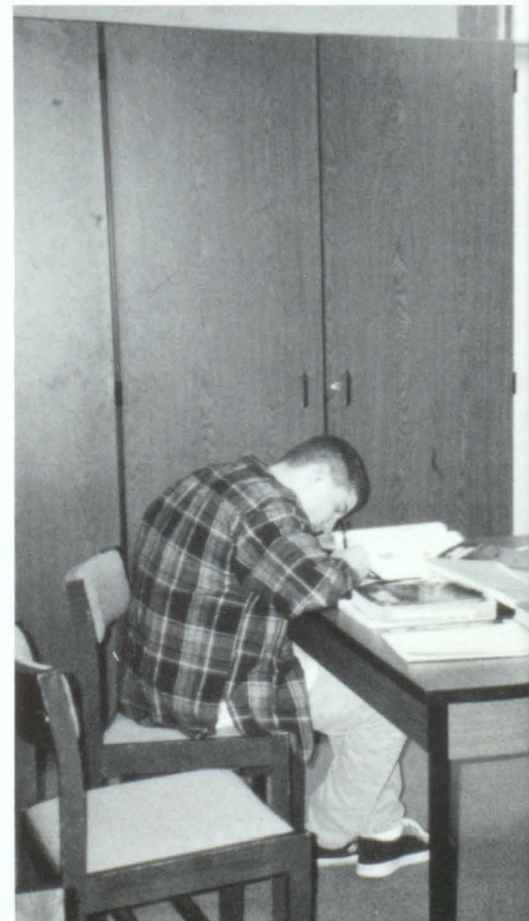

Frankton Jr./Sr. High is a huge puzzle that everyone is working to put together. Every part of our school is a part of the puzzle and when everyone works together the pieces fit right into place. The members of the guard and the instructors had to pull together to achieve their big piece of the puzzle, a State Championship. Also the Seniors with their goal to achieve their diplomas, which is not only a final piece, but the beginning of a new puzzle. Only with everyone working together will we achieve that one piece of the puzzle and without that one piece the puzzle will never be complete

*J*eff Hawk tries to experience how a homeless person lives everyday by living in a cardboard box for 10 to 15 minutes. Other students from Mrs. Bays English class volunteered their time at the Wheeler Mission...

*B*racken Steele, Angie Doughty, and Pete Graham study Geography together in the library. Many students go to the library during their study time to do homework or other research.

Student Life

Student involvement is very important to our school. Without students and their activities school would be even more boring than usual. There would be no more Friday night basketball games and no more dances to get crazy at. Students would not be able to be involved in clubs or any social activities to make new friends.

Activities often build a good character and make responsible students. All the activities that students are involved with help to keep them out of trouble and give them something to do. Activities also help to broaden students' minds.

It is important for students to have these kind of social opportunities now, because later on in life they may not have these chances to get involved.

Besides learning the everyday schoolwork, students need to learn how to work with others in a social environment. These skills will follow students for the rest of their adult lives

Queen, Casey Sizelove and King, Nathan Juroff were crowned at the Coronation Dance. The crowning is the kick-off for Homecoming week.

Battles

Among

Friends

Homecoming started out with a new twist this year. The annual powder puff game where the junior girls play the senior girls was initially cancelled. After a little protesting and a few rule changes powder puff was rescheduled only to be cancelled again due to bad weather. It was finally played on Friday after the homecoming games. Neither the juniors nor the seniors found time to score because of the shortened time limit.

Homecoming candidates were Casey Sizelove, Mandy Surber, Lesley Benefiel, Caryn Watson, and Kacy Garman for Queen. King candidates were Cody Kendall, Nathan Juroff, Mike Maryan, Clint Parsons, and Clint Hall. Casey Sizelove and Nathan Juroff were crowned Queen and King at the coronation dance.

Homecoming dress-up days included farmer day, totally 80's, clash day, hat, sunglasses, and boxer day, and of course red and white day. Juniors were victorious at the homecoming games. The sophomores won the class float contest in the annual homecoming parade. Homecoming ended successfully with a win at the football game against Wes-Del. After the game students and last year's seniors attended the annual yearbook dance ●

Friends

Are

Forever

A friend is defined in Webster's Dictionary as a person attached to another by affection or regard. This can be a person that you hang around with or someone you just simply talk to.

"Friends" is not only a popular T.V. show it is also an important part of your youth. Friends can help you to develop many social skills and become a well-rounded individual.

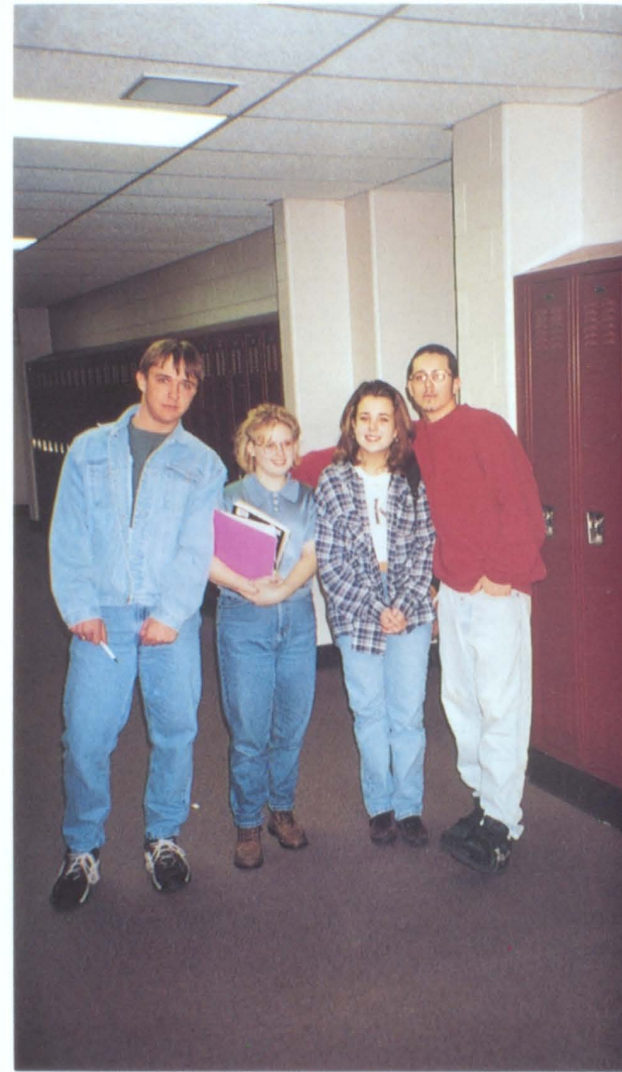

It is extremely important for everyone to have friends in their lives. Without friends life would be a little boring and awful lonely.

Friends help you cope with your troubles and pull you through in times of sadness and depression.

You will always remember the good friendships that you had in high school even if you no longer see them.

What's

Style

Style can be an important part of high school. It can show which "crowd" you hang out with or who your friends are simply by what you wear. Sometimes your style can even classify you in a certain "clique".

Style can be anything from what your wear to how you present yourself.

You can acquire a "preppy look" by wearing neat clothes with dockers and sweaters.

An "alternative look" can be obtained by wearing anything that seems unusual.

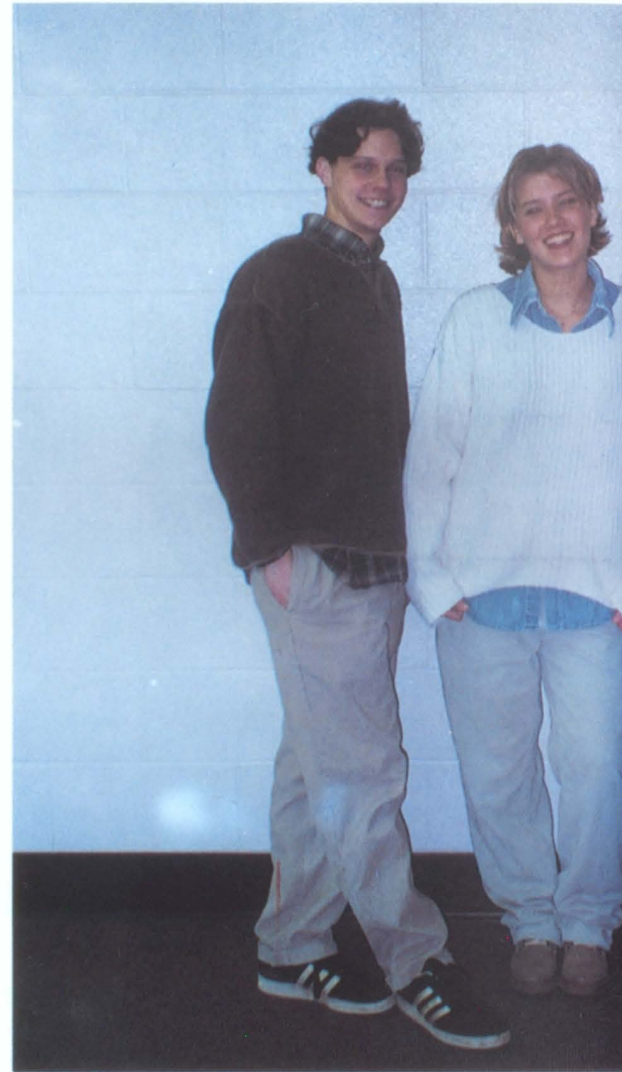

Some prefer the "bum-out look" with baggy clothes and untucked shirts.

Many people don't like to be classified and wear a variety of all of these different looks.

At Frankton, style is mainly up to your individual tastes and what is comfortable to you

The prep look, plaid shirts, sweaters, and dockers or courderoys are always in good taste.

As far as style here at Franton Jr/ Sr High School, ANYTHING GOES!

Bits and Pieces

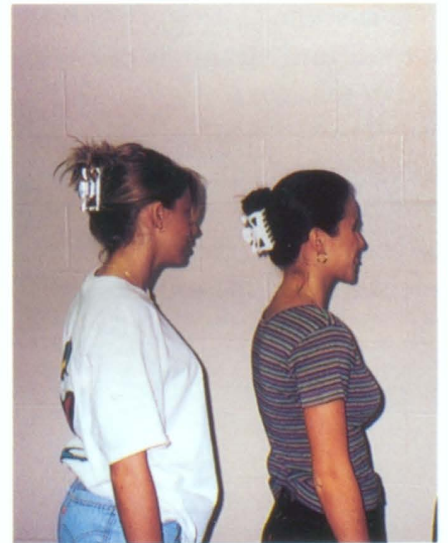

Name: Tiffany Zion
Grade: 11

Quote: Was it worth the pain to get your ears pierced that many times to be in style?

Yes, Definitely!

Hiphugger jeans with either a short shirt or a shiny shirt are extremely popular this year.

The more unusual the better the shoes are here at Frankton High school.

Whether you're bumming out or dressing up, the hair claw can complete any ensemble.

Hot

Or

Cold

From one extreme to another. That's the conditions we faced this year. When students returned from summer vacation they were faced with extremely hot days with not a lot of air conditioning. To cope with the weather, we came up with a heat schedule that consisted of all classes, but with shortened periods. Students were released every day at 12:50 for two weeks. Although students were released early, teachers were not all that lucky. They stayed and toughed out the warm weather.

After the heat came the snow. It started with a one day early winter break release and all the people that wished for a white Christmas were over compensated. On the third of January we were supposed to return from winter break, but we were forced to wait until Friday January fifth to return on a two hour delay. After a snowy weekend we were out three more days, delaying us to January eleventh only to be released at 12:50. Due to the snowfall on Thursday, we missed yet another day.

With all the snow behind us, we started planning how to make up the missed days. After many suggestions, they decided to use a teacher's records day and President's Day as two of the make-up days. The third day will have to be made up at the end of the school year ●

Students had to drive carefully on the snow covered parking lot.

Friday

Night

Fever

Frankton High School held around eight dances this year. They all were run by RMDJ with the exception of one or two.

In the last two years, the dances have had a prejudice against them due to the blinding light emitted from the weightroom. The majority complain that the lighted environment causes a general paranoia, but the administration insists that the fire marshall would have it no other way. Maybe the student body should invite the marshall over, and while dancing, stare at him. Despite the light, the dances seem to still win some affection. The turnouts did not significantly decrease and I'm sure some people wouldn't mind other people watching.

When asked about dances, Scott Epperly said that, "They are okay if you D.J. them." Debbie O'Neil, a Frankton employee, said, "I think that dances are a good social experience for our students. They provide an outlet from the norm to express themselves and relieve stress. They have always been under control due to the unparalleled maturity of the students." Melissa Jones also slipped in a comment, "They are okay if enough people show up wearing black to absorb the light."

Maybe dances aren't all that bad. I guess. They don't seem to be as fun as what we see on television, but that is okay. They do provide a healthy and clean form of recreation for the occupants. ●

Quote: Do you think dances are an important part of high school.

Yes because you can be with your friends and have fun.

Clint Hall and his date Jenny Waymire dance the night away at the sweetheart dance.

Showing

Off

Talent

Variety show '96 was a great success. On Friday, May 17, at seven o'clock, Frankton students came together to showcase their talents and unique abilities.

All of the acts were well received. Tiffany Anderson and Daniel Riley made the evening an interesting one as the co-hosts of the show.

Some of the acts included a performance by the Frankton guard to the Jurassic Park theme music. A brass trio played by Peter Bales, Kurt Cooper, and Mark Harting that was arranged by Peter. April Singer and Cyndee Myer played a flute duet of the theme song to Forrest Gump.

Many students showed off their voices such as Tawny Couch singing the song "Friends" as a tribute to Caryn Watson.

Mike Lawson and Jessica Hahn sang a duet of "Anything You Can Do I Can Do Better". Both the jr. high show choir and the high school show choir gave the crowd a taste of their talents.

All in all the night was a chance for students to take some pride in their many talents as well as show them off ●

Off To The Capitol

The eighth grade took a trip to Washington D.C. this year for the fourth consecutive time. Students always enjoy all the sight seeing and fun and exciting places they visit.

They stayed at the National 4-H Center. The first day they visited the Georgetown Shopping Mall. After a long, tiring day of shopping the students returned to the 4-H center to get a good night sleep.

The next day was a busy one. The FBI building did not go quite as planned. There was a three hour wait so they decided to go to Ford's Theatre and to the Petersen House instead. Some students enjoyed dining at the Hard Rock Cafe after visiting these places.

One of the more exciting places they went to was the Capitol Building. Students enjoyed hearing how the government was run and they received a better understanding of it. They also enjoyed hearing the overwhelming ghost stories of famous historical people.

They went to Union Station and ate lunch and then took a subway to the Smithsonian Institute. They ate at Toby's Dinner Theatre and saw "My Fair Lady".

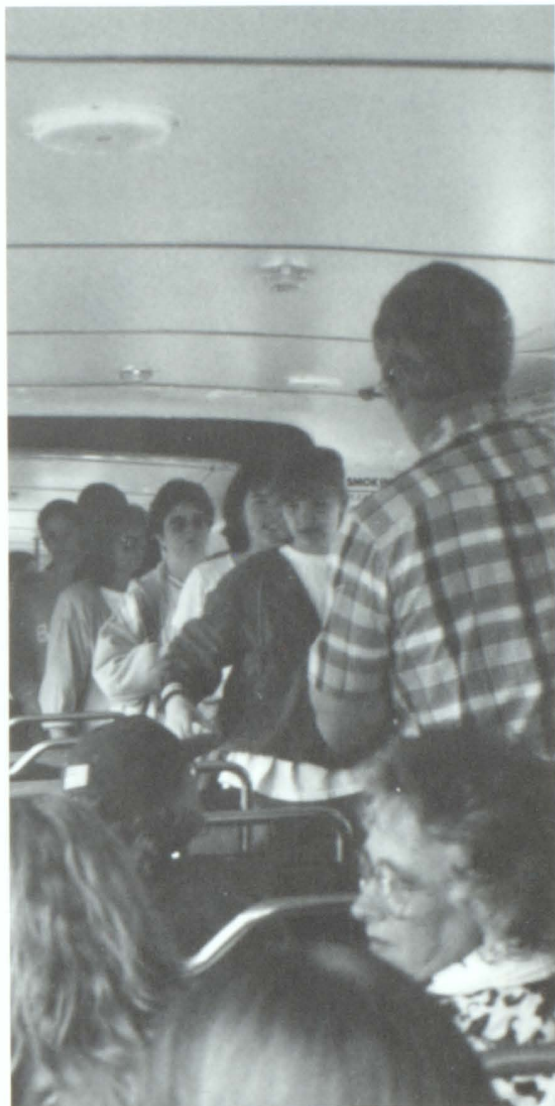

To finish off their trip they visited Arlington cemetery, took a small tour of Gettysburg, and got their picture taken outside the White House after walking through the park.

The Washington D.C. trip was a fun and eventful trip. The students learned a lot from all of the places they visited and the people they met.

Breaking

for

Spring

The day after winter break when everyone returns to school there is only one thing on all students' minds. How many days until spring break! We looked it up and the calculation is about 60 days of grueling schoolwork until time to party on spring break.

The next question is where is everyone going? The most popular answer is the sunny state of Florida. Midwest students often go to Panama to meet people from practically all over the United States. The Midwest being the most popular beach goes on break.

Some people however, are not so lucky to lay on a beach all week. This year the baseball team "tried" to play ball in Evansville, Indiana. On the trip down to Evansville weather cancelled them only to return them to Frankton, Indiana for their spring break.

The Sapphire Silhouettes had better luck though. They were able to travel all the way to Nashville, Tennessee and were able to give an outstanding performance.

For all the rest of the students, some people went to various other states or visited relatives. Some even beared their spring break here in Frankton, Indiana trying to deal with the weather and living up the one glorious day of sun that Indiana was blessed with during the week of break.

Now when students returned from spring break the next question is...How many days until we're outta here ●

What A

Wonderful

Night

Prom turned out to be a "Wonderful Night" with the rain holding out as prom goers entered the school with many spectators watching.

Students entered the gym through a tunnel of stars only to find a star-filled sky waiting for them. The tables and walls were covered with suns, moons, and stars with white lights to give off a romantic glow. Students danced on the many clouded levels under the spinning disco ball. RMDJ helped to play a selection of prom music on this evening.

The magical night continued as students were seated to await the crowning of the king and queen of the prom. King candidates were Joey Barr, Jason Rodewald, Jason Copeland, Jared Cress, and Josh Brashear. The queen hopefuls were Mindy Hobbs, Wendy Clevenger, Elizabeth Wright, Jill Bouslog, Kelly Harrison. Queen, Wendy Clevenger and King, Joey Barr shared the spotlight dance to the theme song "Wonderful Tonight" by Eric Clapton.

The night was ended with the theme song playing a second time for all prom goers to have a chance to have one last dance ●

Roll

After all of the glitz and glamour of Prom, students enjoy unwinding and being themselves at post prom. Whether it was beating up their dates or their best friend in the boxing ring or jousting game or getting married by Elvis, post prom is always a blast for the students.

There were many fun and exciting things to do this year. Along with the previously mentioned games there were many more. You could test out your fast ball at the gunned baseball throw or race a friend on a tricycle. If that wasn't enough you could put on a velcro suit and jump onto a wall and stick to it. Also there was an air jumping mattress and a maze.

Along with the games there was a lot of food, treats, and drinks for the students to enjoy.

If you didn't want to participate in the games you could just sit back and watch the teachers and faculty make a fool of themselves performing on stage

Goodbye

To The

Class Of 1996

Every year Frankton says goodbye to another class of graduating seniors. This year the class of 1996 was a small one, but that didn't stop people from coming. The gym was still filled with parents, students, friends, and relatives who were all there to see the seniors during their shining moment.

The evening began a little differently with a video that offered highlights of the whole 1995-96 school year. The video was a fast-paced video with lots of flashing pictures and quotes from students. Seniors had the chance to purchase the video after graduation.

Kacy Garman, the 3rd ranked senior, opened graduation with thanks and a few thoughts before turning the floor over to the choir.

Jessica Hahn, the class president, shared her thoughts on friends in her speech.

Peter Bales, salutatorian, and Clint Parsons, valedictorian, both gave very inspiring speeches.

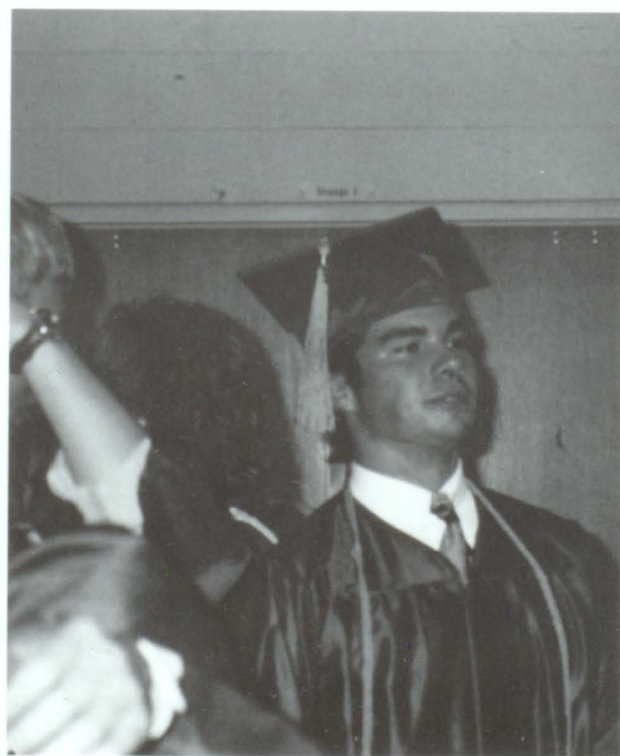

Brian Ice, the 4th ranked senior, closed out the evening with his comments.

As the seniors filed out of the gym two by two one might stop and realize that although these students are saying goodbye to old memories and old friends a new beginning is awaiting them.

Graduation is a great accomplishment and the class of 1996 will never be forgotten

People

Piece by piece people are the foundation of this school. Without them, this building is only a lifeless shell. But at 7:50 every morning (unless it snows) people flow into the school like blood in a body. Each performing their own task, their own function.

The center piece to this grand puzzle called FVSHS is the students. Without them there would be a huge hole in the middle of the puzzle and the picture would be incomplete. Supporting the middle are the teachers we have at the school, Mr. Warner, Mr. Boles, and everyone else who makes this ship run smoothly.

640 is an odd number of pieces for any puzzle. But it's those 640 students who make the heart of this school and portray a picture that is as breathtaking as the sun setting on Pipe Creek. Even though the picture changes from year to year. The foundation remains rock hard

Eric Goodpaster

Do you think that it is better to attend a small school rather than a big school?"

Q- What are your plans after High School?

A- "I am going to the Army Reserves and then I am going to college to major in Criminal Justice." -Leisa Eden

Special Anyway You Spell it

The word unique is, well, unique. The word lives up to one of it's meanings, it is one of a kind. The word "unique" and the Class of 1996 fit together like a square peg in a round hole. Because when you get down to it, there is nothing extraordinary about the Class of '96.

Ask ten individuals what is their opinion of the class of 1996, and nine of those people will have this typical response, "They're so nice and quiet, they never do anything wrong, they are much better than last year's class." The other one will say that we are the cause for all pollution and will lead the world to it's death. At least that response was not in the majority.

The best way to describe the senior class is probably through the word unique. Within those six letters are the fabric to the Class of '96's being, their personality as a whole. The explanation as to what the class is made up of.

So here it goes, the guide for the ordinary, average, guy to figure out what the heck is so unique about the senior class.

U- is for our uneventful nature, in a year full of let's just say "damaging incidents" to the school, the class of '96 has remained out of the picture. Or better yet, they haven't been caught.

N- is for nervousness, this is a newly acquired trait. By the time this story is read, over a hundred seniors will be at the beginning of a bold, new, journey. Indecision and panic will become common place. So, slowly but surely, butterflies are breaking out of their cocoons and beginning to explore the stomachs of most seniors.

I- is for inauspicious, as mentioned in a previous paragraph, hardly a discouraging word (and the skies are not.....) about this year's senior class. Yes, they have had blemishes and spots on their record, but most of those have been wiped away. But as a whole the thought of this class mostly brings smiles.

Q- is for quirky, at a glance one can tell the similarities between students in the 9th, 10th, and 11th grades. But the seniors are different, they're like a whole bunch of colors mooshed into one large glob. The personalities within the senior class just seem to bounce and collide into each other. For the most part the senior's distinct nature shines the spotlight on them much more.

U- is for being unusually lucky, some how the Class of '96 have either come into or are leaving certain situations. As freshmen they came in and won a sectional title in football and have become the only team to defeat Scecina. As juniors Mr. Davis became atheltic director so we did not have to take his version of U.S. History. Thus making us Mr. Fallis' first class at the school. Next year everyone else gets to experience the "BLOCK SCHEDULE", the seniors conveniently will be gone. Pretty lucky, huh.

E- is for easygoing, stress enters all our lives at some point, but a good portion of the time (except for in Trig) life seems easy. The attitudes exhibited by seniors gives a person the feel that in a world of worries, the seniors are floating on clouds.

That's all folks. You are now in tune as to how and why the Class of '96 is as unique as they are.

So when you're older and your grandkids ask how the Class of '96 is unique, and you know they will. Sit them on your lap and say, "Well youg'un, the Class of 1996, was an uneventful, nervous, inauspicious, quirky, unusually lucky, easygoing, bunch of kids.

Then send them off to get some lemonade or water (or whatever they drink in the year 2037) and remember the class of '96 with a large, pleasant smile ☺

Senior Advice to Underclassmen

- See the world while you're young, so your parents can pay for it. -Thomas Pedersen.
- Try to be friends with the biggest people so they can protect you. -Steve Humphries.
- Don't rush your life. Just let time take control. -Carrie Phipps.
- Live it up while you're in high school before you have to be responsible. -Melissa Jones.
- DO YOUR EBS!!!! -Jessica Reeder.
- Have fun while you can it goes by quick. -Heather Eddy.
- Stay away from the Chad Clevengers in the world. -Joni Benefiel
- Drink lots of natural water, and for God's sake, avoid bottled water at all costs! -Marc Henderson
- Freshmen, never mouth off to a senior. Juniors beware of senior English! -Shaun Hinton
- Be yourself as long as you are not a freshman. -Doug Gassner
- Don't wear socks in the rain. -Cody Kendall
- Make sure you get accepted to college before you party your senior year away. -Carole Robinette
- Don't drop out your last semester of your senior year. -Rachel Simmons
- Don't slack off and study hard. -Amy Closser
- Never throw things while eating in the school cafeteria. -Mandy Surber
- Don't wait till the last minute to work on Government and English projects. -Megan Ead
- Cross your legs and always be a lady- Adonica Paschal
- Stay away from guard girls, they drag you into their program- Justin Shirley
- If you can't decide between homework and television, do homework. If you have to choose between hurting someone or praising someone, praise them. If you have to make the choice of sex or abstinence, abstain.
- Don't eat yellow snow. Don't throw your life away. Do something for the less fortunate. Are you worried about money? Charge it. Are you worried about your career? Don't be. It doesn't matter what you end up as, as long as you have a positive attitude and strive for the top. -Sterling Grubbs.
- Always remember to laugh at Mrs. Mills jokes!!! -The Class of '96.

Piecing Prom Together

The juniors began this year with high hopes and big expectations. Homecoming games were a success, juniors got first place. Almost immediately as school started, prom plans started also. Prom meetings took place in the morning to get everything picked out. The annual prom magazine sales, with the help of a few extended days met the desired amount. Prom arrived in no time at all. Wonderful Tonight was the prom theme and it was indeed wonderful. Junior Sarah Wright commented that "prom was a blast, but went too fast, I had a lot of fun dancing with all my friends." So overall the juniors had a great year, and they are ready to be SENIORS!

Describe the way you felt when you walked into prom?

"Excited to see how it worked out." - Christian Peterson!

"I was really excited, I knew it was going to be a blast and I couldn't wait to get in there and have the time of my life. Walking in made me feel like a star." -

Loranda Cunningham!

"A little nervous, I didn't know what to expect." -

Sophomores can sometimes be forgotten about in the confusion of all the activities. But this year the sophomores made sure everyone knew about their presence.

They participated in many class functions:

- Sponsoring a school dance after the boys varsity basketball game with Hamilton Heights.
- The annual class party at the YMCA with swimming, Wallyball, snacks, basketball and ping pong.
- A free car wash at Rally's in Anderson on a rainy May day that finally cleared and they raised over $150.00.
- Winning this year's homecoming float contest with their recreation of a steam engine and the theme: "We think we can, sophomores know they can".

This class seems to know what they want and how to get it ●

What are your fears about becoming an upperclassman?

"Not making good grades." - Autumn Burris!

"I probably won't have any!" - Brian Culbertson!

"Getting closer to having to go to college." - Ross Miller!

Kelin Flanders and Rick Kennedy do a lab in chemistry.

These sophomores study hard to keep up in their Spanish class.

Cale Sizelove and Cam Remington work on pneumatics in tech systems.

James Clark, Kari Brummett, Lynn Graham, and Vanessa Coffey all give a big smile.

Do you think students are involved enough?

“No. As I watch the students at this highschool I see them pathetically fail to see the significance that highschool plays on our short lives.” - James Clark!

“Some students are.” - Amanda Wright!

“Yes. Sure.” - Seth Pearson!

Almost everyone looks forward to their freshmen year of highschool. Changing from Jr. highschool can be a big change. New teachers, new hallways, new faces, and new experiences. It can be difficult though, going from the top of the ladder as eighth graders all the way back down to the bottom as freshmen.

Then two more years of waiting before becoming upperclassmen! This year the freshmen class has been very unique. It is one of the biggest classes ever. There were 137 students compared to other classes that averaged about 110 students.

Responsibilities were taken on by the class officers. These were Nathan Cress, President, Alison Guthrie, Vice President, Mindy Alexander, Secretary, and Natalie Hendricks, Treasurer ●

What was your biggest fear about going to highschool?

“That the older kids would pick on me” - Christopher Dale '99

“The new teachers” - Christina Hosier '99

“Getting beat-up everyday by my brother” Mike McDonald'99

Andy Shively and Greg Boston show how happy they are to be freshman.

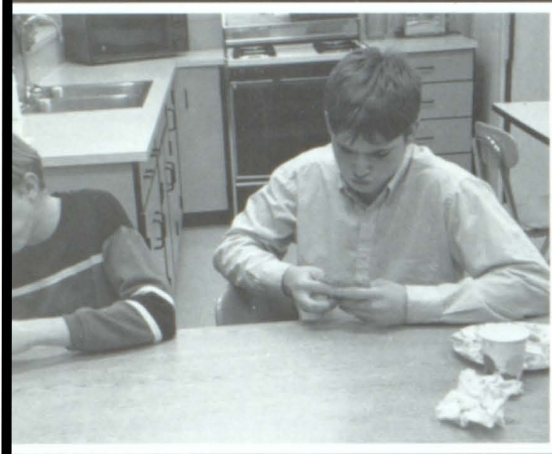

Brian Dubuque, Scott Brandon, and Matt Ramey appear to have fun at a tennis game.

What's makes high school better than jr. high?

Phillip Moore and Willaim Murray play cards at a class party.

Freshman students take time off from some hard work to relax and talk.

“Now you get to hang out with the big kids.”

Latisha Butts!

“You get more recognition, the girls are better looking, and it's more fun!”

Sammy Jiminez!

“You're not with the bratty 7th graders anymore, people are more mature.”

There is only one thing worse than senioritis and that is eighth gradeitis. Seniors are now having the option to leave school forever. Unfortunately, the eighth graders aren't as lucky. The only thing they have to look forward to is four more years of good meals at Frankton. Even though a long four years is still down the road, it's not all that bad. Think positive: it's not any different than a four-year enlistment with the armed forces.

Realistically, high school is an awesome experience but can be a little hard to accept the first year especially to people who are really talented in Jr. High but are lost in the crowd of upperclassmen. But hey, don't sweat it two more years of watching seven hours of television a day and suddenly you are all upperclassmen being reprimanded for peeling out of the parking lot.

The class of 1996 would like to wish you success and happiness...by the way, do yourself a favor and make a name for your class, after all a class needs identity to survive 🎯

Are you scared about high school ?

Seventh grade, coming to a bigger school, making new friends, being in the same building as the high school. Sounds pretty exciting.

This year the seventh grade class did many activities. They had a fun and games activities night, where they played badmitten, volleyball, basketball, watched movies, and ate candy, popcorn, and drank pop. The money they raised went towards a memorial tree and plaque which they dedicated in memory of Mrs. Jones.

While on a trip to the Scottish Rights Cathedral, they studied architecture.

In their Flight groups each group represented a different country. Displays, pictures and stories were put up describing their countries. A food fest where they each made different foods represented their country.

Other activities they did included a music appreciation day. They had music, games and sold cokes. EBS field trips were also taken. The first one was to Discovery Zone, and the second one was to the Indianapolis Zoo.

What was your biggest fear about seventh grade ?

“The ninth grade boys.” - Emily Richie!

“Trying to get to class on time and having to move to different classrooms.” - Lindsay Dollar!

“Not getting along with people and getting bullied around by the eighth graders.” - Victoria Davis!

Free Time Varies For Teachers

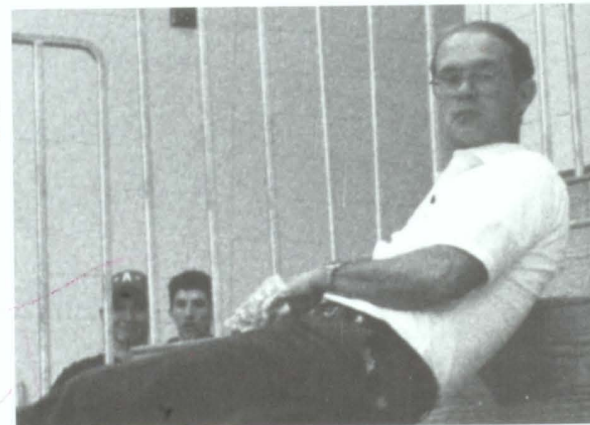

What do teachers do with their free time? Many replied that they spend time with their family and friends. Mrs. Mills said, that she enjoys riding horses, reading, sewing, and cooking for her family. Mr. Cress said, "I like getting away and going fishing." Some teachers like going on the town and listening to some good music, like Miss Ream.

But Mr. Ritz said, that when, he has a longer period of time he likes taking a nice vacation with his family. His last vacation was to Washington D.C. Some of the time that teachers have is spent preparing for tests and grading homework. Extra time that is spent at school averages about 2 to 3 hours.

Some teachers don't have a lot of time because they coach. You must have a lot of extra time to coach. Coaching and teaching means that you're here the greatest part of your day.

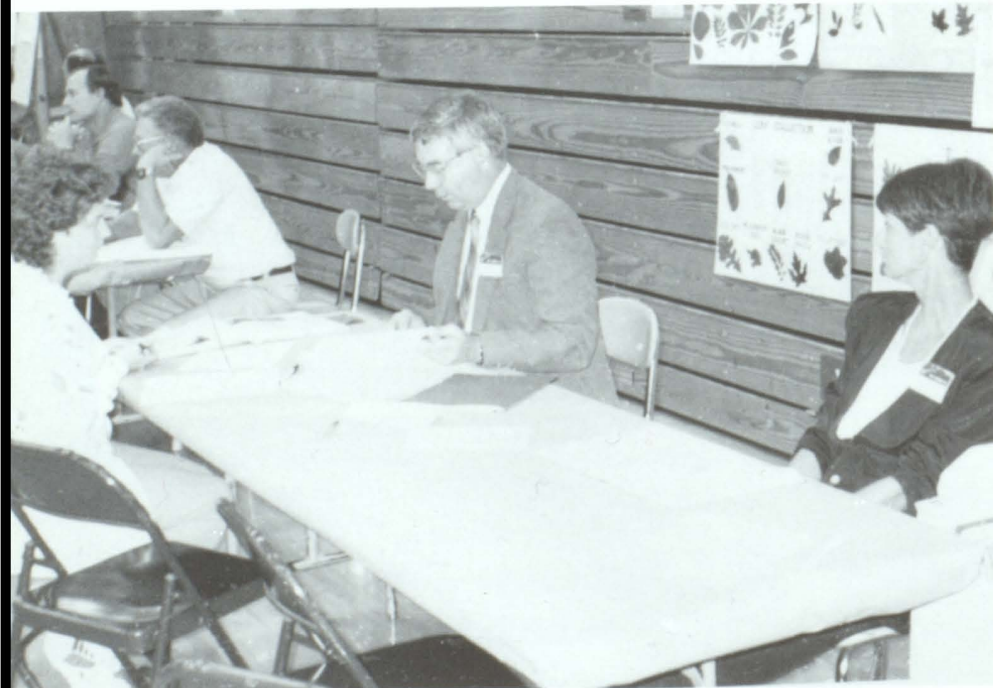

Most nights, during their season, teachers/coaches are at school until six or later if they have a meet, game or match, or if they have to wait for a practice slot in the gyms

Q: How do you feel about your last year of teaching?

A: I had a great year! I have enjoyed the students and the faculty and I will greatly miss seeing them regularly.

Q: Do you think you will ever return to teaching?

A: I'm not sure what is in store for my future. I am open to God's will for my life and I know that I will continue to work with people in some capacity! I am interested in pursuing a counseling degree.

Q: How has teaching affected your life?

A: I think teaching has prepared me to be a better parent and to assist my husband as he works with teenagers. Teaching has taught me a lot about myself and about working with teenagers.

Three New Faces

This year Frankton Jr./ Sr. High added three new faces to the teaching staff.

James Morehead was our new typing and business teacher. He was educated at Alexandria High School and then went to college at Ball State University.

He was a student teacher at Frankton four years ago before moving on.

Morehead taught two years at LaCross. He says it is great to be here and he is happy to be a regular teacher.

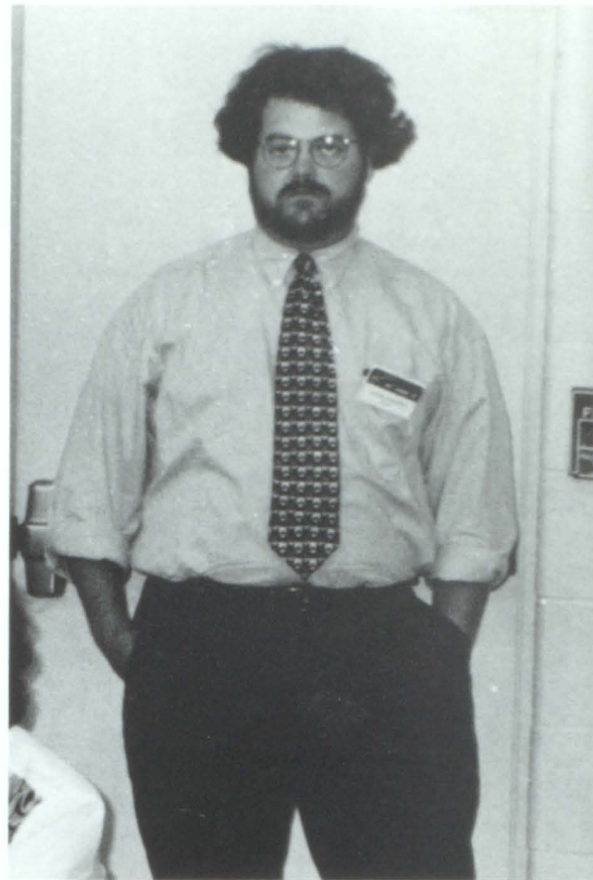

Jane Ream is the new Jr. High English teacher. She replaced Mrs. Muse who retired last year. She is from Bloomington and attended college at Indiana University.

Ream majored in education and minored in psychology. This is her first teaching job and she feels very welcomed by her students.

Bobbi Seager is our third new teacher, however she taught at the end of the last school year as a replacement for Mrs. Jones.

Seager is originally from Altoona, Pennsylvania. She attended Ball State University majoring in health. She had been teaching in New York for three years.

NOTE: Dyan Bays began a pregnancy leave on April 12 and Tamara Pressley replaced her starting April 15, 1996.

Mr. Harting relaxes while at parent/teacher conferences.

Mr. Canaday thinks real hard while grading papers in study hall.

Q: Do you enjoy teaching at Frankton High School?

A: I enjoy teaching here very much. The students are really good kids.

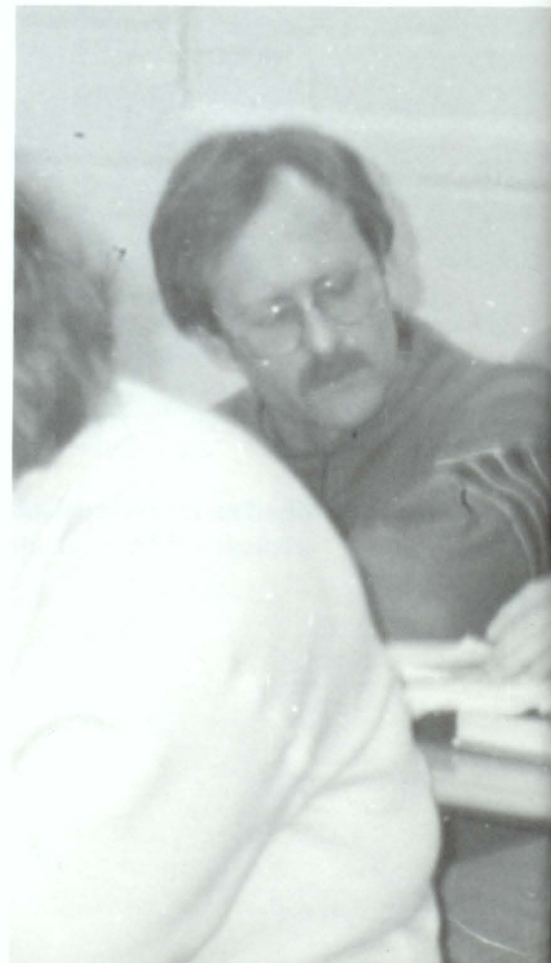

Q: Do you feel that you have a different style of teaching?

A: Yes, I have a unique way of making sure the students are learning. My loud voice keeps them awake. My coaching job enables me to have more time with the students.

Clubs & Academics

Clubs is a group that takes a lot of willing students to participate in an activity together to make it successful. SADD came up with a new name this year called Friends. They also set up a convocation over drugs, featuring Kevin Wanger. PEER HELP used their talents to provide skits and puppet shows for the elementaries. Clubs are similar to pieces in a puzzle. Without all of the pieces you cannot make a puzzle bind together.

Academics gives students a chance to show off their talents. Mrs. Bays sophomore English class took a trip to Wheeler Mission, a homeless shelter. The art department painted an underwater scene in the Jr. High hallway. F.H.A. sold Halloween grams, and skull pops to raise money for the national and state dues. F.H.A. and Health Club went Christmas caroling. The Academic team competed at the Jay County invitational. Clubs have a way of showing a special talent that each student has. Each club and academic is a piece of a puzzle. The students work together to form a puzzle. Each club shows how many students in our school really want to be involved. Every student has a chance to fit in and make new friends. Everybody has a chance to be a piece of the puzzle

How do you feel students benefit from the club SADD?

“They get the information they need to know about drinking and drugs.”

Journalism

The journalism class is a class unlike most others. At the beginning of the year there were more instructional procedures, but as the year progressed the journalism students gained more and more freedom and responsibility. The students were reminded less and less of when their stories and papers were due as more and more stories were heaped on them.

This class is unlike any other in the way that you can come and go as you need, provided you have a good reason such as an interview or to do your beats next door in the computer lab.

Journalism students not only write the beats for the school newspaper, but actually got to put one together and take the role of mass media students as news, sports, opinion, and feature editors. Then they took a field trip to Frankton Press to see the newspaper being printed.

Journalism is a class to prepare students for mass media. There are many more deadlines to meet and many more responsibilities to fulfill. Journalism is the first step.

Sarah Yust works in the computer lab trying to meet another deadline. Journalism students had many deadlines this year.

Joni Taylor and Chandra Menhennett look up a student's name in the index file in Mr. Sipe's room. They have to make sure all names are spelled right.

Eng

The English department has been very busy this year. Mrs. Bays' sophomore English classes studied homelessness for awhile. They had two options: go to the Wheeler Mission, a homeless shelter, and work there for a day or build a "house" out of cardboard. They got a grade for these two projects.

Mrs. Coryells' seventh grade English classes have done quite a few interesting things also. They went to the Scottish Rite Cathedral in Indianapolis and read the comic strip, "Ghost Story," each week and improved their writing skills for making up their own endings to the weekly story.

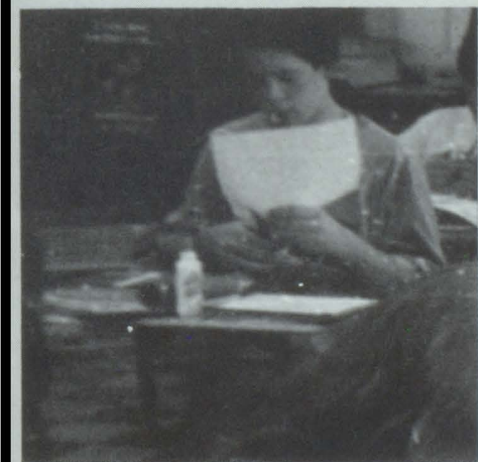

Mrs. Ream's eighth grade

Jamie Ray, Lisa Shores, and Nathan Cress put up a bulletin board for English. Putting up bulletin boards is something freshmen could do for an A in English.

lish

classes have been extremely busy also. They read a story about a bike trip and mapped out their own adventure. They also did Reader's Theatre where they acted out parts of a script of a book in front of the class. When they reached the climax, they had to read the book to find out the end. They also studied Native American Literature and made totem poles out of newspaper and cardboard.

Mrs. Bays and Kim Potter look on as Jeff Houk sits in his "house." Constructing a house was an option for sophomore English students while learning about homelessness.

Foreign Language

A foreign language is one of the most difficult classes to comprehend for a Freshman. But for some reason, there are plenty of students that are signing up for a foreign language. What could be the reason?

The foreign language enrollment is increasing due, in part, to the growing awareness of the need to learn another language. Counselors are encouraging high school students to think more about their future. Many different jobs require a person who knows a foreign language. Others may not require a second language, but may provide promotions, travel opportunities, or other benefits for employees who have that extra skill.

There are always foreign exchange students coming to Frankton, most of whom have studied English for several years. They need to understand our language both to come to the United States and to get by.

But there are only two foreign languages offered at Frankton: French and Spanish. Larger schools like Anderson offer a bigger variety of foreign languages. Does it make you wonder why we do not have German or another language besides French and Spanish? We don't have the teachers to add another language, but you should take one of the language offered. You might need it.

Students sit in Spanish class to work on an assignment where they are getting ready for their test.

Heather Funk, Matt Ramey and Sally Wood have chalkboard races in Spanish class. Races are just another way to study for vocabulary.

A group of French and Spanish students work together to prepare for their oncoming day.

Math

This year upper math students have all been adequately challenged. In Geometry, Mr. Housholder was laying the foundations for Trig and Calculus through a study of right triangles and the circle.

In advanced math, students have spent second semester traveling around in circles, unit circles, to be precise, as they developed the concepts of Trig.

In Mr. Housholder's Calculus class, students have finally reached their limits (Calculus Joke) as they added to their graphing abilities.

Junior High Math

once again had their annual math carnival at Frankton and Leach elementaries. The carnival, which was in February, had a lot of different games and lessons to teach.

In mid May, the math classes went to King's Island for excellence in class. The week after that Mrs. Miller took her class over to the practice field to do unusual mathematical experiments.

Look at those clowns! Kinzie Hobbs, Abbi Campbell, and Lyndsay Owens take time from the math carnival to smile for the camera.

Scie

In Biology I students examined pond water under a microscope to study what organisms live there. There were many organisms that the students did not know lived in pond water. They spent about a week on that project, which actually was more interesting than it sounds, said the students.

In Chemistry I students worked on lots of different equations, and also did some projects involving studies of temperatures and weights. They learned about all of the measuring tools that the lab has by taking several quizzes to learn all the instruments.

In the first semester of Physical Science, the classes studied the make-up of Atoms and some smaller projects as well.

In the second semester was the study of electricity and some projects involving the magnetic field. They learned about superconductors and how they can be used in the future.

Students also learned how sound waves and light waves are formed. They also did experiments with springs to show the waves of sound and how they move.

Kari Brummett and Amanda Drake discuss a chemistry lab.

Dustin Hudson is having fun at the math fair.

Social Studies

This is Mr. Fallis' second year teaching at Frankton. His class did many new and exciting things. One of them was a mock war. The class divided into groups and fought each other's group on paper.

They also watched many movies, such as: Forrest Gump, North and South and Gettysburg.

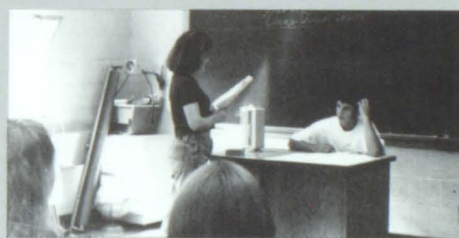

The students were to complete semester projects with a paper explaining their findings.

Mr. LeMaster, the government teacher, has taught his class many things from the beginning of government to present day government.

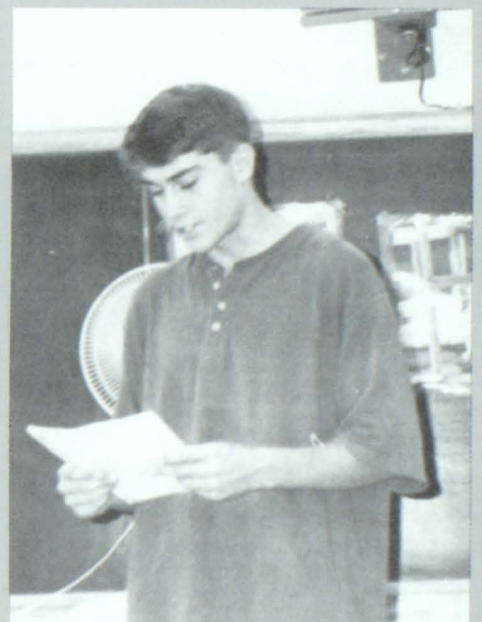

The students do a final project for the semester. They can choose to do either a written report or a visual project, such as a painting or drawing.

Josh McDonald said, "The class is pretty fun."

Loranda Cunningham, Kurt Cooper and Jill Huddleston reenact the Dred Scott trial. This taught them how the court system works.

Jamie Fetty presents information to Nathen Marsh at the mock trial in Mr. Fallis' U.S. History class.

Brad McCord gives a report during his U.S. History class. This is one of the class requirements.

Business

This was the first year here for business teacher, Mr. Morehead, who taught keyboarding and accounting and intro to business. He did his student teaching at Frankton three years ago.

During the first semester intro to business class, every person in his classes had a partner. The two students made up a fake company for a grade. "It helped them learn about opening a business", said Morehead. Also, they learned how to fill out tax returns and tax forms.

In the second semester the class learned about the four major types of insurance Health, Auto, Life, and Property.

Mrs. Cook, veteran business teacher, taught six classes in computer application and had one class that was responsible for designing, typing and printing the Frankton Flyer that is sent to every student's home.

LeAnn Murray works on an assignment as Dustin Parks takes time out to make a face.

Andy Hubbell, Ben Capshaw, Brandon Smith and Josh Delaplane are studying for a test.

Hea

The Health classes covered everything from family education to adult, child and infant CPR. The students learned what the qualifications are to own a license to perform CPR legally. The RedCross provided a personalized license to every student who passed the required test. In order to legally pass, one must score an 80 out of 100.

Along with teaching how to save a life, Mrs. Seager taught how to take care of the one you have. During second semester issues, such as: drinking and driving,

drugs and AIDS were discussed to inform students how to take care of themselves and others. Organ donating was also discussed in class. AIDS and organ donating are a state requirement for all health classrooms.

The Anatomy class, during the second semester, visited Ball Memorial Hospital for career day. Students said it was a lot of fun and very educational. The class also learned about the human body and the medical profession.

Kerianne Short and Mandy Stewart play games during class.

Sarah Yust laughs as Katy Harrison tries to talk with a mouth full of macaroni. This experiment idea was from a special guest.

Physical Education

The Physical Education classes at Frankton Jr./Sr. High School have been busy with personal fitness. The daily routine consisted of stretching exercises and running for cardiovascular fitness.

The students participated in many activities including: archery, tennis, soccer, flag football, volleyball, basketball, juggling, table tennis, shuffleboard, team handball, frisbee, football, square dancing, folk dancing, circuit training and pickleball.

The students have also enjoyed numerous one day activities such as relay races, matball, oof ball, wiffleball, toppleball, scrabble, the 500 races, Chinese jump ropes, Danish long ball, and frisbee bowling.

Mrs. Huntsinger fixes a bow before the gym class goes to shoot arrows.

Nick O'Brien, Pete Hobbs, Ryan Busby and Adam Pickett play basketball during gym.

Art

The art department has had a really busy and eventful year. They finished the paintings of the posts that are spread throughout the school. These posts help direct students and visitors to different areas in the school.

They also painted a large painting of the word "Sing" with a multi-colored music staff below it in the choir room. The department also created a mural of an under-water scene in the Jr. High.

The department not only worked on these types of projects, but they also helped to decorate prom.

They have not only completed large projects, but Mrs. Clark taught the students to use their creativeness and expand their knowledge of art history.

Mrs. Clark said, "We have a lot going on in the art department, but we have the talent to complete all of it."

Art students put the finishing touches on the painting in the choir room.

Industr

The industrial technology department has had a busy year. They were granted four new computers for the Drafting II class. These computers were attained to give the students a chance to use some of the new technology that they will be working with once they are out in the work force.

The department was also granted five new career modules in hope that these devices would help students decide on their possible future careers. Every student in the Tech. Systems classes had the opportunity to work with at least three of these modules.

The traditional woods and metals classes still exist too, but probably not much longer.

The students in these classes should have been prepared for their future, whether for life in general, or in their future careers.

Music

The music history and music theory class covered various areas of study this year. With only eight people in the class the atmosphere was very relaxed and family-like.

This class, in the past has only been offered every couple of years, this year being the first in two.

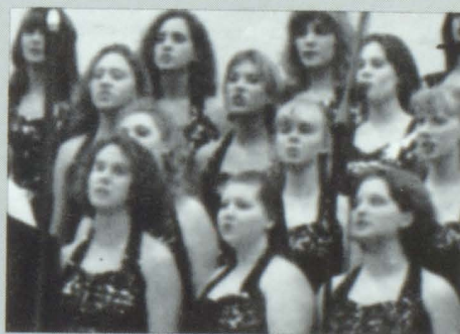

Music theory is the writing, composing and arranging of music.

The small class, taught by Mr. Harding, covered the basic fundamentals of music. They learned notation, key signatures, and how to compose their own music.

They also studied a unit on the Beatles, during the history part of the class. The class studied the way the Beatles affected music and society. They learned how the band changed the music industry and music itself.

The class' last project was to construct a homemade instrument and with a group compose music using these instruments.

All the students that participated in this elective class said that they really enjoyed it and will miss it next year.

Justin Shirley looks over Cody Kendall's shoulder as he writes a story.

Mass Media

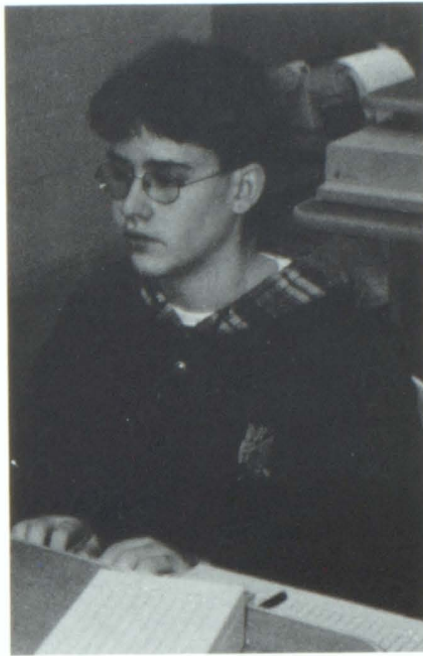

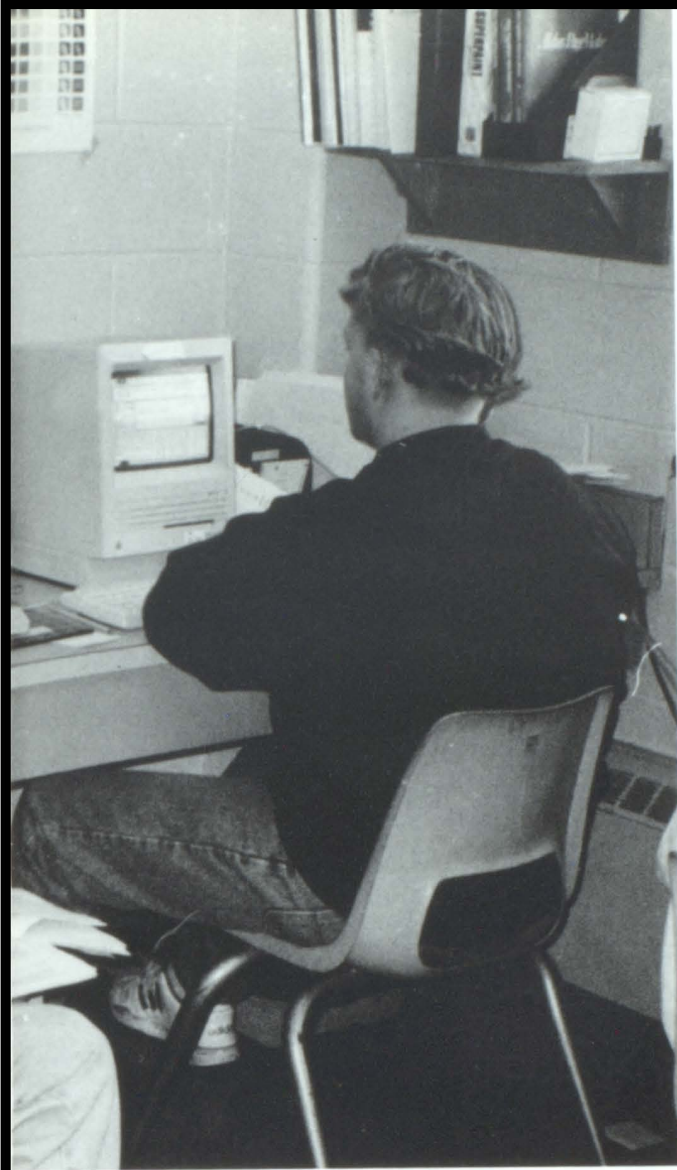

In the Mass Media class there is a lot of talent displayed. The students have certain jobs, from photographers and writers to editor of the yearbook or newspaper.

In most cases students in this class were in the journalism class the previous year, so that they would know the skills needed to produce a newspaper or yearbook.

Either way they soon knew what kind of hard work and serious dedication that it takes to put together the yearbook or newspaper or keep track of photos that were taken throughout the year .

Journalism

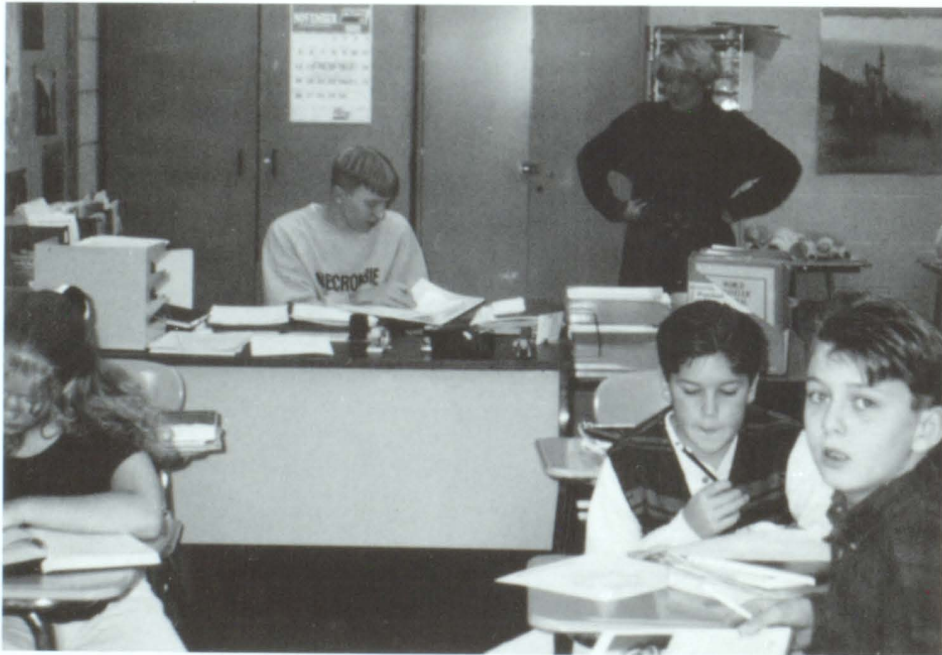

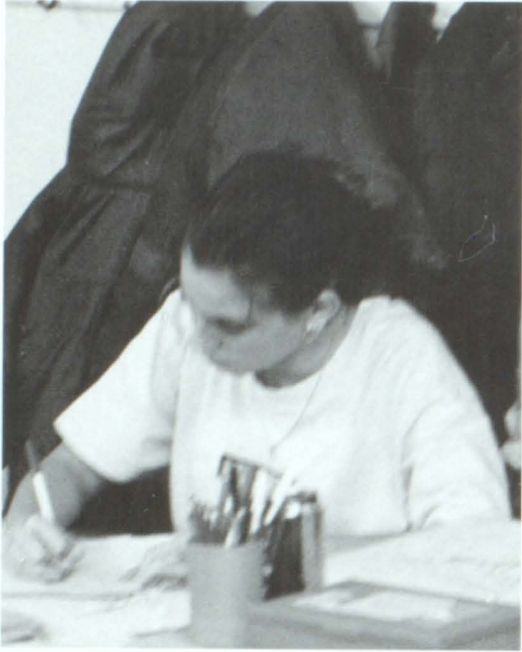

In journalism, the students learned many new skills. Whether they were writing beats, a story in the newspaper, or setting up their computers, they were always busy and learning at the same time.

Making a journalism class also relies a lot on who is teaching, as is the same in any other class. Mr. Sipe was the main teacher, but many Mass Media students helped the journalism class by passing down skills that they learned when they were in journalism.

Cadet Teaching

As a senior you are offered the chance to be a cadet teacher. Being a cadet teacher gives the student a chance to see what it's like to be in the teaching profession. They grade papers, help with bulletin boards, and most hope to be teaching their class by the end of the year.

There are three places offered to Frankton seniors to be a cadet teacher: Frankton Elem., Leach Elem., and here at the high school.

A.M. Vocational

These junior and senior students attend morning vocational classes at either the Anderson or Elwood Vocational Schools. They studied subjects ranging from autobody to cosmetology. They then attended classes at Frankton from lunch to 2:50.

P.M. Vocational

These junior and senior students also attended the Anderson or Elwood Vocational Schools. They attended Frankton until third period and then commuted to vocational. Vocational students get hands on experience in their areas of study which range from Machine Trades to Child Care.

Wade Johnson, Eric Baily and Blake Benefiel raise the American Flag. Jr. High student council does this every morning.

J. H. Student Council

The Junior High Student Council has done what they have always done for the past couple of years. They set up dances and participated in a leadership retreat at the Frankton Methodist Church.

They also help make choices for the students. This year the student council decided not to have the usual class officers and went with just the regular student council.

When asked how she thought being on student council has helped her, Abbi Campbell said. "It has helped me become a better student, and be to take on responsibility for people besides myself."

Student Council

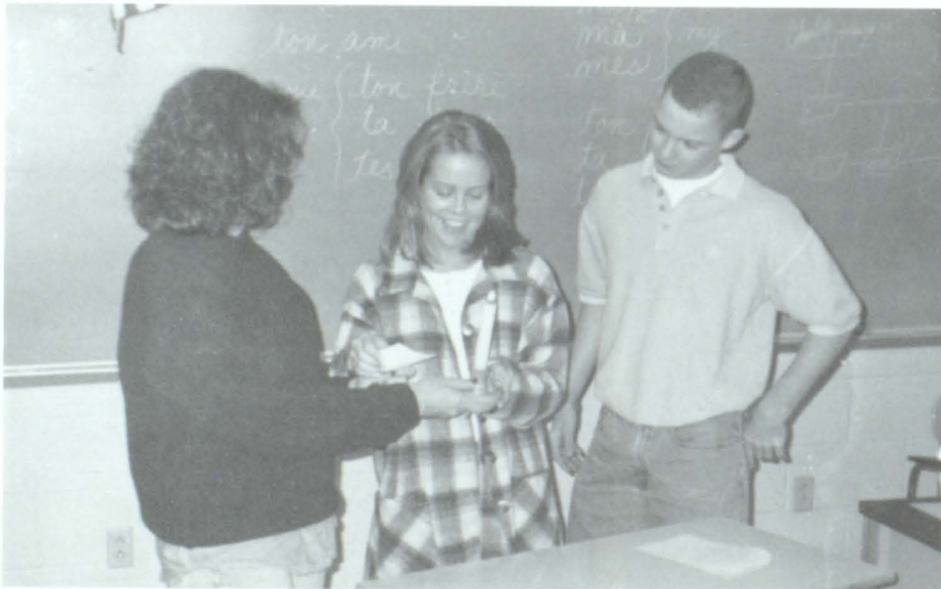

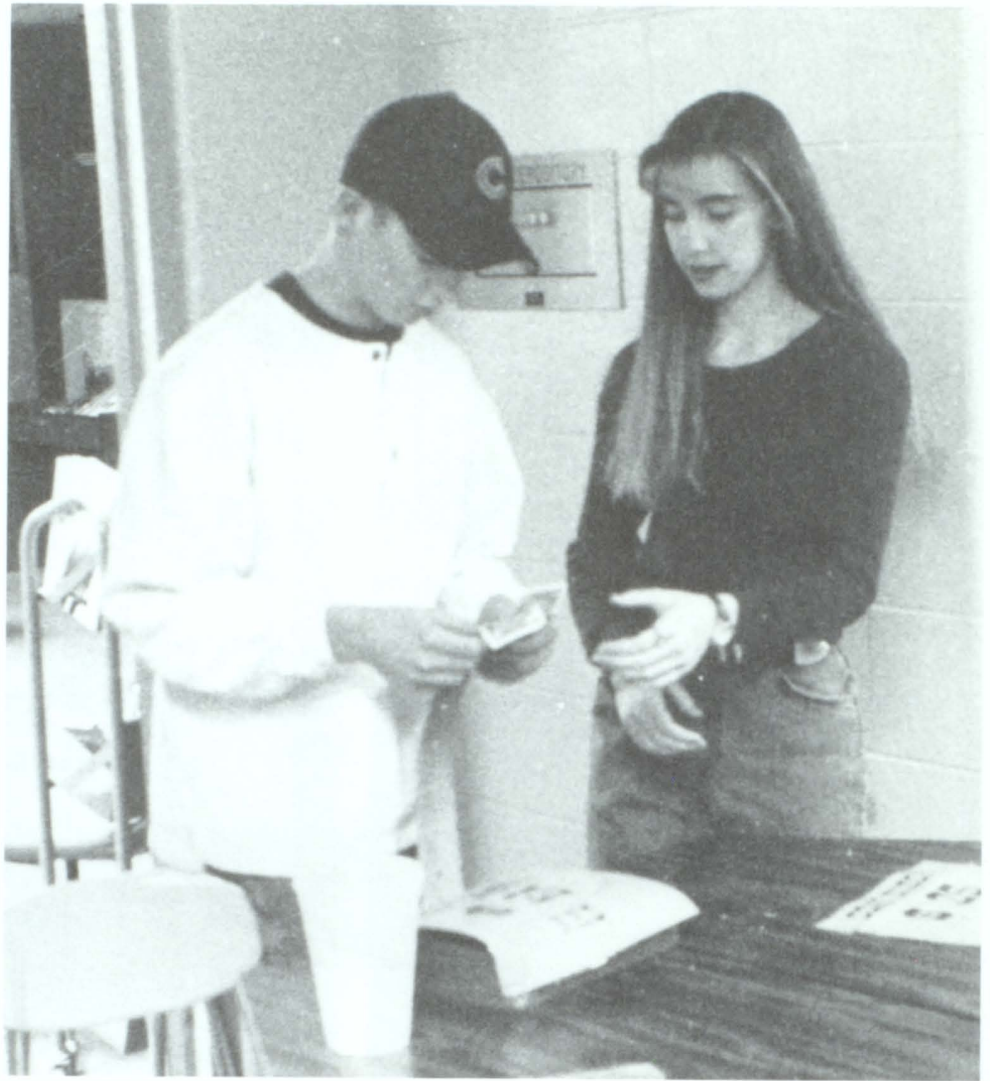

At the beginning of the year student council was busy preparing for Homecoming activities. They had dress-up days the following week and homecoming games were that Friday during school and the game was that night.

As the year progressed into October Student Council and other selected students participated in the annual leadership retreat at Frankton Methodist Church. They learned how to be better leaders. Cafeteria Appreciation Day was the next activity for Student Council. It was November 30 and members were to work for the cafeteria staff. They washed dishes, served food, and learned how much work is put into making lunch. Custodian Appreciation Day was the same day and they were given a fruit basket and cookies. In February students dressed up and attended the Valentine's Dance, and later that month they went to Riley Hospital in Indianapolis, to give the hospital the money raised by Student Council during Riley Days.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society began the year with new members being initiated by acting as slaves for returning members.. Money was raised with the annual coat check at boys basketball games. The Society also began new projects such as a recycling program that will be continued at a later time and changes in the members contract. The changes involved cheating regulations and all references of a person will now be in the form of he/she instead of only he.

Spanish Honor Society

The Spanish Honor Society is a group of Spanish speaking students who have received a grade point average of 3.5 through three semesters, while being enrolled in a third semester. And other than a good gpa, they also had to light a candle in a ritual and become slaves to students and current members, following whatever was asked of them.

French Honor Society

The French Honor Society is a group of French speaking students who have earned their high stature. They have earned this by making superior grades throughout three semesters of French, and be enrolled in a fourth semester. They had to make a grade point average of 3.5 in French and sustain good grades in the rest of their classes.

The band members perform as they march in the Homecoming parade.

Charles Toppin, Justin Weber, Greg Hellems, and Melissa Lawler warm up with the rest of the band members for the Homecoming parade.

H. S. Marching Band

The High School Marching Band had a full season. Their performance schedule started in September with the Bremen Invitational where they received 2nd place. Then they went on to the Highland Tattoo, and then on to the Lawrence Central Invitational where they also received 2nd place. The last of September they visited the New Castle Invitational, and then went to the ISSMA District Contest where they got a Division One.

Along with all these contests they still had time to play at all the Frankton home football games and the basketball games.

Bianca Winconek, Misty Reeves, and Christina Hosier march in front of the band in the Homecoming parade.

Fall Guard

The Fall Guard had a great season with the marching band.

In the Bremen Invitational they got first in Color Guard. At the Highland Tattoo and the New Castle Invitational they received Best Color Guard.

They received a First place mark in almost every contest that they entered. They also performed at all the home football games with the marching band.

Their captains were Tina Granger, Caryn Watson and Erin Weitner.

Jr. High Band

The Junior High Band was directed once again by Mr. Harting and assisted by student aids Kurt Cooper, Michael Sample, and Shaun Summers. The band honed their instrumental skills and prepared for a Christmas and Spring concert.

Many of the band students chose to participate in the ISSMA Solo & Ensemble Contest at Pendleton Heights HS. Based on the judges results the students received a blue or red medal. They also participated in a class project. Each student was asked to bring a song from home that you would not normally hear on the radio. Mr. Harting said: "The results were great. The students not only enjoyed hearing music of a different sort, but they had fun rummaging through their parents' old record collections."

Winter Guard

This year the Winter Guard, with their captains, Daniel Riley and Caryn Watson, finished their season 10th in the world. They got 1st place in the State Championship in Dayton Ohio. The Guard is the first team in the history of Frankton to win a state championship. They finished all their contests this season with high marks.

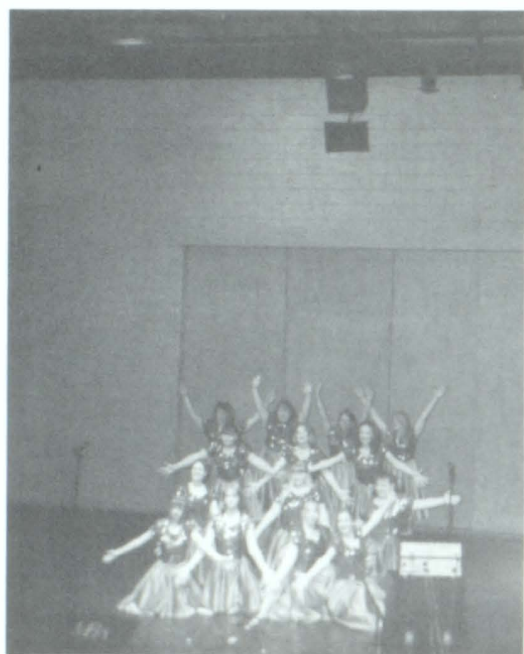

They went to the Mid-South Regional, at LaVergne High School in Nashville TN. They also went to the Midwest WGI Regional at Lincoln Way High School in New Lenox IL.

The Winter Guard director was Mark Harting and their producer was Chris Frick. One of the many helpers was '94 graduate Carrie Bouslog, also their Guard Technician.

Show Choir

The Show Stoppers competed in a number of competitions this year which included; Triton Winter Fest and a festival at Kings Island. They also performed at the Festival of Trees, Variety Show, and the spring choir concert. Show Choir also got new dresses and tuxes. Their dresses are royal purple satin and sequened. The tuxes are black with purple bow ties and cumberbunds.

Mixed Choir

This year the Mixed Choir got costumes for the first time. They consisted of black suits with red bow ties and cumberbunds. Mixed Choir performed at the elementary schools for Christmas, Variety Show, and at the Spring Choir Concert.

Girls Ensemble

The Sapphire Silouettes went to Nashville, Tennessee in the Spring to Opry Land U.S.A. to perform. Choirs from all over the U.S. A. To perform at a competition with choirs from all over the U.S. The choir recieved the Spirit of Nashville Award for representing Frankton so well. They also spent a day at the theme park and had lunch on the General Jackson river boat. The Sapphire Silouettes had a fun trip and learned a lot.

The Junior High Show Choir, larger than ever, participated in many events this year. First, they sang at open house and performed at the elementary schools for Christmas. Then in the spring they sang at the variety show and the spring choir concert.

When asked what he liked most about Show Choir, 8th grader Mike Chandler said, "The thing I like most about choir is Mrs. Burgess, my favorite teacher ever."

FHA

Officers for FHA changed every 6 weeks so everyone could have a chance at being an officer. There were elections in 2 class periods.

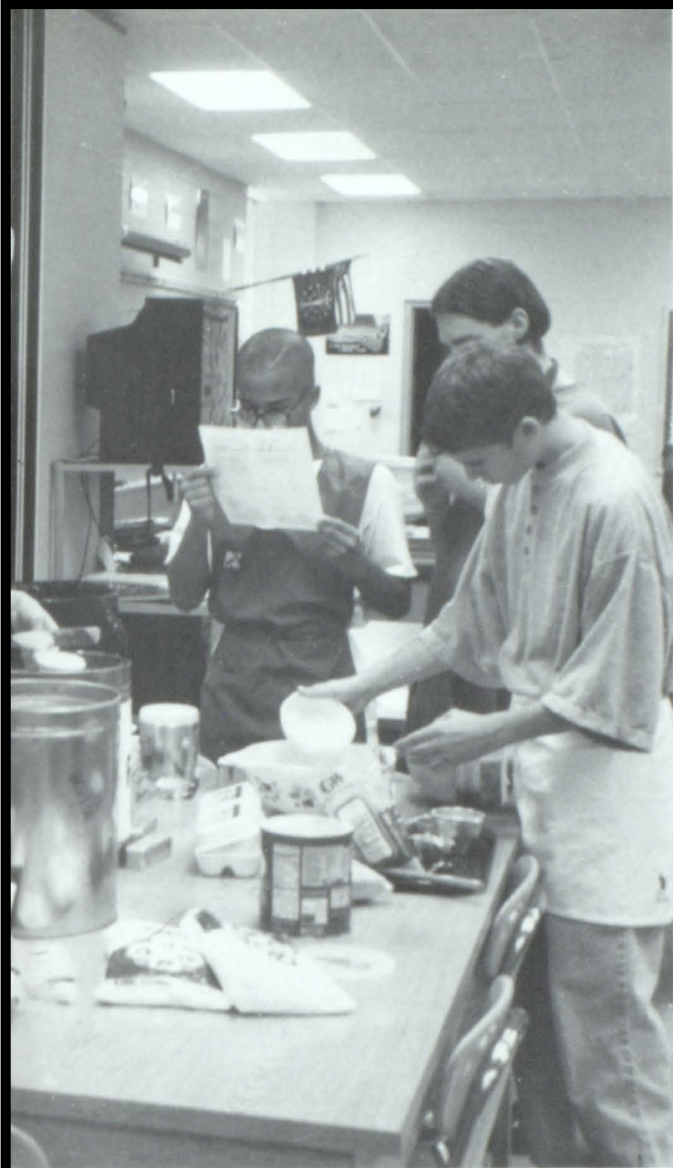

To raise money they had poster sales. That money went to pay for dues. They also sold Halloween Grams & skull pops before Halloween to raise more money for the national & State dues.

Mr. Maish, the FFA adviser, had set many goals for the members last year. They were as follows: get 3 or 4 students to the district soil judging and the state judging, win state soil judging, get 2 or 3 to win the Hoosier farm soil judging, get a good forestry team together, get a soil judging team to Oklahoma.

Members also sold candy bars and fruit to raise money.

In September 21 students attended a soil judging contest, and 33 students attended the Farm Progress Show. In October there was an area soil judging contest that 12 students attended.

At the Hoosier Beef Congress judging contest, the team of Brian Shuter, Chris Hutson, & David Salmon placed 1st. Brian Shuter was also 2nd high individual in the division of the contest.

Spanish Club

This year the Spanish Club did some of the activities they have done in the past. To start the year, the Spanish Club elected officers and collected dues, which will end up paying for the scholarship at the end of the year. Next, they had the annual Christmas party with the French Club in the cafeteria. Then they raised funds by selling M&M's instead of Eagle Pops. Finally in the Spring they went to eat at a restaurant in Indianapolis called "Don Pablo's".

French Club

The French Club started the year off just like in the past, with electing their officers and getting their dues for their scholarship. Their dues wouldn't cover their scholarship so they sponsored a dance. Next was the Christmas party with the Spanish Club in the cafeteria. The party had a variety of food and a pinata. Finally was the trip to eat in Indianapolis. The annual trip to eat always turns out well with the French Club eating at "La Tour", a French restaurant which was left up to the class officers to pick.

Health Club

This year has been a fun and exciting year for the members of the Health Club. Mrs. Folsom, the sponser, was busy making appointments throughout the year. The year started off with the fall blood draw. Then members of the Health Club went Christmas caroling at local nursing homes, bringing joy to the residents at Christmas. They took a break from their activities and helped with the spring blood draw. The Special Olympics is always more than a feild trip to the members of the Health Club, it is always a fun , learning experience.

Peer Help

The Peer Helpers began the year with many traditions and some changes. The first major event for the Peer Helpers was the training retreat. This overnight stay at Camp Tecumseh included lectures on listening, sharing time, and other activities. They also led discussions and performed skits about drug awareness for 5th and 6th graders. Other traditions were Peer Pals for elementary students and Tuesday's meetings during lunch. There were two major additions made to the program this year. These were drug prevention puppet shows for grades 1-4 and a Peer Help News letter written and illustrated by members.

S.A.D.D.

This was the first year in along time that Frankton has had a SADD club. Christie Lawrence is the sponsor, she spent a lot a time and effort this year to make it succesful.

In October SADD had a secret auction at Frankton Elementary. They sold autographed pictures and other articles and raised $1,200.

They sponsored the Kevin Wanzer convocation. He had a unique way of presenting his anti-drug message.

March 28th-30th in Cincinnati Ohio was the Parents Resource Institute for Drug Education also known as PRIDE, a National Drug Conference.

Andrea Ramsey, Loranda Cunningham, and Gretchen Willhoite attended this national conference. This trip was funded by businesses and organizations through out our community.

Drama Club

The Drama Club had an astonishing Spring performance this year. The cast and crew worked terribly hard to make this performance happen. Mrs. Burgess, Mrs. Ream, and the Drama Club were in charge of the production "Nunsence II". The cast worked long hard hours memorizing their lines and dances. In the end, they were very happy with their out come on performance night. Although the crowd was not as large as many other past performances here at Frankton, the ones who did attend had an excellent time viewing the performance.

Academic Team

This year Frankton started their first Academic Team with their sponsor Mrs. Ruth Fox. This is a group of kids who form a team to compete in different competitions around the county. Our teams competed in Social Studies, Math, English, Science, and Fine Arts. All in all, the Academic Team did well. Our Academic Team made it to Regionals and placed second and third in many categories out of seventy- nine schools present there.

Sports

Sports is a time when the whole school comes together to cheer on the team(s). From the excitement of Football Sectional, to Baseball and Softball Sectional. This year however surprises were brought all over the place. The Football team losing in sectional at a year that expectations were high because of the leadership that was brought to the team. A winning season record (4-3) was not enough to carry the team to a sectional championship. The tennis team had terrific season and captured the team's first sectional title in school history beating Anderson in the championship round. The year has went from up to down, bringing good finishes and then not so good finishes. The Boys Basketball team had a great start to the '95-'96 season, but finished unexpectedly, losing the last three games of the season and then got embarrassed in the first round of sectional by the Alexandria Tigers. Girls Basketball also started out well, but ended on a sour note. Taking a 13-5 record into the sectional the Lady Eagles were thought to have a good chance at a championship, but lost the first round to the Lapel Bulldogs. Every year sports has it's up and down times. This year everything about evened out

T eam leadership helps N Eagles run to decent season

Hard work, running as a team, and having fun; What do these words mean? They mean a lot if you are on the cross-country team. These are just a few things that are needed to have a good season.

Junior girls runner Gwen Hobbs stated this about the season, "I think that this season was a lot of fun and we were also competitive." She also feels that she ran well this year, but not as well as her freshmen year. Wendy Clevenger was the team's key runner for the girls and she made it look so effortless while running.

Coach for the girls team Mrs. Seager felt that Wendy ran well each race and was consistent throughout the season, for a first year runner.

For the boys, it was senior runner Jason Hobbs who took control of the team. His comments on the season were, "This year's season might not have been as successful team wise as in the past, but we had a lot more fun this year than past years." Jason Hobbs was not alone in the effort that this team gave this year, he was joined by fellow senior Kevin Lilly who ran good consistently throughout the season.

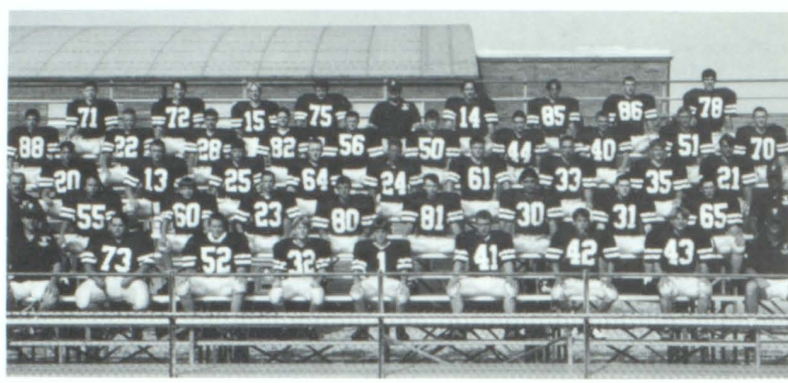

Wendy Clevenger runs alone, all by herself, you know when Wendy runs alone she prefers to be by herself. Clevenger was ahead of the pack when it came to this season.

Jason Hobbs showed his leadership in the sectional round of the state tournament by finishing 3rd and qualifying to go on to the regional where he placed 34th. Six other runners placed from 17th to 86th in the sectional. The only argument that Hobbs and Lilly had at the end of the season was that Hobbs feels that Lilly, who placed 17th in sectional, was the most consistent while Lilly feels Hobbs was the most consistent.

Also to help out this season was senior Doug Gassner. But with only three seniors, and the rest sophomores and freshmen the team has a bright future in the next few years.

Eagles Take The Air, Passing Game Is Very Useful !

The football team, despite having a very rough season finished 4-3 for the year. The Eagles went to battle with some very tough teams. Though they did not win all their battles they still kept trying. Part of the reason for their struggles was that their size and experience level was far below that of past teams.

The team also took on a different look, since they did not have a big offensive line, which made it harder to run the ball, they took on the passing game. The passing attack proved to be an effective weapon, while the running game gradually improved.

Leading the passing attack for the Eagles was quarterback Nathan Hobbs. Hobbs was quite the all around quarterback this year, he threw the ball, ran the ball, and made the big plays when they were needed. Hobbs, a very shifty quarterback, passed for 1,058 yards this season.

His main targets this season were Cody Kendall, Mike Maryan, and Shaun Hinton. All three were experienced seniors who helped make things easier on Hobbs. When Hobbs could not get to any of his three receivers he would look towards the backfield. In that backfield was senior Jamie Nathan Hobbs runs a play fake to Jamie Cole during one of the few home games.

Cole and junior Jeremy Swisher. Cole got the call to run the ball most of the time. He finished the season with 483 rushing yards.

The Eagles drew a very difficult team in the first round of the sectional, their opponent was Centerville. The Eagles had defeated Centerville in double overtime earlier in the season with a field goal by Thomas Pedersen. This time around Centerville came prepared to play. Centerville barely edged the Eagles 10 -7 .

The defeat put an end to the career of thirteen seniors, but all in all this team kept alive the winning tradition of FRANKTON FOOTBALL with their hard work and dedication.

Lady Eagles finish 17-17 !

The varsity team of 8 girls, including 2 seniors, finished the season at .500 with a 17-17 record, just shy of last year's record of 20-15. The lady Eagles had a great season though, including a second place finish at the Shenandoah Tourney where they defeated Bluffton, a first place finish at the New Castle Tourney where they defeated both Blackford and Greenfield, and at the Madison County Tourney with wins against Anderson, Alexandria, and Lapel. But, their season came to a halt in the first round of the Madison Heights sectional where they were defeated by Pendleton Heights.

Receiving special honors for the team were, MVP: Mindy Hobbs and Brook Bailey, Most Improved: Alison Guthrie, Hitting: Brook Bailey, Digging: Kills: Brook Bailey, Serve Reception: Brook Bailey, Setting- Mindy Hobbs, Serving: Kelly Harrison, Blocking: Melissa Yates.

Making the 1995 All County Team for Frankton were Brook Bailey and Mindy Hobbs. Brook Bailey also made the 1995 White River All-Conference Team where

Boys Tennis Take Sectional Finish season 14-7

With a little help from overseas, the boys tennis team managed to pull out a great season and a sectional title. For the first time the team received some exchange students (Igor Abreu, and Henrik Dalsgaard) that could play a little tennis. No. 3 singles Igor Abreu lead the team with a 17-1 record, followed by the No. 1 doubles team of Ben Graham and Brian Ice with a 17-4 record. Under the supervision of coaches Tim Davis and Joe Graham, the team soared to a 14-7 record, and a 4-2 record in the conference.

In the first round of the Anderson Sectional (Sept. 30, at Mays Park) the team drew Anderson, and were able to come out on top 3-2. Winners for Frankton included No. 1 singles Henrik Dalsgaard, No. 2 singles Clint Hall, and No. 3 singles Igor Abreu. The following morning Frankton would face Lapel in the semi-final match, and come out with another victory 3-2. Winners were Henrik Dalsgaard, Igor Abreu, and the No. 1 doubles team of Ben Graham and Brian Ice. Throughout the sectional Frankton knew if they made it to the championship match they would have to face Highland advantage and come out with another win 3-2, and the sectional crown. Winners included Henrik Dalsgaard, Igor Abreu, and the No. 2 doubles team of Mason McCord and Justin Shirley. After it was all over with coach Davis said "Thank God for the exchange student program". In the Regional semi-final match at Muncie, the team faced the 15th ranked Delta Eagles. It was de ja vu and Frankton was ousted again 2-3. Winners were Igor Abreu and the doubles team of Ben Graham and Brian Ice. That loss ended the career of 8 seniors, but not before they became the first team in history to win a sectional title

Eagles start season big, but lose in sectionals

This year, the Basketball team made it over a lot of obstacles. One of the biggest was filling a lot of empty positions. But the team did this without any problem.

They started out the season with a eight game winning streak, before they suffered their first loss. The team had a great group of seniors to lead them through the season.

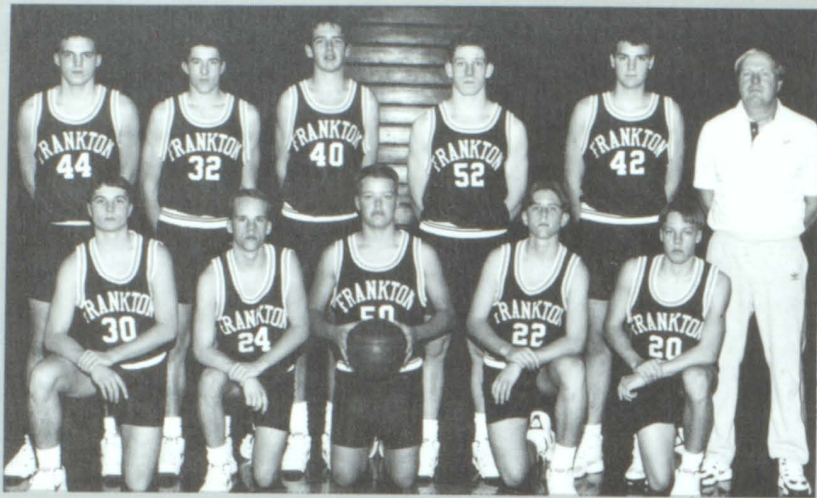

Five seniors led the way this year, Brian Ice, Cody Kendall, Nathan Hobbs, Jason Hobbs, and Ben Graham. They also had some support from underclassmen. They had a great showing in the WRAC, but losing to Delta at the end of the season cost them the title. As the team headed into sectional they were on a losing streak, losing their last few games. To make matters worse they drew Alex, in the bye-round. After losing last year in the sectional championship to Alex, and then earlier in the season, some people felt the Eagles were due. The first half was a good fight put on by the Eagles to keep it close, but when the second half rolled around, most of the seniors and juniors were sitting on the bench. At that time the Eagle's chances to beat the Tigers were very slim. Leading scorers Jason Rodewald and Cody Kendall did not play much at all. But when Rodewald was in he was not very hot from the 3-point line. Kendall came in the game and gave the big Alex center, Chris Hahn, a hard time, but it was just not enough to stop Alex. The Tigers pulled away in the fourth quarter and beat the Eagles. Once again the Tigers put an end to the Eagle's season. The Eagles lost a lot of talent but will still have great potential with the return of 3-point record holder Jason Rodewald. They will be looking for a lot of leadership from next year's juniors as they will try one more time to make a run for the sectional title before the beginning of the class basketball season.

The Freshman team had the best record yet for coach Foley at 12-3. Coach Mark Drake also helped with the team this season.

They lost only to Hamilton Heights and 2 losses to Yorktown. They lost to Yorktown in the WRAC finals in overtime, so they received second place in the tournament.

At the banquet, the awards were handed to Jeff Wright for Mental Attitude, Most Improved to Bobby Gordon, and MVP honors went to Pete Hobbs. When Pete was asked about his most memorable moment of his freshmen year he said, "Playing in sectional against the Alex Tigers."

JV is a step down from the Varsity and almost every player must play freshman and JV basketball before they go on to Varsity. Varsity is where every player wants to play. "This team had more athletes than any other JV team I've coached at the JV level," said coach Doug Drake at the annual banquet.

The team finished with a below .500 season with a record of 8-11. Jim Hellman said, "I wished we would have won more games, but I still had fun." Some of the team victories were against Yorktown, Elwood, and Lapel.

Lady Eagles end Season Finish 13-5 N

The girls varsity seems to end in a familiar way every year with a first round loss in the sectional at Madison Heights. This year the girls lost to the Lapel Bulldogs in a disappointing match 42 - 34.

Junior Stacie Guthrie said, "I felt we had a very good season for the most part. We had a really young team and I think this was really a rebuilding year for the team. Next year we will be a lot stronger and have more height." Andrea Ramsey said, "Being the only senior, it felt great and it showed me how to become a more responsible leader because I had to grab the team by the horns and go, I also really enjoyed playing with the younger kids especially Stacie."

"We are only going to lose one player off this year's team which will really help them for a good season and a possible sectional championship." Stacie also added.

The girls record (13-5) was a great accomplishment losing only 5 games the whole year to only 4 different teams. (Lapel twice, Alexandria, Hamilton Heights, Yorktown, and Anderson).

At the awards banquet, Wendy Clevenger won the MVP award, while Stacie Guthrie took the leadership award. Wendy was the leading scorer while Natalie Hendricks led the team in rebounding.

Season pinned away, two wrestlers go to semi-stat

This years wrestling season record, 16-7-2, was not as good as last year's, but Coach Cress said, "It is a young team and the record should improve for next year."

The team placed 2nd in sectional, held at Frankton, and seven wrestlers advanced to regional, Craig Adams at 103 lbs., Nathan Marsh at 130lbs., Zach Hinkle at 145 lbs., Levi Alexander at 150 lbs., Kevin Lilly at 152 lbs., Nathan Cress at 171 lbs., and Jared Cress at 215 lbs.

Only two of the wrestlers were successful in regional, Jared Cress and Kevin Lilly. Lilly placed third in regional but still advanced. Cress ended the day with a second place finish after losing in the final round.

At semi-state neither Lilly nor Cress advanced on to the state finals, Cress lost in the first round and Lilly lost in the second round. Even though both lost, Joey Barr says, "They (Lilly and Cress) showed great wrestling potential

Ranked Eagles play hard, but fall short in Regionals

The Softball team was probably the best spring sports team Frankton had in the '96 season.

They compiled an impressive record at 11-1 and ranked 9th in the state, falling two places because of the loss they suffered to Pendleton. The team had never been ranked that high in the state in school history.

Most of the players had the same comment on why the team was so successful this year saying, "We all worked together as a team and usually get along with each other."

The team had six returning seniors that helped them to make another run at going to semi-state as they did the year before. Melissa Jones commented on how her senior leadership played a part in the season, "I think I really helped the younger pitchers so that they can improve."

Senior, Carole Robinette answered with a similar response in that she thought she set a good example because of her experience, and the team let her know what is expected of her as a senior.

The girls, for the first time

in many years beat Shenandoah in pretty much of a blow-out 8-0. Melissa Jones pitched the complete shut out win, Carole Robinette went 1-3. The team's only loss came from Pendleton in a game that the girls could have won if only they could have prevented a few errors. The girls were hoping for a return to semi-state, but were cut off short, losing in the regional.

The team lost six seniors and it will not be easy to fill those positions. With their loss in regional the Lady Eagles finished the season with a record of 15-2.

Graham 11th in state, Boys 6-3, Girls finish 7-2-1 season

The boys and girls track seasons did not start out the way anyone wanted it to. At the beginning of the season several of both team's meets were washed away by rain. The only opportunity to have a track meet at that time for it to be indoors. Like the Boiler Bomber Relay, which the girls competed in as a warm up for the season.

The boys team did not compete until after Spring Break. Their first opponent in this rain delayed season was Mt. Vernon, who beat the team by one point, 69-68. A few days later the boys and girls competed in the inaugural Madison County Tournament. The boys finished in second place behind Highland. The girls placed fifth. The boys also placed second in the Pendelton Invitational.

Both teams went on to have impressive regular seasons. The boys finished their regular season schedule with a record of 6-3 and an overall record of 28-8. The girls overall record was 24-14.

The season was not even close to ending for both teams though, they still had three large tournaments to compete in.

First off, the WRAC. The girls finished a respectable fourth. They did not have any individual winners. The boys finished in third place. The only individual winner was Ben Graham in the pole vault.

At the Eastern Invitational the boys finished in first place. The girls were also impressive with a second place finish.

The girls finished in fourth place at the sectional. Several individuals went on to regional, but no one made it any further.

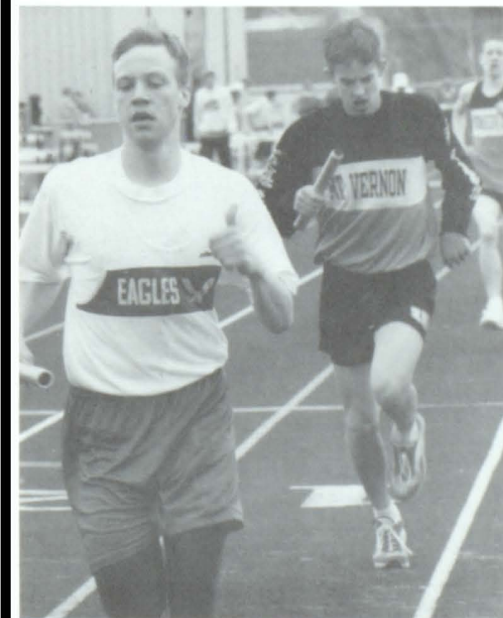

The boys had a successful sectional, placing ten members into regional, and one into state. That one individual was Ben Graham in the pole vault. At state Graham finished in 11th place

Golfers only win two matches, Mr. Harting becomes new coach

The golf team yet again struggled through another season this spring. They finished the season with only two wins, against Madison Grant and Daleville, and fourteen losses. At sectional, the team finished in 12th place out of 12 teams.

This year's team began with a new look to them, mostly due to a change at head coach. Mr. Huntsinger stepped down as coach last year and Mr. Harting volunteered to take over.

Mr. Harting inherited a team with a number of veterans and freshmen. The team was headed by senior, Doug Gassner. He was the team MVP and paced the team throughout his final year. Foreign exchange student, Henrik Dalsgraad was the only other senior on the team.

Following Gassner on the team depth chart was Justin Weber. In this his third year, Weber received the Most Improved Player award and will be returning for his fourth and final season next year.

Joining Weber next year will be sophomore letter winners

James Clark and Seth Pearson. and behind them were a number of freshmen letter winners that will be looking to take some varsity roster spots next season.

They were: Nick Grant, Zach Frazier, Greg Hellems, and Matt Ramey.

Next year a young, but experienced team will be stepping onto the greens of local golf courses around the area. And now that Mr. Harting has his first season under his belt, look for the team to definitely pull out a few more wins next year.

The Girls Tennis team started off the season a little rough. They were struggling with a new coach, Miss Ream and a record setting wet spring

Miss Ream proved to be very enthusiastic about her new teaching position along with the responsibility of the tennis team.

After adjusting to the new coaching staff a new factor came into play. The weather made playing a little rough. It was usually very cold with many rained out games. The wind was also a strong factor in playing a successful match.

The team had several make-up matches and many they did not get to play.

The start of the season did not look promising with several losses, but the team pulled it together in the end and managed to get in a few wins.

Boys end season 7-2 Girls finish 2-7 season

The Junior High Boys Cross Country team had a competitive, but successful season ending with a record of 7-2.

Last year the girls team did not have enough runners for a full team, so they ran with the boys team.

This season they had 5 runners, 3 more than they had last season. The girls team struggled and finished 2-7 on the season.

The boys team finished fifth in the Tipton Invitational. Leading the way for the Eagles were Brandon Sanders, Blake Benefiel, and Brandon Etchison.

The girls struggled in the tournament and did not place.

The biggest task for the Eagles was the Madison County meet where the boys team fought hard and finished second behind Pendleton Heights Middle School with a score of 24-57.

Finishing in the top five for the boys were Brandon Sanders (2nd) and Blake Benefiel (4th).

Dressed in his uniform and warming up outside of the school is Brody Davis.

J unior high football teams N struggle through season

Junior High Football, the next step to high school. Despite having most of the team back from last year the 8th grade did not have that much luck during the season.

The season for the eighth grade started out with a loss to Elwood in a game that was a hopeful win, but became a 26 point loss for the Eagles.

The Eagles' troubles were not over as they were handed their second loss 38-0 from Hamilton Heights.

Finally they pulled together to get their first and only win of the season against Tri-Central 6-0.

The rest of the season was a battle as they lost the remaining four games and one tie. Wes-Del, Sheridan, Pend. Hts, and Alex. added to the losses the Eighth grade were handed this year. Lapel was the only tie for the Eagles 6-6.

The eight grade finished with a record of 1-6-1. Coach Lew Wallace recognized four players at the banquet: Outstanding Offensive Player- Nathan Alexander, Outstanding Defensive Player - Eric Bailey, Mental Attitude- Brandon Betz, and MVP - John Jackson.

The seventh grade also struggled in their season, winning only one game this year. Being seventh graders they did not have much playing experience. Some of the seventh graders commented, "It was a great learning experience, It will get us more prepared for next year and high school"

Lady Eagles gets new coach

Team slowly improve

Hard practice, a new coach, Jane Ream, and a lot of fun. Junior high volleyball team began the season. With some help from former Frankton player Heather Disque, the team learned a lot of fundamentals.

As the season started it was time to see how the team played against a regular school rival, Wes-Del. Even though they had a tough loss against Wes-Del, neither the seventh or the eighth grade was going to let another loss go past, so the Lady Eagles bounced right back to win both the seventh and the eighth grade games over a tough Anderson opponent, North Side.

After they had one win and, one loss each, the Lady Eagles were up against a tough Shenandoah team where the eighth grade played an outstanding game, and brought another win to their record. Unfortunately the seventh grade was up against their toughest opponent yet, and just couldn't beat the Lady Raiders.

With a road game against Hamilton Heights coming up, the team had some really tough practices. The game was great, both teams, and both grades played their best, and the eighth was able to hold off the Huskies to gain one more win, and the seventh came close, but just couldn't get the win.

Back at home against the Elwood panthers, both the seventh and the eighth grade experienced another hard fought, and tough loss. Finally it was their last away game at East Side and it promised to be a great one. One more time the mighty eighth grade LadyEagles, defeated another tough Anderson school, but the seventh grade failed to gain a win at their last game. With only four games left, and all at home, the season grew harder. The seventh grade had some hard fought battles, but no wins. The eighth grade had some even harder battles, and gained two wins against Madison Grant, and South Side. The eighth grade finished their season with a 6-4 record, and the seventh grade with a 1-9 record.

Seventh grade finish 9-6 Eighth grade swap at 6-9 !

The Junior High Basketball teams ended with reciprocal seasons. The seventh grade finished with a 9-6 record and the eighth grade with a 6-9 season. Both teams started out on a good note with a win against the Alex Tigers.

The seventh grade continued to go on a four game winning streak, but both teams ran into a drought against the Anderson teams. The eighth grade was defeated by Northside 39-52, and by Eastside 22-53. The seventh grade lost to Northside 36-46, and Eastside 32-41.

After picking up a few more wins both teams fell short against the cross town rival, Elwood Panthers. After the confrontation with Elwood, the seventh grade went on to lose the final three games at Shenandoah, Hamilton Heights, and Pendleton. The eighth grade team defeated Shenandoah by a healthy 19 points, but the Wheaties magic soon left them as they lost the last two games in the season.

The eighth grade boys basketball coach Larry Davis recognized four teammates with their individual effort. They were Kirk Davenport, Kevin Nichols, Blake Benefiel, and Kyle Stevens.

Travis Smith takes it to the "rack" while his teammates follow close behind.

They received recognition for top offensive player, top defensive player, Hustle award, and blood and guts award respectively. Blood and guts award?

The seventh grade coach Dennis Huntsinger gave out five awards. They were most assists, most rebounds, most improved, Mr. Hustle, and Mr. Defense. The recipients were Matt Abel, Dustin Hudson, Matt Boyland, Brandon Sanders, and Matt Abel respectively.

The eighth grade B-team finished with a record of 3-4. The seventh grade B-team/Chess team finished with 0-7. My name is Dennis and I'm outta here !

The seventh grade girls basketball team had a tough season this year. Despite playing their hardest, they could only accumulate a total of five wins.

With a total of twelve games, they had victories over Lapel, St. Marys, Elwood, Tri-Central, and Knightstown, they ended their season with a record of five and seven.

There were three girls who were recognized for their high level of play during the season. Betsy Busby received an award for most points in a season, Casey Clutch won the award for mental attitude, the third award, most improved, went to Katie Jones.

The eighth grade girls had a spectacular season this year, finishing the season with only one loss. Even in tournament play they showed no signs of weakness. They ended their season with a record of 13-1.

Most of their games were won by a spread close to twenty points with their only loss being to East Side by a slim margin of six points. They beat all four teams that they encountered at tournament play. Three of them were easy wins, but the fourth against Pendleton came tough with only a one point differential.

Christina Johnson is met by the opposition as she goes up for a base-line jumper.

The girls accumulated 543 points for the season and gave up only 347 points to be divided among the competition. Helping the girls score this many points were the three highest scorers, Kelli Carter scoring 133 points, Lyndsay Owen with 108 points, and Holly Webb with 84 points. With 325 points, their combined total made up the majority of the 543 points

The Jr. High wrestling team finished with an under .500 season. They finished with a 4-5 record in dual meets.

The team had several outstanding wrestlers this season, three that finished second in their weight class at the Tipton Invitational.

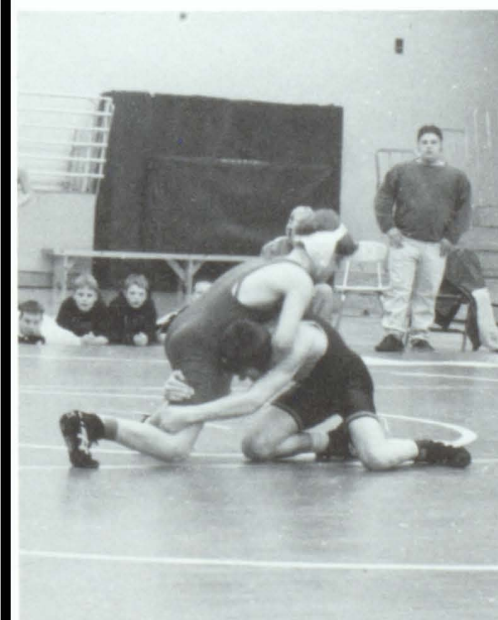

These wrestlers were: Larry O'Bryant (12-2), Nathan Alexander (10-1), and Johnny Carrol (10-3).

To make their weight class and finish well for the season, the team learned the basics from take-downs to dieting.

Learning these tips could mean a future in wrestling in high school.

Coach Larry O'Bryant worked the wrestlers as if they were already in high school.

The team will lose six wrestlers to the high school team next year but Coach O'Bryant said, "We have a great team coming in the future."

The boys and girls Jr. High track both finished with identical records of 5-2.

The boys team was made up of nine eighth graders and eight seventh graders. They started their season with an impressive win over Shenandoah by a score of 50-48. But in their next meet they were dealt their first loss by Elwood.

After the loss, the boys won a three way meet against Muncie Burriss and Daleville, and then lost to Hamilton Heights, ending their chances for three straight victories.

With only a week remaining before the county meet the boys faced Sheridan. They fought hard and won the meet.

The boys hoped to finish first in the county meet but could only get a score of 44, which was good enough for fourth place.

The girls rushed out of the starting blocks to begin their season winning five straight.

They beat Shenandoah, Elwood, Alexandria, Muncie Burriss, and Daleville.

But the girls regular season ended on a down note with two straight losses. They were delivered by Hamilton Heights and Sheridan.

STATE CHAMPS!

Guard Becomes First Frankton Team To Win State Title.

Like always Chris and Mr. Harting are giving us flowers to carry with us as we journey to the shining floor of the cavernous New Castle Fieldhouse. All thirty state finalists are cramped with us in this small dirty cafeteria waiting to be herded to the awards ceremony.

I noticed that something is much different than ever before. Maybe it is knowing that this was my last chance to perform at state finals or maybe it was the tears and smiles that the staff had on their emotion filled faces. Wait - it is the flowers!

Our flowers are always the best, but these flowers had something different about them. The colors were beautiful, but most of all the scent was overwhelming. The sweet aroma seemed to be saying that they were special and were being given to special people that were thrust right smack in the middle of a magical adventure.

As our guard walked down each of the 57 steps to the performance floor, my mind was flooded with great memories from years past with the winter guard and the wonderful people that had touched my life. I looked for my parents in the crowd of ten thousand hoping that they too would remember my last descent to the floor.

Finally, we're here! as the announcer read the results of class B, I remembered standing here last year and being elated to be the runner up state champion and sad that we nearly missed winning by .6 of a point. What is going to happen tonight? We certainly are not the favorite to win. Oh well - it really doesn't matter because we were incredible during our performance.

It was great fun chasing my mice brothers and sisters in the living room while the cat slept. Oh how scrumptious the cheese was tonight. The audience stood in ovation when we scurried off the living room floor knowing that we had stolen the cheese, escaped that stupid contraption that is supposed to catch mice, and bit the cat's tail without getting a scrape or bruise.

Wait a minute! They are reading the results of our class. They are down to three guards left and one of them is us. In third place receiving a bronze medal . . . Delta H.S. Wow here we are again - only us and Tippecanoe Valley are left. In second place with a score of 83.60 and the winner of the silver medal . . . Tippecanoe Valley. We did it! We did it!

I screamed knowing that we finally had won a state championship. The first ever in the history of Frankton High School. As I bowed my head the announcer confirmed reality and named Frankton's Winter Guard the gold medalist.

After Chris had placed the heavy gold medals around our necks and my eyes were blinded from smiling for what seemed like a thousand flashing pictures, it was time to head out for the celebration party.

I paused just before exiting the last door to the field house to get one last look at the place where magic happened. The fan blown air pushed the scent of the flowers up at my face reminding me that I carried this bouquet the entire awards ceremony. That special smell.

Looking back at the faces of our parents, staff, members, wall crew and the audience, I think everyone had the same feeling of magic. Even the flowers knew that there was magic to do.

Mickey Mantle was one of the greatest baseball players who ever lived. From the time he broke into the major league in 1951, six months shy of his 20th birthday, until he retired following the 1968 season at the age of 37, Mickey Mantle inspired generations of fans with his power and ability. He died of a fast-spreading liver cancer at the age of 63, 2 months after a liver transplant.

YEAR IN REVIEW

Dallas Cowboys, Emmitt Smith goes for the long gain as the Cowboys went on to beat the Pittsburgh Steelers 27-17 to win Super Bowl XXX. For the Cowboys it was the fifth Super Bowl title, matching a feat by San Francisco last year, it was also the Cowboys' third championship in a four-year span.

Baltimore Orioles shortstop, Cal Ripken, marched into the record books when he broke Lou Gehrig's record and played in 2,131 consecutive baseball games. Gehrig had held the record since 1939. Ripken broke the record on September 6 and went on to finish the season having played in 2,153 consecutive games -- the last 70 of them without an error.

One critic described Hootie and the Blowfish as a pleasant band with a mellow sound, a winning and unpretentious attitude, a goofy name and a lot more. The South Carolina band includes Darius Rucker, vocals and guitar, Mark Bryan, guitars, Dean Felber, bass and Jim Sonefeld, drums. Musically, Hootie can move casually but efficiently from harmonizing to country rock, from blues to thick as-molasses Southern rock. Hootie won Best New Artist and Best Selling Album.

Miss Oklahoma, Shawntel Smith, got an extra birthday present for her 24th birthday: she was crowned Miss America. But she had to share the attention. Swimsuits also took center stage as television viewers voted overwhelmingly to retain the swimsuit competition, keeping with 75 years of pageant history. Detractors of this part of the competition tried to have it eliminated

The much traveled Pope John Paul II returned to the United States for his fourth papal trip. The 75-year old Pope showed no signs of slowing down. He repeatedly spoke of leading the Roman Catholic Church into Christianity's third millennium. He was elected Pope in 1978. As the Polish Pope, he is the first non-Italian to head the church in 455 years. As one of the most charismatic pastors in centuries, he has made 67 trips outside Italy ●

Senator Bob Dole, a republican from Kansas, wanted to be president of the United States. When school began in September, Dole, the Senate Majority Leader, was a leading conservative candidate. The run for the high office was nothing new for Dole. He ran for vice president once, in 1976, and for primaries of 1980 and 1988. If he won this time, he would be 73-years-old when he entered office, older than any newly elected president.

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin, the war hero turned political leader who fearlessly pursued peace with the Palestinians, was assassinated on November 4, 1995. He was 74 years old when he was gunned down after a political rally.

Marc Henderson slowly lowers himself to Mrs. Fulsom's height to receive an award. Otherwise everyone would have seen a scene reminiscent to King Kong grabbing a lady while climbing the Empire State Building.

Mr. Davis surprises everyone by resigning as A.D. and becoming a custodian. He said it was the free popcorn that drove him to this decision.

Now call me Princess Contessa bananarama toe drop IX or I'll beat you like a rented mule. Those were the last words Kelly Harrison said before the men in white suits came and took her to a happy place with padded walls.

Huh? What? What did they say? Speak up. Where's my Miracle Ear?

Ben Graham makes a concerted effort to really show what is really inside a graduating senior on the night of commencement.

"That'll be $49.95," the cook replied. "But I want a Twix bar," said the customer. "That'll be... oh, wait that'll be $50. Sorry I pressed the pizza button," she replied.

Riot ensues as girls hear there is free bottled water in the stands. Gwen Hobbs leads the pack, until Jana Alexander takes her down!

Mommy, why won't the horsies move. Ivy Johnson, Amanda Johnson, Jill Huddleston, and Cyndee Meyer enjoy a leisurely ride.

Panthers

Have to go to the bathroom. Must overcome hurdles... overcome... hurdles. I gotta go, I gotta go. Nathan Hobbs strains (literally) to make it to the finish line or the porta-let.

Be careful Joe Barr. Because pretty soon Don Glass will call and he'll suck you in and there's no escape from it. Consider yourself warned.

"Is that checkmate?" said Merissa. "No" said Nathan. "Why" said Merissa. "Because" said Nathan. "Because why?" said Merissa. Merissa Couch and Nathan Brossler play an intellectually involved game of chess.

You ever see the movie The Graduate? Anyone? Come on someone has had to see it. It was really good. There must have been someone whose seen it.

The most joyous day of the year arrived on April 1, as "Help Little People Off the Bus Day" was honored.

"This caption is horrible. How could anyone waste this much space on a piece of garbage like this? Well, I guess I'll have to flunk him." "Mr. Henderson could you come here, it looks like you will have the opportunity to be newspaper editor again next year."

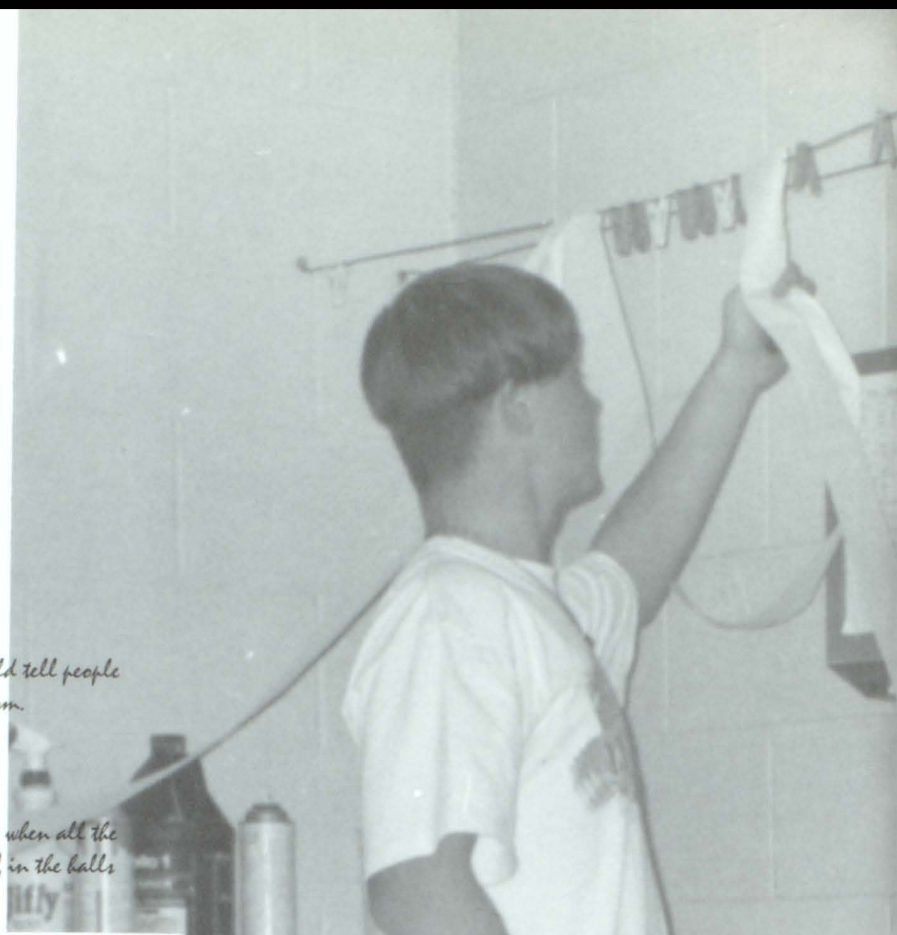

Yes! Yes! I am a fool! In full makeup Scott Brandon acknowledges his adoring fans during the Homecoming games.

The first person's feet who touches th floor will have to recite the Pledge of Allegiance. BACKWARDS! Gym class it's not just for playing dodge ball anymore.

*A*nd for years Doug Westlund would tell people about how toilet paper attacked his dark room.

*A*sudden picture opportunity arose when all the Mass Media students were caught goofing off in the halls

Josh Crisp & Nathan Juroff carry their fair share of Clint's during the boy's basketball pep rally. The main purpose for these guys was to act like fools, or otherwise be themselves.

Ew! That smell's. Doug Gasmer's face tells the camera that Brian Ice's sock and Kevin Lilly's shoe stinks..

Tragedy strikes at convo, as a raccoon attacks speaker Kevin Wanger. Actually the raccoon is fake and part of Kevin's act, insuring that no animals were harmed during his presentation.

Boy, this is a monster of a class. Stress finally gets to a few eighth graders in Mr. Shelton's class.*

The teachers put on a dramatic presentation of what really goes on in the teacher's lounge. Mr. LeMaster has been said to be one great dancer.*

*M*ice proved mightier than men for the Guard as they claimed the state title. Caryn Watson and Daniel Riley graciously accept the trophy for their efforts.

*T*homas Pederson taught Scott Epperly how to make bread Danish style. You can learn a lot from an exchange student.

*M*rs. Browning needed a change, this though, was too much. Just don't tell it to her face, okay.

Two titles: Jeff Herron needs professional help. Dr. Trig student kills Mr. Householder in fit of rage.

Why is it called a Yearbook Dance, when no one dances. Students were asked to write down that answer in the gym. Conveniently yearbooks were available to write them in.

The Final Piece

Well it is finally finished! I thought that I'd never get the chance to say that. It has been a rough year, but it's been worth it. We had a very creative staff this year and we've taken a lot of risks. I know not everyone will like our changes, but I hope that most will.

I want to thank everyone who has contributed to this yearbook. First, I would like to thank all of the businesses who have bought Ads. You have helped us tremendously to put out one of the best yearbooks and I hope you will continue to do so in the years to come. I would also like to give a special thanks to the Elwood Call-Leader for providing us with many of our sports pictures. You'll never know how many messes you have gotten us out of. Thanks so much.

I also want to thank all of my editors. I know that there were many days that we wanted to kill each other. But, thanks for hanging in there. I couldn't have asked for a better staff. And, thank you Mr. Sipe for listening to all of my complaining.

There are some staff members that I would like to mention personally. I want to thank Heather Eddy (Seniors Editor) for being there for everybody whenever they needed help. She was the first to be done with her section and as soon as she was finished she jumped right in and helped with Underclass. I don't know what we would have done without her.

Rachel Simmons (St. Life Editor) needs to be mentioned for being brave enough to come back after being editor last year. She was a very big help.

Joni Benefiel (Ads Editor) was probably the person that surprised us the most. She finished her spreads with absolutely no nagging from me whatsoever.

I want to thank all of my family and friends for putting up with me and also for listening to me.

I also want to thank Doug Westlund & Marc Henderson for letting me take out all of my frustrations on them. I don't think we could have survived this year if "The Big Three" didn't have their war.

I hope that I didn't forget anybody. I just want to thank the Eagle Staff once more. You guys have done a terrific job! And, thanks again to everybody who has helped us in any way.

Thank You,
